President Halts Strike in the Coal Fields

NATION-WIDE PERIL AVERTED; MEN TO RETURN

Johnson Gets Pledge to Arbitrate.

Progress of the Code

News of code developments, including an announcement that it had been modified for 14 additional industries, will be found on page 6. In Chicago an additional 1,174 business concerns signed the recovery code.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Announcement that the threat of a nation-wide strike in the bituminous coal industry had been averted and that a truce had been reached in the Pennsylvania mine battle was made here tonight by President Roosevelt.

The statement followed a dramatic airplane dash from Washington to the summer White House by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator.

The crisis in the Pennsylvania soft coal fields, where 35,000 walked out protesting their right to unionize, has been settled, the President announced, through the intervention of Gen. Johnson and his aids. Operators and miners have agreed to submit their differences to a board of mediation pending adoption of the bituminous coal code, hearings on which will begin Aug. 9.

Roosevelt Talks with Lewis.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, was notified by President Roosevelt in person that the agreement negotiated by Gen. Johnson was acceptable so far as the White House was concerned. And from the union headquarters tonight word was going out to the strikers to be back to work Monday morning.

But even more momentous than the immediate situation in the Pennsylvania fields, the President and Gen. Johnson revealed, was the threat that the fight over unionization would spread throughout all the soft coal areas.

Averts Strike of 200,000.

In a statement following the conference with the President Gen. Johnson asserted:

"According to the information coming to me, 200,000 men would have been out within the next ten days. The strike threatened to spread into all other soft coal fields, including those of the middle west."

In a formal statement the President emphasized the seriousness and imminence of the danger that had been averted and gave high praise to Gen. Johnson and the others who had worked to bring about a means of mediation.

Praise for Intermediaries.

The President's statement follows:

"A great coal strike threatened the entire bituminous field and—because of scant storage at factories—also threatened the revival of manufacture on which so much depends. On the basis of a simple suggestion for settlement made by Gen. Johnson, both management and labor have declared an absolute truce on dissension at the mines to await the resolution of the whole matter at the coming hearings on the coal codes. In the meantime all disagreements are to be settled by a board of my selection to which both sides agree—Gerald Swope, Louis Kirstein, and George L. Berry. Never in our country has a strike of such threatened proportions been settled so quickly and so generously.

"The public spirited men on both sides of the agreement are to be congratulated in thus averting threatened disaster, but I cannot let the occasion pass without referring to the tireless and constructive labors of the intermediaries, Gov. Pinchot, Gerald Swope, Edward McGrady, and Walter Teagle, as well as to the operators and to John Lewis and other representatives of the miners."

Hours and Wages Remain Same.

The agreement, Gen. Johnson explained, means that operators, both corporations and independents, and miners have agreed to accept for the time being the status quo as to hours, wages, and the question of unionization. Meanwhile, and until the ten or a dozen various bituminous codes now pending have been picked apart and woven into one official code, all disputes will be submitted to the board of mediation.

Mr. Swope, head of General Electric, and Mr. Kirstein, general manager of

29 GO TO PRISON IN FIVE DAYS OF FIGHT ON CRIME

Judges Sentence Ten in Record Session.

Ten gunmen were sentenced to prison yesterday in the Criminal court, where ten judges, seven of them volunteers who responded to the call of Chief Justice Prystalski, are waging a fight to the finish on criminals who have slain nine Chicago policemen since the first of the year. The sentences ranged from life imprisonment for murder to a term of 1 to 14 years for a shooting.

It was the most successful day since the war on crime started last Monday, court officials said. In all, fourteen gunmen were convicted. Four of the defendants won short delays of sentence, but the other ten were summarily ordered to prison. Including these ten, the crime fighting judges have sentenced twenty-nine robbers and killers to penitentiary terms in the last five days.

Judge Raps Parole Boards.

The crime campaign had two other major developments during the day:

1. There was severe criticism of two former boards of pardons and paroles, each of which, despite medical advice, issued a parole to a mentally affected habitual criminal. Judge Ross C. Hall of the Appellate court, who is acting as a Criminal court volunteer with the permission of the state Supreme court, uttered the criticism during the trial of a case.

2. An order was issued to the state's attorney's office to investigate the charge that perjury was used to permit three young gunmen to "mislead a jury." Judge Benjamin Epstein, also a volunteer, who for years was a federal court prosecutor, made the charge that perjury had been committed in his court.

Case of Stanley Mack.

Testimony in the robbery trial of Stanley Mack, 27 years old, who has twice been paroled from penal institutions in the state, and John Blazyk put his observations regarding paroles officially in the court record. Mack and Blazyk were convicted by a jury, but were not sentenced because of the question of Mack's insanity. A decision on this issue will be had early next week, the public defender's office announced.

"It is an outrage that such action on the part of a parole board should allow a man of this type and character to be turned loose on the streets of Chicago," said Judge Hall. "It is a terrible thing to me that there should be a parole board so lax. No wonder murders are committed in this community."

Mack's Record Is Cited.

Dr. Harry Hoffman of the Criminal court behavior clinic had examined Mack and declared him to be suffering from "traumatic psychosis." He said Mack had been in this condition for many years as the result of a skull fracture during his youth. Dr. Hoffman then displayed reports he had received from the state authorities, which showed that in September, 1926, medical examiners had informed the parole division that Mack would not "make a successful parole." This was just before Mack was paroled from Pontiac reformatory.

A prediction by the medical examiners that Mack would be in further trouble was shown to be true, Dr. Hoffman said, as he was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary in March, 1927. He was paroled from the penitentiary on Oct. 1, 1932.

The July grand jury which adjourned yesterday also called attention to the parole evil. The jury's report said that proper facilities are not taken to protect the public. It declared that volunteer organizations which would accept responsibility for convicts paroled from other states should be made to report to the regular state parole offices.

Perjury Charge Is Made.

The case which caused the outburst from Judge Epstein was that of Thomas Hirschman, Tony Rizzo, and Sam Larusso, who were accused of robbing an automobile party on Nov. 24, 1932. The men were caught an hour later in a stolen automobile and papers taken from the robbery victims were found on the floor of the car.

The defendants charged that the police "framed them." They used Miss Dorothy Day, 228 East Huron

WHEN PAPERS REPORT 100 DEGREE HEAT IT SADDENS NEW YORKER

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—In a brief letter to the newspapers tempered with a note of sadness rather than bitterness John E. Gratke, managing director of the Broadway association and patriotic citizen of New York, gently chided the city's journals today. Specifically Mr. Gratke hinted that reports of the heat in New York during the last four or five days tended to spread the impression that the city was perhaps a little warmer than other places.

The letter did not recapitulate the reports including the record of 61 deaths since last Saturday, the official weather figure of 100 degrees in the shade on Monday, nor the fact that 24 deaths were attributed to the hot wave on another day.

Mr. Gratke, however, did take the news writers to task for recording the marks on the thermometer on the Belvedere Tower in Central park, which on Monday climbed to 141 degrees.

"While New York has wilted many a collar and spoiled that school girl complexion so many women love to wear," admitted Mr. Gratke, "yet withal New York City, with its ocean breezes, innumerable water resorts, palatial park grounds and sheltered areas that abound within hearing of Broadway, still holds its place as about as comfortable and inviting a city to visit as any other place on the American continent."

EXPLORER HAS NO HOME, SO WIFE GETS A DIVORCE

New York, Aug. 4.—(AP)—An explorer, said Dr. Herbert Spencer Dickey today, cannot have a home.

And that, he added, is why his wife was granted a divorce in Dayton, O.

"Mrs. Dickey is a marvelous woman and is fond, as I suppose all women are, of home life," the South American explorer said.

"With a husband in my business, she naturally couldn't have it. And we agreed, in a perfectly friendly manner, that what could not be could not be. That's all."

Dr. Dickey said he plans another exploration in the wilds of South America this fall.

French Flyers Take Off on Trans-Atlantic Flight

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 5 [Saturday].—(AP)—A trans-Atlantic flight "to nowhere" began today when Lieut. Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, French aviators, took off from Floyd Bennett field at 4:41 a. m., eastern standard time, in an attempt to set a distance record. They planned to cross the ocean by way of Newfoundland.

Sally Dances in Loop; Arrest Her 4 Times

Sally Rand, known to the World's Fair visitors as an exponent of dancing in the nude, performed her specialty at the Chicago theater four times yesterday and last night and was arrested four times on charges of putting on an indecent exhibition.

The arrests were polite affairs, but arrests nevertheless, and Sally was indignant. Today, through her attorney, Nat S. Ruvell, she will seek an injunction before Judge Peter Schwaba to restrain police from interfering with her physical expression of the arts. The injunction proceedings are scheduled for a half hour before she is to be arraigned in the Women's court of Judge Irwin Hasten.

Calls Her Dancing Art.

"My dancing is art," protested Sally. "Every seat in the theater was taken. My public wants me. There's nothing vulgar, lewd, or obscene about my dancing."

"It's esthetic," put in Attorney Ruvel. "The police are harassing her. One arrest was enough to test out the matter."

The lawyer pointed out that Sally's dance is not entirely in the nude; that two large feather fans are used to cover her body as she moves across the stage to rhythmic music. However, police charge that the fans are moved; that Sally's body is exposed to public gaze, and that all this is a violation of the law.

Sally's first performance started at 1:30. As she concluded her dance and stepped into the wings, Sergt. Harry Costello and Policewoman Bessie McShane met her. Sally's brother, Harold, and a comedian, John Perkins, interrupted.

"You have nothing on her," asserted Brother Harold.

Free Dancer on Bond.

Police took Sally, her brother, her colored maid, Mattie Wheeler, Edwin Gall, and Louis Lipstone, theater production manager, to the station. Sally and Lipstone were charged with giving an indecent exhibition; the others with disorderly conduct. They let all go on personally signed bonds. All returned to the Chicago theater. So did Sergt. Costello and Policewoman McShane.

At 3:30 Sally again did her fan dance and was again arrested. She was released. At 6:30 she repeated and so did police. At 8:20 she put on a costumed dance, but at the last show Sally danced the fan dance.

It was the fourth fan dance she had given, and police arrested her for the fourth time. The arrest was technical this time, Sally being permitted to go to the Streets of Paris at the Fair to carry out an engagement there. But Policewoman McShane accompanied her.

When Sally is arraigned before Judge Hasten this morning she will have as co-defendants, in addition to her brother, her maid, Gall and Lipstone, Roy Bruder, theater manager. It is probable Attorney Ruvell will seek a continuance. However, Sally intends, she said, to go on with the dance.

EDITOR PRINTS FIRST PAGE ON BACK SHEET; HE'S FOR ROOSEVELT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The Griffin, Ga., Daily News wanted Hugh S. Johnson to know that it had a "blue eagle."

Today the industrial administrator received a copy of the paper with the front page printed on the back sheet and the eagle conspicuously displayed. Explained the News:

"We don't know what regulations will be laid down for newspapers, but if President Roosevelt wants us to put the back page on the first page, we'll do it. We are for him and the program."

KILLS HIMSELF, FACING 3D WIFE AND 2 FIANCEES

Confronted in the presence of his third wife by two women whom he had promised to marry, Julius Straub, 62 years old, also known as Buarst, took the easiest way out last night. He shot and killed himself in the basement of his home at 6342 Newport avenue as the three women waited upstairs.

The women were Mrs. Emily Buarst, the third wife, and Mrs. Minnie Kauform, 50 years old, 1520 Garfield avenue, and Mrs. Mary Schneider, 52, 2031 Lincoln avenue, widows and prospective wives. They heard the fatal shot, as did Adolph Wacker, 2143 Barry avenue, who had accompanied the widows to Straub's home to get an explanation.

Last week the two widows met accidentally. When they learned Straub had promised to wed both of them they decided to seek an explanation. When they arrived last night Straub opened the door and admitted them. He excused himself, went into the basement, and killed himself.

Detectives George Schneider, Jesse Helms, and Joseph Scornech of the Irving Park station said that Straub already had three wives. One was known as Mary. No. 2 was formerly Louise Koessler.

Four Arrested for Tear Gas in Wall Street

Boston, Mass., Aug. 5 (Saturday).—[Special.]—Four young men were arrested here last night on suspicion, and a fifth, a Harvard graduate, was being sought by the New York and Boston police in the gas bombing of the New York Stock exchange yesterday.

The Boston police also announced the seizure of the "makings" of bombs in packages addressed to President Roosevelt, former President Hoover, and Norman Thomas, the Socialist leader.

The arrests were made less than 12 hours after two containers of "knockout" gas, placed in the exchange's cooling system, had driven all members and employés to the street and forced suspension of trading for the rest of the day.

The Harvard graduate is Eugene S Daniell Jr., 28 years old, of Somerville, a Boston suburb.

Traced to New York.

Daniell, a young lawyer with national political aspirations, was reported to have purchased two tear gas bombs at $12 each about a month ago at the Iver-Johnson sporting goods store here. It also was said he was in New York yesterday.

Daniell organized the so-called "Commoners," and International party, the name of which he recently changed to the National Independent party. In furtherance of his party affairs, he has been known to resort to spectacular tactics for their publicity value.

It was at the headquarters of Daniell's political organization in the Loft building in Milk street that the four men were arrested on suspicion. The men were taken into custody during a raid by the Boston police, which was made on the strength of anonymous information supplied to them by the Boston Herald.

Fake Bomb at Curley's Home.

Last Sept. 13 Daniell left a fake bomb at the home of Mayor Curley together with an announcement of the formation of his new political party to be called the Commoners. He made it known at the same time he planned to mail a similar imitation bomb to President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt and to Mr. Thomas. These bombs never were sent, but they were found in the Milk street building last night.

The Boston Herald said that its informant received the following letter, signed by Daniell, last week:

"Dear ——:

"Sent a note to you to 40 West 45th street, but, being very desirous of hitting you, send this also. Am coming to New York and want you to handle publicity as you did here in Boston, but it will be of a more spectacular sort. Can you get me a pass to New York Stock exchange, the grain pit, or curb?

"The publicity is not contingent on this, but would be much easier.

"Let me hear from you immediately as to your plans for future, etc., preferably by Friday p. m.

[Signed] "GENE."

"P. S. My home address, 26 Hamlet street, Somerville. Figure your compensation out to take care of itself, as it did up here."

Raid Headquarters.

Upon receiving this information from the newspaper, a squad of police went to the political organization's headquarters. There they found William Overton, 36, of Somerville, and Otto Keferle, 27, Cambridge. They placed the two under arrest, searched the premises and uncovered old bombs

While the search was going on Paulo

STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT ENDS IN RAIL YARD

BALLOON PICTURES

A remarkable set of pictures taken of the ascent and fall of the stratosphere balloon will be found on the back page of this issue.

In a balloon christened "A Century of Progress" Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle of the United States navy took off from Soldiers' field at 3 a. m. today on a proposed trip to the stratosphere.

Ten minutes later the great gas bag lay wrecked at 14th and Canal streets, less than two miles from the starting point and close to the Chicago river.

The lieutenant commander, a veteran aerialist and the winner of the Gordon Bennett races in Switzerland last year, was apparently unharmed by the crash. He attributed the forced descent to trouble in the gas release valves which developed after he had risen some 5,000 feet and was moving along well.

Great Crowd Sees Start.

A great crowd, estimated at more than 25,000, had watched the ascent from the field. Perhaps twice as many other gazed from nearby vantage points. They had cheered as the balloon, with its two flags flying and three great searchlights playing on it, moved upward, for a time in a direct ascent, and then with a veering to the west.

The fact that the great bag was in trouble became apparent while the army's searchlights still were upon it. Many in the crowd followed in the belief that a crash was imminent, and were joined by others who had seen the trouble from the loop and the territory to the west.

Pilot Only Jarred.

In its fall the gondola in which the balloonist rode bumped heavily on the tracks of the Burlington railroad, bounced high and came to rest as the acre of fabric that was the envelope of the gas bag spread itself out in billows. Lieutenant Commander Settle said he was only slightly bumped and that the damage to the instruments he carried was not severe.

Stepping out of the car, he immediately took up the task of guarding the fabric from the feet of the thousands who had crowded around.

Numerous squads of police were hurried to the scene and the crowds were forced back a little way. The arrival of the policemen was delayed by the great crowds blocking west side streets.

The Pilot's Story.

The balloonist told his story of the wreck simply.

"The takeoff was perfect," he said, "and I arose rapidly to an altitude of nearly 5,000 feet. It was my intention to check the ascent there and go up more gradually at daylight. I opened the valves to let out enough gas to hold me at that level. But once opened, I found I could not shut off the flow.

"Having radioed to the ground what the trouble was, I found that I was over the railroad yards and was able to make a normal landing. I want to try this flight over again, but with a change in the valve system."

The National Broadcasting company, which with A Century of Progress Exposition and the Chicago Daily News, had backed the flight, made an announcement before the balloon had been gathered up from its resting place that the stratosphere attempt would be renewed as soon as possible.

To the assembled crowds at Soldiers' field the ascent of the balloon was a spectacle of great beauty. All through the evening the 25,000 who had paid admission to see the start of this bold flight into the skies had patiently waited through ceremonies innumerable and all but interminable. Outside were twice or three times as many more spectators.

Elaborate Tests Made.

All was seemingly ready for the ascent shortly after 1 a. m., but elaborate tests were still to be made of the mechanism of the gas bag and of the instruments in the gondola. Finally sailors began casting off the ropes attached to the huge balloon. Naval reservists still kept their holds on the ropes that held the gondola. The crowd was rewarded shortly before 3 o'clock. Rear Admiral Wat T. Culverius, accompanied by his aids, marched forward to the car and, pulling on the ropes, unfurled first the Stars and Stripes and then the naval jack. The band played the national anthem. Mrs. Settle stepped forward and kissed her husband goodby. The admiral and other officials also bade him au revoir and the crowd, heads bared, cheered.

Resembles Silver Pear.

One by one the confining ropes of the gondola were released. Left at 2:55 were none but those at the bottom of the car. Lieutenant Commander Settle waved from the gondola. The word to release the balloon was given.

Slowly and majestically, bathed in the light of three army searchlights, the great bag rose. After a few minutes it veered toward the west. With the searchlights playing on it the balloon from a distance resembled a huge silvered pear, while the gondola took on the likeness of a little seed dangling at the end of a string.

HOURS OF PREPARATION

Standing by as the preparations reached the final stage for the flight, were the balloonist and Jean Piccard, whose twin brother, Prof. Auguste Piccard of Brussels, was the pioneer in ascensions to the stratosphere. Jean Piccard, who was to act as ground pilot and receive radio messages from the balloon, was to have made the ascent with Lieutenant Commander Settle, but gave up his place hoping to increase the chances for altitude.

Also looking on through the long evening were thousands of enthusiasts, many of them visitors to the World's Fair. The effort to reach the regions high above the earth was a promotion of A Century of Progress Exposition. The visitors were determined apparently to wait for the takeoff if this meant staying up all night.

Ceremonies for Spectators.

The ceremonies began at 8:30 p. m., when there was a dress parade by the 1st battalion of the 6th U. S. infantry, stationed at Camp Whistler on the Fair grounds.

Lieutenant Commander Settle was introduced. He thanked the crowd for its patience, explaining that the start was delayed by the fact that the inflation could not begin until the wind died down below 5 miles an hour. Next after his talk was a march in which the 6th infantry and 3d field artillery bands, the 6th infantry battalion, Troop A of the 14th cavalry, and the Illinois Naval Reserves took part.

After the parade it was decided that the wind velocity was low enough to be safe. The naval reservists rolled out from its hangar the little gondola, 7 feet in diameter, in which Lieutenant Commander Settle and the scientific instruments were to be taken aloft.

Weather Conditions Favorable.

The decision to take off today was made yesterday. Settle had long been waiting for perfect weather conditions and these seemed assured by noon.

Having made his decision to go, he slept during the afternoon. While he slept scientists installed in the gondola the instruments which are expected to throw new light on the nature of cosmic rays, ultra-violet rays and other phenomena of the super-atmospheric world.

Among these scientists were Prof. Arthur Compton, Dr. Henry Gordon Gale, and Dr. George S. Monk of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Robert A. Millikan, director of the California Institute of Technology.

"The balloon is said to be the largest ever constructed, holding 100,000 more cubic feet of gas than the one in which Auguste Piccard made his stratospheric journeys. Filled, it was as tall as a fifteen story building.

The gondola was constructed of a brine composition and is one-third lighter than the aluminum ball in which Prof. Piccard ascended. During the day Commander Settle estimated that he could not ascend beyond a height of 4,000 or 5,000 feet before daylight because in the cool of the night the gas will not expand to the limit of its buoyancy. Upon reaching the night limit he planned to "sit still" and wait for the rise of the sun. His maximum altitude he expected would be attained when the sun is the hottest, early in the afternoon. Then he was to make a slow descent by "valving out" the gas.

Stratosphere Still and Cold.

The stratosphere is the upper region of the atmosphere, beginning in the latitude of Chicago at about 36,000 feet. It is a still, cold region of a violet hue, devoid of moisture, cloud formations, and vertical [but not horizontal] air currents. The temperature in the rarefied stratosphere is constant and is about 67 degrees Fahrenheit below zero.

It was Commander Settle's intention when he approached the region of the stratosphere where the supply of oxygen is insufficient for respiration to close the hatches of the gondola and to use liquid oxygen flowing from open bottles as a means of supporting life.

The gondola is painted white on the upper half of its exterior and black below to provide the best possible thermal conditions. The black below absorbs the reflected warmth of the sun's rays and the white above reflects the extreme cold.

DIES OF CRASH INJURIES.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 4.—Ole Olson, 78, of Correctionville, Ia., died of injuries suffered a week ago in a truck-auto crash. Manslaughter charges probably will be filed against Paul Ludwig, 20, driver of the truck. Martin Ludwig, 24, and Lloyd Hauser, 27, also are being held for failure to stop and give aid to an injured person.

FAST FLIGHT

Map showing route taken by Frank Hawks, speed pilot, on flight yesterday from Regina, Sask., to Bridgeport, Conn. He covered the 1,700 miles in about seven hours.

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Setting what he believes to be a new record for sustained flying at high speed, Frank Hawks, transcontinental speed ace, landed at Bridgeport airport at 2:33 p. m. [E. S. T.] today to complete a 1,700 mile nonstop flight from Regina, Sask., Canada, to Bridgeport in seven hours and 15 minutes flying time. He flew to attend Bridgeport's reception to the Mollisons.

Hawks said he had perfect flying conditions for his speed dash which brought him from Regina to Port Arthur, Ont., and thence over the great lakes to eastern United States and thence to Bridgeport.

He set out from Regina at 6:30 [E. S. T.] this morning and flew most of the distance at an altitude of 12,000 feet, he said on arriving here.

Hawks made the flight in his "Sky Chief," giant all metal plane with 14 cylinder Wright Whirlwind engine.

CORONER'S JURY FAILS TO SOLVE JANITOR KILLING

The killing of Joseph Sacco, janitor at Chase elementary school, was because of "woman trouble," in the opinion of Capt. Peter Tomchek of the Shakespeare avenue station, but due to a lack of evidence a verdict of murder by persons unknown was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday. Sacco was found shot to death in the basement of the school Thursday afternoon.

The widow, Mrs. Angelina Sacco, testified that Sacco had left her a year ago, saying he could not support her because his school pay was six months in arrears. She shrugged her shoulders when told that Sacco had $22 in cash in his pockets when found dead, a $500 diamond ring on his finger, a valuable watch on his wrist, and an additional $110 in his home.

Miss Loretta Stanton, 18 years old, a waitress, told police she went to Sacco's home to prepare his meals, but said she was only a friend. A call from the Rosemoor hotel, 1622 West Jackson boulevard, from "Phil" was recalled by Miss Stanton, who said Sacco seemed worried after talking to "Phil." Police were unable to locate the caller.

GERMAN GLIDER ALOFT 36½ HOURS; WORLD'S RECORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KOENIGSBERG, Germany, Aug. 4.—Kurt Schmidt, 27 year old student at Koenigsberg university, landed at Brandenburg at dusk tonight after setting a new world's gliding record of 36 hours and 37 minutes. He flew a glider he built himself.

Schmidt, a student of philology and a Nazi storm trooper, cruised about in his motorless plane at an altitude of 650 to 1,000 feet to better the former record of Lieut. William A. Cooke of the United States. Lieut. Cooke established a mark of 21 hours and 34 minutes in Honolulu.

When Schmidt ascended yesterday morning he had no intentions of trying to break the record. He carried only two sandwiches and a flask of water. The gliding expert said he decided to stay aloft "as long as he could" late yesterday. Fellow members of the Koenigsberg Flying club guided the aviator with ground fires.

LAKE DRENCHES GOVERNOR OF WETTEST STATE

Gov. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, in Chicago to attend the Fair, proved that he was a real wet yesterday when he insisted on going for a speed boat ride on the lake, despite a warning that the waves were running high.

"I come from the wettest state in the Union," the governor said, "and a little spray will not bother me."

One hour later the boat, piloted by Commander Comer Winters of the lagoon fleet, docked. The governor of the wettest state had lived up to the record of his commonwealth. He was drenched from head to foot, although still cheerful, and was taken to his hotel for a change of clothing.

Strike Vote Called for 24,000 Canadian Railmen

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Aug. 4.—All efforts at conciliation between Canadian railway running trades workers and the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railway executives over a proposed further 10 per cent wage cut have failed and labor leaders today called for a strike vote. The vote of 24,000 men will require four weeks. The proposed cut would place the wages 17½ per cent below American railway wage scales. Engineers, firemen, conductors, telegraphers and shopmen are affected.

Ex-Chicagoan Rescued in Suicide Attempt in France

[Copyright: 1033: By the New York Times.]

NICE, Aug. 4.—After removing from his pockets and clothing all identification marks, Norman Boggs, 52, an American writer born in Chicago, jumped off a pier here today. He was rescued by two spectators and taken to a hospital, where his condition was said to be still serious. Boggs has a wife and three children living here.

Retiring Village Head Is Given Silver Chest

Ralph R. Hawxhurst, who retired recently as president of the village board of Kenilworth after ten years service, was presented with a chest of silver by his neighbors and friends last night at his home, 618 Essex road. The presentation speech was made by Harry Harrison, who is now president of the board.

PRESIDENT ENDS COAL STRIKE; MEN TO RETURN

Johnson Gets Pledge to Arbitrate.

Filene & Sons of Boston, are both members of the recovery administration's industrial advisory committee. Mr. Berry is president of the Pressmen's union.

The means of agreement announced tonight also is to have an even broader effect, it was indicated. During the conference between the President and Gen. Johnson, the possibility was discussed of setting up a national board of mediation within or allied with the recovery organization. To this board, it is expected, all disputes between capital and labor would be submitted.

Drops Down Out of Sky.

There was plenty of color and drama as Gen. Johnson, in a huge army transport plane, dropped down out of a moonlit sky with his message of a truce for the area where Pennsylvania guardsmen have been keeping order.

Accompanied by Edward E. McGrady, adviser in labor matters, and Miss Frances Robinson, his secretary, Gen. Johnson left Washington at 7:15 o'clock in a tri-motored plane piloted by Lieut. Stanley Umstead.

Two hours and forty minutes later the plane was circling in the night over the commerce department emergency landing field at New Hackensack, eight miles from the Roosevelt estate above the Hudson. The field is not equipped with floodlights. A flare was dropped and by its light the plane swooped down to a perfect landing.

From it dashed Gen. Johnson and into a waiting White House limousine, which rushed him off to his meeting with the President. Gen. Johnson's original intention of returning to Washington immediately following the conference was canceled at the solicitation of the President, who urged the recovery administrator to get a night's rest. The general and his companions spent the night, therefore, in a Poughkeepsie hotel and will depart for the capital tomorrow morning.

President Signs Another Code.

Nor was the coal truce the only matter taken up and settled at the hour and a half conference in the Roosevelt house. The President approved and signed the cloak and suit code which Gen. Johnson characterized as "the tough one that will go far to put an end to sweat shop labor."

The code, in addition to setting minimum wages and hours of labor, provides for a licensing system by which only those who do not employ sweatshop workers will be permitted to sew into their garments the blue eagle of the recovery administration. A second code approved by President Roosevelt tonight was that for the electrical supply industry fixing a minimum work week of 35 to 40 hours and a 40 cents an hour minimum wage.

Pleased, but digging his fists into his eyes with weariness, Gen. Johnson declared that the whole recovery program with its campaign to bring all employers under the blanket code was far ahead of "any schedule that I expected to see carried out."

LEWIS AIDS PEACE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt talked over long distance to John L. Lewis at 11 o'clock tonight and congratulated him on the part he played in helping to end the coal strike. Mr. Lewis thanked the President and gave out the following statement:

"After prolonged negotiation with representatives of various coal companies in Pennsylvania, the administrator of the national recovery act and Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, the officers of the United Mine Workers of America have acceded to the request of the President of the United States, made through the administrator of the national recovery administration, that a temporary truce be declared in the bituminous coal fields of the central and western Pennsylvania and the mine workers return to work pending hearings and determination by the President on the permanent coal code.

"Under the terms of the temporary settlement all the men will return to their former positions in the mines without prejudice or discrimination. Check weighmen to be employed by the mine workers and paid by them will be permitted at the mines where the men request a check weighman. All matters of dispute arising at the mines of this area during this period will be settled by a board of three selected by the President of the United States.

Calls Miners Back to Work.

"This settlement will not in any manner influence or prejudice the adjustment of the problems of the coal industry by the national recovery administration in the hearings on the coal code which begin Aug. 9. This arrangement makes possible the logical consideration of the intricate and deep seated ills of the mining industry in the manner intended and prescribed by the recovery act.

"Instructions requesting compliance with the terms of this settlement will be issued immediately to the district organizations and local unions in the affected area. The United Mine Workers of America will call upon its every loyal member to accept immediately this arrangement and extend to the President of the United States the fullest degree of coöperation in his earnest effort to restore order and bring economic stability to the stricken coal industry."

Set Up Arbitration Board.

As keystone of the agreement, which is expected to restore peace in the bituminous fields of Pennsylvania, where 35,000 miners are on strike, and the militia has been called out, the understanding is that the President proposed the establishment of an arbitration board of three to deal with the coal controversy and its issues.

Chief points in the truce are as follows:

1. The unions are to instruct the men to return to work as soon as the President approves the settlement.

2. The men are to be reëmployed without discrimination because of their striking.

3. Check weighers are to be put on, paid by the men to check the coal at the tipples.

Will Recall Troops.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 5 [Saturday].—(AP)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, asserting a strike which "might easily have broken down the entire recovery program" had been settled, said early today National Guardsmen will be withdrawn from the Fayette county soft coal region "as soon as conditions warrant."

SEEK INJUNCTION TO HALT SALE TAX COLLECTIONS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Seeking an injunction to restrain the state from collecting the two per cent sales tax due Aug. 15 from retailers, attorneys for the Council of Illinois Merchants today attacked the constitutionality of the law in a hearing before Circuit Judge L. E. Stone.

Two hours had been devoted to the attack when court recessed at noon. It was considered probable that Assistant Attorney General Montgomery S. Winning, who is defending the law, would not be heard until tomorrow.

Attorneys for the merchants' council were led by former Circuit Judge Jesse R. Brown of Alton, who decreed the first sales tax measure unconstitutional and was sustained by the state Supreme court.

The present sales tax, Brown argued, is class legislation. He asserted that income came under the Supreme court's definition of property. The sales tax, he said, was a tax on the gross income of retailers. If their income is property, as defined by the Supreme court, then they are subjected to a tax other citizens are not required to pay, Brown said.

REPORT OF HULL KEENLY AWAITED BY ROOSEVELT

London Conferee Expected at Hyde Park Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight was awaiting with interest the first hand report on the recent London conference which is to be conveyed to him by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The head of the American delegation is to arrive at Hyde Park tomorrow as soon as possible after his landing at New York, and is expected to spend the night at the summer White House on the Hudson.

Much concerning the future course of the United States' international policies may be settled when the President and his senior cabinet member get down to the business of reviewing past occurrences and charting out what is to be their sequel.

A matter bound to come up is the reported ill feeling between Secretary Hull and Assistant Secretary of State Raymond F. Moley over the latter's attempt, when sent to London as the President's mouthpiece, to infringe upon Mr. Hull's authority.

Sure, too, to enter into the conference are such important international policies as the attitude to be taken concerning recognition of Russia; the program of bi-lateral trade agreements with respect to which this government is negotiating with half a dozen South American and Scandinavian countries; and the expected conversations about revision of the war debts.

POST FLIES HOME IN SHIP HE HOPS AROUND WORLD

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Home from around the world in record time, Wiley Post and his famous purple and white plane, the Winnie Mae, landed at the municipal airport at 5:20 p. m. today.

Before landing Post continued a few miles westward and wheeled over Yukon, home of John Kroutil, prominent miller, who aided him in preparations for his globe flight.

From Tulsa Post flew alongside a passenger ship piloted by a friend of his barnstorming days, Claud Seaton.

Among the thousands gathered at the airport to welcome Oklahoma's most famous flyer were his wife, his father, and mother.

PICCARD'S TWO STRATOSPHERE TRIPS RECALLED

Prof. Auguste Piccard, Belgian scientist, has been the pioneer in balloon ascensions to the stratosphere for scientific purposes. Twice Prof. Piccard has explored that strange region of intense cold.

His first trip started at Augsburg, Bavaria, on May 27, 1931, and ended eighteen hours and thirteen minutes later on a glacier in the Austrian Tyrol. He and his companion on that vertical journey reached an altitude of 51,793 feet, slightly under ten miles.

The second ascent began on Aug. 18, 1932, at Dubendorf, Switzerland, and ended the same day at Desenzano, on Lake Garda in Italy. That time the scientist reached a height of 53,153 feet, a mark which Lieutenant Commander Settle hopes to better.

EUROPE ON BRINK OF WAR, SAYS MORGENTHAU

Nations Preparing for Impending Conflict.

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Henry Morgenthau, American delegate to the London conference, and expert on wheat, returned today to report to President Roosevelt that Europe is seething with war spirit and bristling with arms for an impending conflict.

Seated in his suite on the Cunarder Berengaria he told reporters that one reason the conference failed was the shadow of war hanging over every European delegate, the fear of other countries, and the distrust of every neighbor.

Mr. Morbenthau said that in his opinion, as well as in the opinion of many other responsible observers with whom he spoke, there is not even any honest, moral desire for peace in the whole of Europe. While the masses wish for peace and long for it, he said, the leaders of the countries, "those who lead to war," have no honest wish for peace.

While he would not make any prediction as to actual conflict between European nations, several times during a long interview, he spoke of "this war," as though hostilities were imminent.

Signifying the spirit with which they came to the conference, Mr. Morgenthau said certain countries were today producing wheat "uneconomically," planting in unfertile soil in a desperate effort to garner as much grain as possible. This is an indication of the fear of war, and "one of the signs" pointing to conflict, he said. He explained that if war came a belligerent nation would be unable to import wheat, and these countries are trying to make themselves self-sufficient as quickly as possible.

GEOLOGISTS VISIT CHICAGO ON TOUR OF MIDDLE WEST

A group of internationally known geologists were in Chicago yesterday for a study of the glacial geology of the central states as a side excursion to the International Geological congress recently convened in Washington, D. C. The party, under the leadership of Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the Illinois state geological survey, is making an automobile tour of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

The touring party includes Dr. E. F. Bean, state geologist of Wisconsin; Dean George F. Kay of the University of Iowa, state geologist of that state; Dr. Eliot Blackwelder, head of the department of geology at Stanford university; Dr. Ernest Antevs, Swedish authority on time relationships and climates during the ice age; and Prof. Nils Horner of Upsala university, Sweden.

GIRL LEADS GANG IN HOLDUP; AGED MERCHANT SLAIN

Victim Stabbed and Shot to Death in Battle.

A blonde young woman with the savagery of a tigress, accompanied by two gunmen, shot, stabbed and slugged Gustav Hoch, 70 years old, yesterday when he resisted their attempt to rob his haberdashery at 5948 Division street. The elderly merchant, a general favorite with other shopkeepers and children of the neighborhood, died while being taken to the West Suburban hospital.

Police, tracing the license number which several witnesses took from the killers' automobile, found it listed in the name of Emil Minneci, 21 years old, 3346 Monroe street, a student at the University of Illinois. Minneci, taken to the detective bureau, told Deputy Chief of Detectives William V. Blaul that he had worked all day yesterday as an extra clerk in an A. & P. store.

Brother and Car Missing.

Yesterday morning, he said, his brother, Leo, 27 years old, appeared at the store and asked to borrow the car. Minneci refused, he said, but found later that the car was gone. Leo was missing last evening from the family home on Monroe street.

Hoch's slayers have perpetrated at least fifty holdups on the north and northwest sides in the last three months, police said. The woman, about 23 years old, is apparently the leader of the gang and in previous robberies has slapped and cursed her victims. Usually she carries a pistol, but she did not display it yesterday, witnesses said.

Hoch lost his life because he tried to prevent the escape of the woman and one of her companions. He followed them to the street after he had been slugged and stabbed in the store. As they were about to get into their car, Hoch grabbed the man.

In the struggle Hoch fell to the sidewalk. As he tried to rise the woman struck him on the head with some weapon, beating him down. Then her companion stood over the helpless merchant and fired four shots, one of which struck him in the breast.

Many of Hoch's friends in neighborhood stores saw him shot, but there were no witnesses to the beginning of the holdup attempt. Hoch and his wife, Carrie, 62 years old, lived in quarters behind his little shop and she was absent on a shopping trip when her husband was attacked.

Story of the Crime.

The blonde woman and one of her companions entered the shop, according to witnesses, while the third member of the gang remained seated at the wheel of their automobile outside. Apparently they asked to see some clothing, for boxes of shirts and sweaters were spread on the counter.

As the police reconstructed the subsequent occurrences, from the reports of other victims of the gang, the male bandit drew a revolver and told Hoch to put up his hands.

Hoch, a stocky man and active past the average for his age, must have grappled with the robber. His glasses were found later where they had fallen into a box of shirts. He was slugged in the back of the head and the glass in the showcase was broken, probably by the butt of a gun.

Then, police believe, the woman drew a knife and stabbed the merchant as he tussled with her companion. The knife inflicted a deep wound in Hoch's abdomen. The two robbers broke away, abandoned their loot—the cash drawer containing $14 was not opened—and fled.

Mrs. Swan G. Swanson, whose husband operates a store at 5955 Division street, across the street from the Hoch haberdashery, saw the final scene of the tragedy.

"I saw the woman and the man run out of the shop toward their car," she said. "Mr. Hoch was running after them. At the door of the car Mr. Hoch seized the man and then the woman struck him down. The man fired four times. Mr. Hoch dropped on the sidewalk and the car drove away."

Mrs. Swanson said she could identify the killers, as did several other witnesses.

Killers Threaten Motorist.

The killers' automobile sped west in Division street and turned north in Austin boulevard, half a block west. Farther north in that street it narrowly missed a car in which John Berabec, 3048 South Hamlin avenue, and Miss Estelle Rogers, 3304 59th court, Cicero, were riding.

Berabec, thinking that the car was fleeing from a hit and run automobile accident, started to follow. The bandits opened their car door, cursed him and told him to mind his own business, he told police. He was one of the witnesses who reported the license number which was traced to young Minneci.

Meanwhile two newsboys from a nearby stand stopped a truck, placed Hoch, who was already unconscious, aboard it, and started for the West Suburban hospital, a half mile south. He was dead when they reached there, however.

A Neighborhood Pioneer.

The slain merchant had been in business in the neighborhood for 25 years, and opened his present shop about nine years ago. He had two grown sons, Earl and Norman. He was a friendly man, and popular with his neighbors, they said.

"Every morning in good weather, after he had opened his shop, Mr. Hoch used to stand outside the door," said George English, a restaurant owner at 5951 Division street. "I used to watch him. It seemed that his arm was never still, waving to his friends as they passed, men and women, and children on their way to school."

The blonde gunwoman has led her two male companions in dozens of holdups in the last three months, police reports showed. She is small, about 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighing about 110 pounds. In a number of cases she has raged and cursed at her victims, striking them with her gun.

Forty-five minutes before Hoch was killed, the same gang, it is believed, held up James Swock in his shoe store at 4050 North avenue.

ICELAND'S HERRING INDUSTRY PARALYZED IN DISPUTE WITH UNION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 4.—Iceland's great herring industry is almost at a complete standstill today following the refusal of the labor union to permit a man who served on Reykjavik's reserve police force to take a job curing herrings. The chiefs of the herring curers answered the strike threat of the union by ordering a general lockout affecting 2,000 land workers and the crews of 70 ships.

London Taxi Drivers' Strike Spreads.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The taxicab drivers' strike against an increase in fares spread today, and it is estimated that about 700 taxis are off the streets in London.

The drivers complain that the rise of 3 pence on every fare [about 6 cents], which was authorized by the home secretary on Aug. 1, robs them of just that much in tips and puts the money in the cab owners' pockets. The former initial charge was 6 pence [12 cents]. The drivers relied upon getting a shilling [24 cents], half of which was his tip. Now he gets 3 pence, and if the fare is 9 pence and the patron pays a shilling, the driver gets nothing.

THEO R. GERLACH, TRADE LEADER, DEAD AT JOLIET

Theodore R. Gerlach, 66 years old, former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, died early this morning at his home, 618 Western avenue, Joliet, after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Gerlach was president of the Gerlach-Barklow Calendar company of Joliet, a former president of the Advertising Specialties National association, and former executive of the Associated Advertising Clubs. He was well known in state and national trade circles.

Surviving Mr. Gerlach is the widow, the former Mrs. Bernice Blackwood, of 5329 Dorchester avenue, Chicago, whom he married on Dec. 7, 1932. At that time Mrs. Blackwood was the only woman member of the Advertising Federation of America and was widely known as a business woman.

Mr. Gerlach became president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association on Dec. 10, 1929. He was a member of the Chicago Athletic association and the South Shore Country club. Funeral plans have not been announced.

Claims Actress Wife Stays Out All Night; Wins Divorce

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Charging that his wife "nagged" him, called him objectionable names, stayed out late at night, and discussed their personal affairs in public, John J. Beidler, son of George Beidler, wealthy Chicago real estate operator, won a divorce today from Mrs. Ella Beidler, actress. "When I would ask her where she had been, after she remained out all night, she would reply that it was none of my business," Beidler testified in Judge Carl Stutzman's court.

Wife Obtains Divorce from Gen. Davis' Nephew

Mrs. Margaret Davis, 2517 East 75th street, yesterday was awarded a divorce on grounds of desertion from D. Harold Davis, an attorney and a nephew of Gen. Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title & Trust company. Mrs. Davis testified before Judge Charles A. Williams in the Superior court that she was married to Davis on Sept. 25, 1930, in Crown Point and that he left her on July 18, 1932. She waived alimony.

4 ARRESTED FOR WALL STREET TEAR GAS BOMB

Hunt Young Lawyer as Plot "Brains."

Palaczi, 21, of West Somerville and Clarence Lyons, 22, of Cambridge walked in and also were arrested.

All four men were taken to the Boston police headquarters on charges of being suspicious persons. While they were being questioned there other policemen went to Daniell's home in Somerville. Daniell's wife revealed that she was expecting him home some time during the night.

BROKERS PUT TO FLIGHT

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Two containers of "knockout" gas, placed in the ventilating system of the New York Stock exchange, drove all members and employés to the street shortly after noon today, and forced suspension of trading for the remainder of the day.

Police tonight were still seeking the perpetrator, after they had traced the containers to a shipment sent last April from a manufacturer at Cleveland, O., to a sporting goods firm at Boston.

The gas itself was identified, from a circular on file at police headquarters, as a type which acts as a tear gas and at the same time tends to prostrate its victims. Its chief use is to quell prison riots, to repulse mobs, and to block holdups.

So potent were the first fumes which filtered through the outlets of the cooling system on the exchange at 12:07 p. m. that brokers, floor traders and employés fled in a body. By this action they probably escaped the full effects of the fumes, for it was reported that none had been incapacitated.

Financial Area Excited.

At the same time, however, their precipitate rush through all exits of the exchange building at Broad and Wall streets threw the financial area into excitement such as it had not witnessed since the last forced closing of the stock market following the bomb explosion before the subtreasury and the J. P. Morgan offices in September, 1920.

More than a hundred policemen were necessary to disperse the crowds that filled the surrounding streets.

How the perpetrator gained access to the corridor was not known. Employés of the exchange said the hallway is used by others than the staff of the exchange. In addition, it connects with an indoor fire escape. To comply with fire regulations, this door is not locked, and the stairway could have been used to reach the screen covering the ventilating system.

Police Telephoned.

Some one connected with the exchange telephoned to Old Slip police station, thence to police headquarters.

With sirens sounding, two emergency wagons arrived. The sound drew hundreds of persons who had had no word earlier that anything was amiss in the neighborhood. The gas had seeped out to the open air, and could be smelled distinctly, but it did not concentrate on the outside densely enough to be dangerous.

Members of the emergency squad, donning masks, went inside and recovered the two containers from the spot near the ventilator inlet on the fifth floor. They had been placed there by some person intimately familiar with the layout and routine of the exchange, police officers decided after an inquiry.

Lieut. Charles E. Newman, in charge of the bomb squad, said the containers had been placed in the one spot where their contents would be most certainly drawn into the ventilating system and distributed through the building.

CUBA MAY SEIZE ALL BUSINESSES; STRIKE SPREADS

Ultimatum Is Served on Labor by Machado.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Aug. 4.—President Machado, aroused by the general strike which has crippled business, transportation, and communication throughout the country, tonight served an ultimatum on the strikers in which he said that unless the walkout is called off by noon tomorrow, he will declare the "existence of a state of war throughout Cuba" and order the army to forcibly seize and open business, run street cars, and trains, and reestablish communication. Soldiers will be instructed to shoot strikers committing acts of sabotage.

This decision was taken after the president and also United States Ambassador Sumner Welles, who is acting as mediator in an effort to settle the turbulent Cuban political situation, had been notified by the National Businessmen's association as well as by associations of corporations, retail men, and importers, that they had voted tonight to join the strike and close all business of the island tomorrow.

Threatens to Seize Stores.

"My government will not under any conditions tolerate a nation-wide paralysis of business and commerce," President Machado declared. "The people cannot be subjected to starvation on account of a labor strike. The time has come for a showdown.

"If business houses, stores, and markets do not open tomorrow morning, I will decree the suspension of constitutional rights and declare that a state of civil war and open rebellion against the constitutional government exists. The army will replace the police throughout the island and will be empowered to open business houses and cater goods and general merchandise to the public and to imprison without bond under military jurisdiction all owners, merchants, and strike representatives who do not obey orders."

Three hundred eighty-six strikers were arrested throughout the country today. Havana was showered with manifestos tonight urging other labor unions to strike and pleading with those already on strike to keep up a fight to the finish regardless of "Machado's threats."

Two Slain in Battle.

The strike took a violent turn today at Cienfuegos, Santa Clara province, where two persons were killed and scores wounded in a clash between troops and strikers. The strikers smashed windows in many establishments. Police also clashed with strikers in Havana. Numerous persons were battered.

Real trouble is anticipated tomorrow when the "labor showdown" is due. Labor leaders insist that the strike will go on regardless of all costs. They said the movement was an "economic revolution against Machado."

Business owners tonight said that not only will they close their stores, but will no longer pay national, provincial, or municipal taxes.

The strike started July 25 with a comparatively unimportant walkout of Havana Omnibus company workers. Since then it has gathered momentum hourly until now it includes garagemen, employés of gasoline filling stations, stevedores, longshoremen, ferrymen, icemen, laundrymen, bakers, street car men, taxicab drivers, and railway men.

Physicians to Join Walkout.

The federation of physicians today presented Secretary of Sanitation Dr. Angel Madan with a 72 hour ultimatum warning him that the body will strike unless he cancels political appointments and dismisses all physicians in his department who do not belong to the federation. The government considers the demand impossible, since the department has 5,000 employés and doctors in all government medical institutions which were outlawed by the federation a year ago in the strike against the Spanish regional clinics, hospitals, and societies.

Students in the national university at Havana and in all public high schools announced that they will not return to their classes as long as Machado remains president. Martial law was lifted from the university campus only two days ago. The university buildings, however, are draped in black ribbons of "mourning for the massacre of students by government agents during three years of political strife to oust Machado."

Glass and Tacks in Streets.

Communications between Havana with the rest of the island are paralyzed. Highways and streets have been spread with broken glass and tacks to prevent automobile traffic.

Linotype operators, printers, and members of the Newspaper Reporters' association went on a strike today in sympathy with other labor strikers. No papers will be published throughout Cuba until the strike is settled, it was announced. The newspaper men are also striking in protest against a new press gag law being pushed through congress by the administration.

TROOPS GUARD POLLS IN KENTUCKY AFTER TWO MEN ARE SLAIN

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—An intense primary fight for county offices, which has already cost two lives in Harlan county, will be settled tomorrow with the polling places guarded by 200 state troopers.

Fifty of the militiamen are already on duty and the others, by order of Adjt. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, will arrive in the morning. They are coming from Louisville, Barbourville and Williamsburg. Preceding the opening of the polling places the ballot boxes will be opened in the presence of the soldiers, who will certify that the containers are empty.

The adjutant general had refused to send the troops here unless this formality was carried out, maintaining that there would still be charges of fraud and possibly bloodshed if there remained a suspicion the boxes had been stuffed in advance. Leaders of the two political factions then signed a request, as did Sheriff John H. Blair, that the militia examine the boxes.

One of two deaths by shooting that have occurred in the last two days was attributed to a quarrel over prevote stuffing of 432 ballots into one box at Kenvir, a mountain settlement. Robert Rourk, 35 years old, was the victim. His brother Arthur and three other men, one of them Fred Jones, candidates for the Republican nomination for county attorney, were beaten by their enemies in the same fight.

The second man killed was Joe Lee, a deputy policeman at Wallins Creek. He was shot down late today when he tore an election poster from a tree and refused to replace it. John Turner, 38 years old, is being sought in connection with the killing.

BARE CORPORATE LINK BETWEEN CAB COMPANIES

A corporate relationship between the Yellow and Checker Cab companies was revealed yesterday during the questioning of Michael Sokol, president of the Checker company, before the city public vehicle license commission. The commission is conducting an inquiry to formulate recommendations to the city council as to a fair taxicab rate and the number of cabs that should be permitted to operate.

Mr. Sokol testified that 45 Checker drivers own stock in the Checker company and that the remainder of the stock is owned by the Cab Sales and Parts company. At an earlier session of the commission, Benjamin Samuels, vice president of the Yellow company, stated that his concern owns stock in the Cab Sales and Parts company.

Mr. Sokol was the chief witness during the four hour session. He related the history of the litigation in the federal and municipal courts involving his company and the origin and development of the trouble that led a number of Checker drivers to thwart the authority of the company. He was asked if he could not regain control by canceling the licenses of the insurgent drivers, but answered that he had given no thought to such procedure.

Accident claims increased in July 60 per cent over June, he said, because the cabs have been driven more passenger miles. He stated that unless the drivers make payments to the company claims reserves will be exhausted in a few months.

SUE 12 ROADSIDE MILK COMPANIES AS INSANITARY

State Acts After a Two Months' Inspection.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The owners of twelve independent roadside milk stands, located just outside Chicago, were cited yesterday as having sold adulterated milk from insanitary premises in suits filed by the state of Illinois before Justice of the Peace Martin H. McGrath in Oak Park. Hearings on the prosecutions were set for next Tuesday.

Norman Dietz, president of the Association of Independent Milk Dealers, which has brought suit to enjoin the federal department of agriculture from enforcing a blanket milk license under the farm adjustment act, and three other plaintiffs in the case pending before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, were named in the state's action.

Series of Inspections.

The suits filed yesterday resulted from a series of inspections by the state division of foods and dairies, begun June 12 and completed Aug. 3, it was stated by Horace I. Lepman, superintendent of the division at 228 South Wabash avenue. The suits were filed by Assistant Attorney General Louis Salinger at the instance of Walter W. McLaughlin, director of the Illinois department of agriculture.

Evidence of butter fat content below the state legal requirement of 3 per cent, illegally high bacterial content, presence of flies and B coli organisms which the state claims come from presence of animal excreta in the milk have been collected by the state dairies inspectors over a period of nearly two months, Lepman said.

"We first found evidence of conditions in violation of the state sanitary code in some of these milk stands during the hot weather in June," Lepman stated. "The violations were brought to the attention of Joseph E. Green, attorney for the Independent Milk Distributors' Association of Northern Illinois, in July, and we were informed the conditions would be remedied. Repeated checking by our inspectors, the analysis of samples by an able chemist, and more recently the finding of unsanitary conditions in many of the stands made the legal prosecution necessary."

Law Provides for Fines.

The penalty for violations of the sanitary laws of Illinois is a maximum fine of $200, and not less than $15 for first offense. Each repeated violation is subject to a maximum fine of $200.

The firms cited in the suits filed yesterday are Norman Dietz, Wisconsin Farmers' Dairy Products, 900 Spanish court, No Man's Land, near Wilmette, and 7642 Irving Park boulevard, Norwood Park; Midwest Farm and Dairy company, Tessville; Elmwood Dairy company, Niles Center; Economy Dairy Products, 6540 Milwaukee avenue; Harlem Dairy, 3450 Irving Park boulevard; Farmers' Dairy, Rand and River roads; Dan Cysewske, Norwood Park; D. & G. DEMANDS DEATH FOR GIRL, 2 MEN IN ROONEY TRIAL

Lawyers Make Last Pleas in Racket Killing.

Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley yesterday demanded the death penalty for Rosalie Rizzo, 24 years old, her sweetheart, John Rooney, secretary-treasurer of the Circulator Distributors' union, and a third defendant, Henry Berry. The three are on trial before a jury in the criminal court of Judge Harry B. Miller, for the murder of Stanley Gross, a guard at the Goldblatt Brothers department store at 1615 West Chicago avenue.

"This Rizzo woman furnished a gun for the killers," the prosecutor told the jury. "She let them use her automobile on their tour of death. By these acts, gentlemen, she ceased to be a woman and became a murderess.

"The state has proved that Rooney called this woman and had her bring him a revolver. He took this revolver and with Berry sneaked to the department store and snuffed out the life of this guard.

Quotes Rooney's Boast.

"We have shown that Rooney returned to the union headquarters after the murder and bragged to Berry: 'I gave it to him. Did you see him flop?' Let us hope, gentlemen of the jury, that the law is strong enough to give it to these defendants the way they 'gave it' to that boy."

Defense Attorney William Scott Stewart told the jurors in his closing argument that the state case depended on the testimony of Alex Davidson, a bartender in the union headquarters, who had told of Rooney's boast of the killing on his return.

The attorney said that the character of the witness was such that a "cur dog" should not be convicted on his testimony. Attorney Stewart closed by asserting that the evidence was purely circumstantial.

The closing arguments were started after Rooney and Berry had taken the stand in their own behalf and made blanket denials of the charges against them. Rooney offered the alibi that he was in union headquarters at 7 North Racine avenue all during the night of May 22 and the early morning of May 23, when the murder occurred.

Tells of Talk With Goldblatt.

He was questioned by his attorney concerning his dealings with Joseph Goldblatt, one of the owners of the department stores, who had testified for the state. Goldblatt had told the jury that he had paid Rooney more than $3,300 dollars for "protection." In spite of these payments, the merchant said, a campaign of stench bombing, dress slashing, and window smashing had culminated in the murder.

Rooney said that he talked with Goldblatt in the latter's office and that the merchant had told him that the Goldblatt organization planned to extend its chain of stores.

"He told me that he didn't want to pay union scales for circular distributors," the witness said. "He asked for some union buttons to give his men, but I told him that I could not do that unless the men joined the union.'

"Goldblatt then said: 'We are carrying on a heavy campaign to undersell merchants and we must save all the money we can.' But I couldn't agree with these tactics. Goldblatt then boasted to me that he had friends in the state's attorney's office."

Berry Also Claims Alibi.

Berry's story was much the same as that of Rooney. He said that he had spent the night of the murder in the union headquarters drinking beer with Rooney.

"I went to the union headquarters to intercede for Davidson," the witness said. "He had asked me to try and get Rooney to put him back in the union. Rooney said he would consider the matter."

On cross-examination, Berry admitted that he had not been friendly with Davidson and that he had never gone to the union headquarters in behalf of the bartender before or after the night of the murder. Dr. J. M. Huston, 2101 East 86th street, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert were called as rebuttal witnesses for the state. Dr. Huston contradicted the story of Miss Rizzo, who had testified that she had worked for the physician. Dr. Huston said the woman had never been in his employ.

Capt. Gilbert denied, as testified by Rooney, that he had threatened the union official if pickets were not removed from the Goldblatt stores. The closing arguments are expected to be finished and the case given to the jury this afternoon.

DELAY HEARING ON EXTRADITION OF TOUHY GANG

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Roger Touhy, Chicago gang boss, and three of his followers, Willie Sharkey, Eddie McFadden, and Gus Schaeffer, today won a 10 day continuance in the extradition proceedings by which the government is attempting to remove them to St. Paul on charges that they kidnaped William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer.

The continuance was granted by Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins on the representation of the hoodlums' lawyer, William Scott Stewart of Chicago, that he is engaged in a murder trial there. Touhy and his men immediately were returned to their cells under heavy guard.

At the hearing it was learned from private sources that five witnesses in the Hamm case, all in St. Paul, are under guard and protection of Chicago policemen. These five, it is said, have been threatened since it became known they would be federal witnesses.

It also was reported that three of Touhy's lieutenants, Thomas Touhy, his brother; Jimmy Le Mar, and Roy Mershek now are in the St. Paul area, and that the Chicago detectives, in addition to protecting the five witnesses, are on the lookout for these three hoodlums.

7 Years' Work

Andrew Baber, 1132 Ames street, Hammond, a watch maker, has perfected a mechanical man after seven years' work. The robot, aided by Baber, is able to talk, walk, dance, and shoot a pistol. Baber controls the antics of his invention by means of a microphone connected with a receiving mechanism in the robot by a strand of wire. The robot, known as "Little Willie," is five feet tall and is clothed in conventional men's clothing.

29 GO TO PRISON IN FIVE DAYS OF FIGHT ON CRIME

10 Gunmen Sentenced in Record Session.

street, a night club entertainer, as an alibi witness to prove they were drinking with her in a cabaret at the time of the robbery. The jury acquitted them.

"The court, after a careful analysis of the evidence, has its own notions about the guilt of these defendants," said Judge Epstein, who was obviously disappointed by the verdict.

"However, I am not censuring the jury. Certain things have transpired which, of course, the jury, under our method of procedure, could not know about. In this case either the policemen are guilty of perjury or the witnesses for the defense are guilty of perjury.

Judge Believes Policemen.

"The court believes the story of the policemen. It is absurd to think that policemen would come into court and trump up charges against men they never knew before just to send them to the penitentiary.

"In the opinion of the court, the witnesses for the defense deliberately lied. I want it to be understood that in this court it will not be safe to introduce perjured testimony to mislead juries."

Then, turning to Assistant State's Attorney Earl C. Hurley, the judge said: "I want you to conduct a grand jury investigation to find out where this perjury started and how it was brought into this court."

Judge Epstein then pointed out that in the federal courts a trial judge could, if he suspected perjury, question the witnesses instead of having to sit idly by as in the state courts because of fear of criticism from the reviewing courts. In the federal courts the judge, he pointed out, can tell the jury his opinion of the witnesses in his instructions. In the state courts he must read typewritten propositions of law as submitted to him by the state and defense attorneys.

Ten Sent to Prison.

The sentences imposed by the various judges yesterday were as follows:

GEORGE T. SMITH, 53 years old, who has been in penal institutions three times; sentenced to life by Judge Joseph B. David for the murder of Mose Bashaw on June 6. Smith is to serve one day each year in solitary confinement.

ARTHUR SCHOCKLEY, 28 years old, colored; sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary for shooting George Taylor, also colored, on Dec. 3, 1932. Judge David also imposed this sentence.

JACK ANDREWS, 27 years old, colored; sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary for the murder of Wilbur McDonald, a spectator, who was shot in the Wabash avenue court on April 29 when Andrews made an attempt to escape from a policeman. Judge Daniel P. Trude sentenced Andrews.

STANLEY MIKULA, 18 years old, and JOE LUKAC, 18; sentenced to 1 to 20 years in prison by Judge Prystalski for robbing Mrs. Ella Hansen, 1811 North Washtenaw avenue.

JAMES DUGGAN, 17 years old; sentenced to 1 to 20 years in prison by Judge Charles P. Molthrop for automobile larceny.

DAN DICKINSON, 20 years old, colored; sentenced by Judge Molthrop to 1 to 20 years for robbery.

JOSEPH SERINO, 22 years old; sentenced to one year to life by Judge Marcus Kavanagh for robbery.

EDWARD COOK, 55 years old, and LEWIS HARDEN, 20 years old, both colored; sentenced to one year to life for robbery by Judge Hall.

The two defendants besides Mack and Blazyk who were found guilty but were not sentenced because of a motion for a new trial are Dominick Serratore, 25 years old, and Paul Battaglia, 19. They were found guilty before Judge Trude of robbing a policeman.

The state's attorney's office announced that no progress was made yesterday in the investigation into the manner in which John Scheck, courtroom slayer of Policeman John Sevick, got the revolver with which he killed the policeman. Writs of habeas corpus for Mrs. Rose Scheck, the slayer's mother, and Frank Scheck, his brother were dismissed when the police turned them over to the custody of the sheriff. Mrs. Scheck was ordered held as an accessory to murder by a coroner's jury last week.

POLICE WIDOW SHUNS HOME OF SAD MEMORIES

Faces Poverty After Her Husband Is Slain.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

When his grieving widow followed the body of Harry J. Redlich, another of Chicago's slain policemen, to the cemetery a few weeks ago she did not go back to the home she had occupied with him at 1610 North Francisco avenue. She couldn't bear the memories. Still completely unnerved by the shock of his death, she wept yesterday as she sat in the home of Raymond Larson, 4854 Nelson street, her son by a former marriage, and told of the plight of herself and her 9 year old daughter Jacqueline.

"There hadn't been a pay check come to the house in five months," she said, "and many a time we were without even a nickel. I didn't even have shoes to wear to my husband's funeral—I had to borrow money and buy some for myself and my little girl. I often said, 'Perhaps I could find something to do,' but Harry was so determined that I wasn't to work. 'We'll get along without that somehow,' he always said.

Many Bills Unpaid.

"But we had to eat, and our grocery bill was over $300. Our rent had to be paid, and there were all sorts of bills. Altogether I owe about $800, I guess, and I haven't had any income except my husband's back pay, which was sent to me after his death. He did manage to pay for his policy in the Policemen's Benefit association but I don't know how much it was or when I'll get it."

Redlich was shot in the back by a holdup man as he was questioning the robber's companion in the Madison-Kedzie building on July 8. No pension check has yet been received by his widow, she said, although she is eligible for $125 a month for herself and $10 for her minor child.

Nor has she heard any news about the $7,500 that should be set up for herself and her child by the city board of awards. Her health has been so impaired, she said, that she has neither the strength nor the interest to make inquiry about it. Widows of men on the police force losing their lives in the line of duty are provided with a $5,000 trust fund, with $2,500 additional for a minor child.

Unable to Pay for Funeral.

"Even my husband's funeral expenses have to be paid yet—and all I could tell the undertaker was that I'd pay him when I got some money," said Mrs. Redlich. "O, that was such a cruel, cruel thing. To shoot him down from behind. He was the best husband a woman ever had. What do I care about the money? It can't bring him back—it can't bring him back!"

Ross King and John Bongiorno, the two paroled convicts who were interrupted by Redlich in a holdup of the office of an advertising agency in the Madison-Kedzie building, have been indicted for the murder of the policeman. They are scheduled to go to trial in September.

Mrs. Redlich is one of the widows of police heroes who will share in the fund now being collected by THE TRIBUNE to help them out of financial difficulties.

POLITICAL PLEA FAILS TO FREE TONY ACCARDO

Tony Accardo, public enemy and once a follower of Al Capone, whose release from police custody was sought Thursday night by State Representative Robert Petrone of the 21st district, was held yesterday for investigation at the detective bureau.

"Men who are public enemies and hoodlums will not be released from police custody because they have political friends," Chief Schoemaker said after confirming the report that Petrone had called on him in behalf of Accardo. "It is my policy to arrest all known hoodlums on sight and hold them for investigation."

Accardo was arrested Thursday night in front of 1511 Taylor street for the second time within a week.

ALDERMEN ACT FOR A BAGGAGE RATE ORDINANCE

Told That Regulation Is Impossible Now.

Members of a subcommittee of the city council's local transportation committee, appointed to investigate alleged excessive charges by baggage transfer companies, were informed yesterday by Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman that in his opinion no valid ordinances exist under which the city may now regulate the companies.

As a result the subcommittee, headed by Ald. George A. Williston [49th] took immediate steps to draft such a regulatory ordinance. The subcommittee will meet again Tuesday. In the meantime, Frederick Rex, municipal librarian, has been instructed to prepare a report on baggage transfer rates and regulatory ordinances in other cities.

Three Others on Committee.

Serving with Ald. Williston on the subcommittee are Aldermen William A. Rowan [10th], John F. Healy [6th] and Roger J. Kiley [37]. Attending their meeting was Attorney John W. Costello, representing the Frank Parmelee company, which has a monopoly of the baggage transfer business originating in the city's railroad stations.

The city formerly had an ordinance licensing public carts, which included a section fixing the maximum rates for baggage transfers by the licensed carts. In 1930 the council repealed the licensing section. This had the effect of invalidating the maximum rate provisions, since they applied only to licensed carts. The licensing repealer was forwarded to the council in a letter from State's Attorney Courtney then a state senator, which gave no explanation of why the repeal was sought.

Supreme Court Ruling Cited.

When the city council passed an ordinance in 1931 recodifying all the general ordinances of the city, both the licensing and maximum rate sections were included. Mr. Grossman told the subcommittee, however, that the State Supreme court had held in relation to a previous city code that the code was supposed to be only a compilation of existing ordinances and that by its passage the council did not intend to enact any new ordinances or reenact any which had been repealed. For this reason, he held, the whole chapter on public carts is invalid.

"We should get our data together as quickly as possible," said Ald. Williston, after Librarian Rex had been given his instructions, "and decide what we want in the new ordinance. If we can get the ordinance ready in time, we should call a special meeting of the council this summer to enact it."

Special Meeting Is Urged.

"Let's call a special meeting," said Ald. Healy. "This is an important matter, and one which should be covered by ordinance."

"The transfer people charged $5 to haul five pieces of baggage just outside the loop," pointed out Ald. Rowan. "We shouldn't go to sleep on this. We should go into the matter deeply, and keep meeting until we draft a new ordinance."

The Parmelee company and other transfer concerns now charge $1 a piece for hauling baggage, regardless of the distance involved or the number of pieces consigned to the same address. This is in excess, for short or moderately long hauls, of the maximum rates set up in the ordinance which Mr. Grossman held to be invalid.

SON OF RICH PEORIA MERCHANT SLAIN BY EX-CONVICT IN HOLDUP

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Shot down in cold blood by a bandit who robbed him of $1,000 in checks and currency, Hero T. Poppen Jr., 27 year old cripple, died an hour later in the Proctor hospital.

His assailant, Oliver Dodge, 44, former convict at Leavenworth and Lansing, Kas., was arrested within half an hour after the shooting. He had the cash in his pockets. Checks were found where Dodge admitted he hid them. Dodge declared the gun was accidentally discharged. He was held under bonds of $65,000.

Poppen was credit man for the Poppen Grocery Store chain, and the son of the owner. He was on his way to a bank when held up.

Indiana Bank Robbed.

Montpelier, Ind., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The First National bank of Montpelier was held up today by three men who escaped with approximately $10,000.

One of the robbers held the bank employés under guard in a rear room. A second man forced D. M. Tewksbury, conservator in charge of the bank, to open the vault.

All cash and currency was taken from the vault and from the cash drawers.

Tewksbury said the robbers were well dressed, unmasked and polite but impressive in their demand that the vault be opened.

Rob Brooklyn Laundry.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Fifteen minutes before an armored truck was due to carry receipts to the bank, two men with sawed off shotguns held up the cashier of the Gold Seal laundry today and escaped with $3,500 in cash. Four hundred employés were at work in the plant at the time.

2 ROBBERS RAID PHYSICIAN'S AND DENTIST'S OFFICES

Two bandits invaded a medical office last night at 3246 West North avenue and slugged Dr. Charles P. Schell, a physician, and tied up and robbed Dr. Eugene Starner, a dentist.

The gunmen entered the waiting room together and then separated, one going to Dr. Schell's office and the other to Dr. Starner's. As the physician opened his door to admit what he thought was a patient the robber shoved a gun toward him. Dr. Schell tried to slam the door, but failed. The gunman entered, hit him on the head with the weapon, and then fled without waiting to rob him.

Meanwhile the second bandit surprised Dr. Starner and tied him to a in dental gold. The bandits fled together.

U. S. Police Agency in Cities to Battle Crime, Is Senator's Plan

Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The establishment of a government police agency to function in metropolitan areas separately from local law enforcement agencies was advocated today by Senator Louis Murphy of Iowa, a member of the senate committee which is investigating racketeering.

Senator Murphy indicated it may be necessary to reform judicial procedure, especially the habeas corpus and the writ of supersedeas provisions of the criminal law, in order to properly combat the underworld.

Murphy recently returned from Chicago, where he conducted a preliminary investigation into racketeering.

"Most of the 35 industries enmeshed in major racketeering in Chicago are engaged in interstate commerce," he said. "The fifteen mobs operating in kidnaping north of the Ohio and east of the Rockies disregard state lines. It will merely delay things to withhold organized enforcement action while constitutional authorities debate the question of where federal police power ends and state police power starts. A proper disposition in state enforcement officers will render academic the question of constitutional process.

Finds Cities Handicapped.

"The elemental passions of greed and fear explain racketeering. For the terrorism of hoodlums must be substituted the terrorism of the law.

Emphasizing the point that the political setup of large cities makes effective prosecution extremely difficult, Murphy said:

"Looking at the system of local government for what it is, recognizing the fact that the dependence of officials at the top must be in thousands of official agencies reaching down to the very bottom, and that rectitude of purpose at the top becomes venality at the bottom, one is impressed with the need of going outside for a law enforcement agency that is beyond the reach of local control. That agency is the federal government. Its power got Capone. It will get every man it goes after. Not the least of its virtues is its detachment from local influences."

The senator expressed great admiration for Chicago. "Where, in all the world, is there a system of parks and boulevards comparable with Chicago's? Where superior traffic handling? Where else the vision and venturesomeness of the citizenship that conceived and brought forth A Century of Progress Exposition?" he asked.

"There is criticism of Chicago, of course, but Chicagoans are their own severest critics. There is crime. What city is without it? Crime still is news in Chicago and printed with slug heads, so it is not so common as to be without novelty.

"The principal task of our senate committee, in my view, is to determine the new legislation needed to give complete coverage to these crimes and the possible reform of judicial procedure in respect to the writs of habeas corpus and supersedeas. We should, moreover, make it a felony to pay money or to negotiate with kidnapers or their agents."

Moley Takes Over New Post.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Leadership in the federal government's drive against organized crime was assumed today by Raymond Moley, assistant secretary of state."

Moley, who moved into the justice department under special assignment from President Roosevelt to fight racketeering, kidnaping, and gangster activities, will direct his efforts toward coördinating the law enforcement agencies of the federal and state governments.

Moley will serve as a consultant, to coöperate with Attorney General Cummings and his assistants. He refused to say whether he favored the establishment of a Scotland Yard in the United States to coördinate federal and state efforts in combatting crime.

Moley is not a criminologist and professes little knowledge of that subject, he said, but has specialized in the study of the organization and functioning of agencies that handle criminals.

CATHOLIC HOME WILL BE USED TO HELP OLDER BOYS

After forty-six years of ministering to dependent younger boys, the Mission of Our Lady of Mercy at 1140 Jackson boulevard is about to lose its identity as the home of "Father Quille's boys." By direction of Cardinal Mundelein as a part of his Catholic Action plan, the institution that is known far and wide will change the nature of its services the middle of this month when a dedicatory carnival will be held there.

Workmen are now remodeling the building as a center for boys of 16 and older who were formerly turned out to shift for themselves when they got too old to be kept in orphanages. These boys will now be given "a real chance in life," according to the Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago, who told of the plans yesterday in an address to Catholic women's organizations at 31 East Congress street.

Arrangements for the carnival were discussed. The entertainments which will launch the new program will be under the joint auspices of the Holy Name society of men and the Council of Catholic Women.

Aug. 13 has been named "hostess day," when the formal opening of the remodeled institution will be held.

MINNEAPOLIS CHICAGO ST. PAUL

SCENT NEW JOB AT PRISON THAT HOUSES DRUGGAN

Four Kansas Politicians Sniffing at the Door.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—At least four Kansas Democratic politicians arrived in town today—prospective candidates, all, for the wardenship of the Leavenworth penitentiary annex. A vacancy seems imminent there.

Sniffing from afar the possible dismissal of the incumbent, R. H. Hudspeth, the candidates spent a couple of profitable hours in local hotel lobbies conferring with local politicians and outvying each other in pledges that if Washington gave any one of them the $5,000 a year wardenship Convict Terrence Druggan would never more receive the privileges he has been getting under Warden Hudspeth.

Druggan Still in Infirmary.

Meanwhile Mr. Druggan, creator of the prospective upheaval in the prison personnel, still languished under care of prison physicians in the penitentiary infirmary.

An announcement from the hospital corrected the Druggan diagnosis issued last night. The new announcement revealed the patient to be suffering still from the same disorder that gained him a soft infirmary bed when he was an "official guest" of Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman in the Cook county jail five years ago. It was stated without qualification that Mr. Duggan has an acute stomach ache.

Support of the hospital diagnosis of Terrence's malady came from an unexpected source—the parsonage of the Rev. James A. Ording, at Kickapoo, Kas. The Rev. Mr. Ording has been suspended as prison chaplain, pending a report from Sanford Bates of Washington, D. C., superintendent of federal prisons.

"Terry could never stand the grub at the prison," said the chaplain's housekeeper. "Yes, he came here to the parsonage once in a while for a meal. We didn't see anything wrong in giving a hungry man food. Almost everybody in Leavenworth was doing the same for Terry."

Chaplain Calls Charges False.

The Washington investigators accused him of permitting Druggan to hold conferences with his former beer partner, Frank Lake, in the Kickapoo parsonage, Father Ording himself disclosed in an interview tonight, but the chaplain branded the accusation a falsehood.

"One of my duties is to register every prisoner," Father Ording said. "It was thus I first came in contact with Druggan. Although he stated in a questionnaire that he was not of the Catholic faith, he was soon assigned as a clerk in my office. He was there only a short time, when he was made a trusty and assigned to work outside the prison.

"The Washington investigators claimed they had information that he not only ate at the rectory, but conferred there with Lake. I told them the latter statement was a falsehood. They wanted to know why I permitted him to eat in my kitchen. I told them so long as he came there in a prison truck, in prison uniform, in custody of a guard, and claimed to be hungry, I wouldn't refuse him a bite to eat, no more than I would any wayfarer on the road.

"They wanted to know why I hadn't reported his calling there. I said I was a chaplain, not a detective. I am not so much concerned about losing the chaplainship, but I will not see the work I have done torn down by some one's trying to shift responsibility to me."

Cottage Is Deserted.

The little gray cottage in Spruce street where Mrs. Bernice Van de Houten, comely Chicago widow, was so often a visitor was a picture of desolation today. The window shades were drawn and circulars littered the front porch where Terry was wont to spend his evenings.

From the condition of the cottage, it was evident that Mrs. Van de Houten had departed in haste.

Local interest is now focused on the report Supt. Bates is expected to release in Washington. There was speculation as to whether Mr. Bates' agents on their investigations of the Druggan episode had thought to question any of the various attorneys the prisoner had retained while in prison.

One of these, it is said, was Congressman Leonidas S. Dyer of St. Louis, author of the Dyer motor theft act.

Terry Indiscreet.

Terrence's principal trouble, according to one of his several legal advisers here, was a glaring lack of discretion.

"Druggan has a knack of winning confidence," his adviser said. "He came into Leavenworth with plenty of gall and plenty of money. Of course the men of the prison personnel knew of his performance in the Cook county jail.

"It wasn't long before he was passing his ten and twenty dollar bills right and left. The money greased his way and he was soon sailing fast. Within a few months he was 'cock of the walk' in the annex and became inclined to think he was running the institution.

"The guards could not control him. Those in his pay did not dare challenge him, of course, and the others were restrained from chastising him because they were uncertain just how high up his bribery reached. The fact that Druggan never drew discipline or demerits was significant to the guards.

"He just overplayed his hand, and now he'll probably lose all the time he had coming for good behavior."

VIOLATED COURT ORDER.

The finding that Terry Druggan was in contempt of court in his wanderings outside the penitentiary will be incorporated in a report submitted to United States Attorney Dwight H. Green, it was said yesterday at the United States courthouse.

Assistant U. S. Attorney James C. Leaton, who was assigned to investigate, is said to have decided that Druggan violated the order of the sentencing judge, James H. Wilkerson.

Circus Starts Its Run in Grant Park Today

Children still "sidewall" their way into the circus, as witness this view at the tent of the combined Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus, which will open today in Grant Park.

HOFFMAN RECALLS HIS TRIBULATIONS AS DRUGGAN'S KEEPER

Peter M. Hoffman, who was sheriff during the county jail scandal stirred up by Terry Druggan in 1925, reminisced yesterday about the trouble caused him by the refusal of the elusive hoodlum to remain in a cell.

"The old county jail was a madhouse," Hoffman said. "There were 1,500 prisoners in a place built to accommodate 500. Druggan bribed 40 employés to get his liberty. He paid money to my understudies to keep the information from my ears. Peter Hoffman never got a dime and witnesses testified that Peter Hoffman never got a dime. And that's right—Peter Hoffman never got a dime.

"I believe the same thing is true at Leavenworth. The attendants never gave Druggan his liberties for glory, and I think an investigation will show that there were a great many underlings mixed up in the thing.

"My trouble with Druggan was that I had too much faith in my warden, Westbrook. He was highly recommended as having the backing of 16 reform organizations. I was told that if I wanted to avoid scandal I had better keep Westbrook. I did and look what they did to me.

"I started the investigation into the scandal and laid the facts on the table and look what I got for it—a month in jail. The Leavenworth scandal sort of redeems me. If Druggan can get away with it in Leavenworth, which is supposed to be a well run prison, it should have been twice as easy for him to do what he did in the old county jail, which was a madhouse."

TERRY'S FRIEND GONE

Tenants in the building at 5246 Glenwood avenue, where Mrs. Bernice Van de Houten, friend of Terry Druggan, occupies the third floor north apartment, said yesterday that Mrs. Van de Houten visited her apartment at noon and made a hasty departure after packing bags.

It was the first time the neighbors had seen her since Thursday morning when she departed from her home with her son, Edward, 14 years old, in her La Salle car.

The tenants said that shortly after Mrs. Van de Houten's departure yesterday a man made the rounds of the six apartments in the building, which is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Druggan, Terry's mother, and asked for the rent, saying that Mrs. Van de Houten, who ordinarily collects the rent, "was going away for a couple of weeks."

Last Thursday night the tenants received notice that the county treasurer's receivership on the building had been ended because Attorney Si Murray appeared before County Judge Jarecki during the day and paid in full the delinquent 1929 and 1930 taxes, totaling $1,951.

Mrs. Van de Houten was described by the neighbors as a "refined looking woman who wore almost no makeup," with dark hair, hazel eyes, and a slim, youthful figure. Occasionally she had dinner parties, but they were orderly affairs, they said.

BANDIT KEEPS PACT WITH GIRL; POLICE GET HIM

A bandit who made a bargain with a victim and kept his end of it was arrested by Warren avenue police early today. He gave his name as Anthony Lagliana, 25 years old, 3328 Monroe street.

Shortly after midnight Lagliana, pretending he had a gun in his pocket, forced Miss Mae Wayland into his car about a block away from her home at 2625 Monroe street. He took from two rings, valued at $180.

Miss Wayland pleaded that one of the rings was keepsake and offered to pay Lagliana for it if he would return it. "All right," agreed Lagliana, "I'll meet you at Warren boulevard and Campbell avenue in a half hour, and if you have the money you'll get your ring back." He let Miss Wayland out of the car. She notified the police. In a half hour she appeared at the designated intersection — a stone's throw from the Warren avenue station. Lagliana was there. His wife was with him. They were seized. The two stolen rings were found on him.

Martin Quirk Is Sought After Automobile Crash

Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, beer hoodlum, was being sought by police this morning as one of three occupants of an expensive sedan, which was driven at high speed in south side streets after damaging another car. One of the men—not Quirk—threatened pursuers with a revolver, police said. The license on the sedan was traced to Johnny Pope, 1730 North Clark street. The car damaged belonged to Miss Helen L. Little, 19 years old, 6946 Stony Island avenue.

RUSSIA RELEASES 12,484 CONVICTS IN LABOR REWARD

59,516 Prisoners Win Reduced Sentences.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 4.—Sweeping amnesties were announced today for political and common law prisoners employed on the White sea-Baltic canal, which was recently completed by the GPU [secret police] and visited by Dictator Josef Stalin.

A total of 12,484 prisoners were freed and 59,516 sentences were reduced as a reward for outstanding work as labor convicts.

Five hundred of those released had their civil rights restored and their records of political "crime" rubbed off the GPU books.

GPU Officials Decorated.

The vice chief of the GPU, H. G. Yagoda, and five other GPU officials, who had been prominent in the work were decorated with the Order of Lenin, the government's highest honor, as were two former "wreckers"—engineers freed by last year's amnesty because of previous good work.

Fifteen prisoners, including two women, one wrecker, and one habitual thief, were decorated with the Order of the Red Banner. Eight others were given the Labor banner.

There has never been an amnesty on this scale in Russia, and it is considered significant for three reasons:

First, it marks a lessening of the class war that accompanied industrialization and the bitter struggle for collectivization against kulaks (rich peasants) and other enemies of the villages.

Foes No Longer Dangerous.

Second, it shows that the enemies of the villages are no longer so dangerous.

Finally, it is reechoed throughout the country as an olive branch to "the sinner that repenteth." The amnesty is regarded as proof that soviet power can be merciful as well as merciless.

The White sea-Baltic canal is about 140 miles long. It was built entirely with convict labor in 15 months. The canal cuts ten days from the water route from Leningrad to Archangel.

RAID BROKERAGE OFFICE AND NAB TWO OFFICIALS

State's Attorney's police yesterday raided the brokerage office of G. P. Lee and company, 53 West Jackson boulevard, arrested two officials of the company and seized the records. G. P. Lee, head of the company, and Frank P. Derwin, 835 East 46th street, secretary, were the men arrested.

Miss Genevieve Van Matre, 1100 North La Salle street, said she recently advertised her automobile for sale in THE TRIBUNE. A man giving the name of Harry Schwartz called in response to the advertisement and offered her $400 in bonds "as good as gold" for the car. He instructed her, she said, to call the Lee company and when she did they told her the bonds were worth what was represented and they would purchase them from her at that figure. The company refused to cash them after the trade was made, she charged. The prosecutor said he had had several similar complaints against the company.

The police say they found a "sucker list," which contained the names mostly of women who recently had inherited money.

NEW STAR DATA SHOW A FLAW IN EINSTEIN THEORY

Astronomers have discovered a new flaw in the Einstein relativity theory, according to observations published by Dr. A. N. Vyssotsky of the University of Virginia in the current issue of the Astrophysical journal of the University of Chicago. Dr. Vyssotsky has found that the companion star of Sirius is but one-third as bright as has been assumed and the "red shift" of the star should be less than has actually been observed. This shift to the red end of the spectrum was predicted by Einstein on the basis of his relativity theory. Such a shift indicates recession, according to the theory of the expanding universe. Dr. Otto Struve, director of Yerkes, has suggested that this red effect may be caused by dust particles. Yerkes scientists will work on this problem.

Oklahoman Saves Three Women from Drowning

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Attracted by the screams of three women as they floundered in a whirlpool in the Monongahela river, John Burtchett of Hennessy, Okla., plunged into the stream and saved the trio. He rescued Mrs. Nellie Adams, her sister, Mrs. Charles Ivens, and Mrs. Adams' niece, Miss Regina Adams.

HITLER REGIME RECALLS SIMON, CHICAGO CONSUL

Nazi Flag Incident at Fair Believed a Factor.

Dispatches from Berlin yesterday confirmed persistent rumors here of the recall by the Hitler government of Dr. Hugo Ferdinand Simon, consul general for Germany. Dr. Simon could not be reached last night for comment on the matter. He had repeatedly told interviewers during the past several days that he had had no official notice of his recall and could not make any statement until one arrived.

Dr. Simon is known to have been deeply distressed over the current situation in the German colony of this city. Agitation by enthusiastic Nazi groups to secure the raising of the swastika banner over the newly opened German-American building at A Century of Progress has caused him concern, and is believed to presage possible further friction on Aug. 13, German day at the Fair. Demands have been made that Nazi flags be carried in the procession, and have so far met refusals by leaders of the group in charge of the program.

Former Aid to Rathenau, a Jew.

In the recall of Dr. Simon, who came to Chicago in November of 1928, dissenters from the Hitler views declare there is further evidence of the dictator's anti-Semitic sentiment. While the consul general is not Jewish, being of French Huguenot descent, he was at one time adjutant to the late Dr. Walter Rathenau, great Hebrew diplomat who was the first German representative to be received in Great Britain after the world war.

This former connection, friends of Dr. Simon maintain, probably was looked upon as inimical by the present ruling power in the fatherland, despite the fact that the consul took a stand with the Hitler party when any was indicated, as in the matter of the Nazi banner on the World's Fair building.

May Remain in Chicago.

Whether Dr. Simon will return to Germany to live remains a moot question, according to his friends here, his ardent republican attitude under Rathenau and his admiration for the American system of government made his position both delicate and difficult when Hitler took the reins in Germany. Consequently he is said now to be considering the offer of a home in Chicago made by a friend here in preference to going back to live under the Hitler régime.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Simon have been active in social circles of Chicago since their arrival here and frequently entertained at their home at 443 Barry avenue.

Arrives in Morning

The big top of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus will rise with the sun this morning in Grant park at Roosevelt road. The circus is celebrating its golden jubilee and is making special note of the fact in its five ring performance.

At 5 a. m. the four railroad trains are due on the Illinois Central sidings at the foot of Randolph street. The first section will carry the commissary, cook, and diving tents, the menageries, and the horse tents, while the second and third will carry the big top and the thirty other tents, the howdahs and trappings and wardrobe for the durbar, the new golden jubilee spectacle. The fourth train will bring the staff and performers, the ring stock and the elephants. There are in all 1,600 people, 50 elephants, 1,009 menagerie animals, and 700 horses.

Among the golden jubilee features to be seen at the opening performance at 2 a. m. and again at 8 p. m. will be the giraffe neck women of the Karen Hills Padung tribe in central Africa. There will be the Marcellus flying ballet, the golden models, the golden elephant, Mirman, the golden girl, the Flying Condons, and many other favorites.

The circus will give two performances daily, closing Aug. 13.

WELFARE FUND FROM SALES TAX REACHES $195,026

The Emergency Welfare fund yesterday reported additional contributions of $16,384.47 from unrefunded sales tax receipts under the sales tax law of last March, R. Douglas Stuart, president of the fund, announced yesterday. This makes a total of special contributions from this source to date of $195,026.30.

Mr. Stuart pointed out that the money is being used for work relief through private charitable and welfare agencies. About 1,500 people who have been receiving relief from the private family relief agencies such as the United Charities, Salvation Army and Jewish charities, he said, are being employed to do repair work and cleaning at social settlements, clerical work in clinics and hospitals where free treatments are given to the needy, sewing garments for relief families, repairing shoes, barbering and other incidental work.

The list of new contributions is:

Previously reported	$178,641.83
Maurice L. Rothschild	7,130.00
Montgomery Ward & Co.	6,502.42
Jewel Food Stores, Inc.	1,675.10
Lyon & Healy, Inc.	575.50
Armour & Co.	300.00
The Bible Institute Colportage association	87.99
Sheppard & Myers, Inc.	53.45
Girl Scouts Inc. of Chicago	31.14
Borden's Ice Cream Co. of Ill., Inc.	28.87
Total	$195,026.30

STORE OFFICIALS ROBBED OF $4,782 BY GANG IN AUTO

A gang of armed robbers yesterday forced an automobile in which rode four employés of the Twelfth Street store, 1155 South Halsted street, to the curb at Bunker and Jefferson streets and compelled the occupants to surrender $4,782 and checks for $4,950.

Taking the loot after threatening the store employés with death, the bandits leaped into their own car and fled.

The employés, who were taking the funds to deposit them in the First National bank, were I. Shalowitz, assistant secretary and auditor; Andrew Sard, receiving clerk; Charles Carlson, grocery buyer, and Fred Berger, assistant superintendent.

They described the robbers, four in number, as all of dark complexion and from 25 to 30 years old. The automobile used by the gang was stolen during the day from Leonard Digate, 462 North Peoria street.

ROBBER SHOT BY VICTIM; SECOND IN EIGHT MONTHS

Olaf Olson, owner of a drug store at 5046 Lincoln avenue, is still bad luck to bandits. Eight months ago he shot a robber in his store. Last night two young gunmen entered the place and took $25 from the till.

As they turned to flee Olson fired five shots at the nearest man. He dropped, but staggered out. His companion meanwhile deserted him, getting away alone in their car. Blood was found on the store floor and outside and police began a canvass of the neighborhood, certain that the wounded robber did not get very far away on foot.

Hitler Dismisses Diplomats of German Republican Era

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—Chancellor Hitler's Nazis today launched a campaign to capture the last strongholds of the republican régime—the foreign office and the diplomatic service. The government announced sweeping changes in the diplomatic service and indicated that many of the best known diplomats of the old régime will be placed on the retired list.

Three ministers were recalled and pensioned. They are:

Heinrich von Kaufmann-Asser, minister at Buenos Aires. He has been retired presumably because of his Jewish ancestry.

Hindenburg's Favorite Retired.

Walter Zechlin, minister to Mexico, who as chief of the press department was a favorite of President Paul von Hindenburg for years. He was recalled as a result of his former activity as a Socialist.

Count Hugo von Lerchenfeld, envoy to Belgium, who was ordered home because of his prominence in the Catholic Centrist movement. He is the husband of the former Ethel Wyman of New York.

Dr. Hugo Ferdinand Simon, consul general at Chicago and former adjutant to Dr. Walter Rathenau, famous Jewish diplomat, who was murdered by Nationalists, was also recalled.

Among those who have been permanently retired are Karl von Schubert, undersecretary of state under the late Gustav Stresemann and later ambassador to Rome; Friedrich von Prittwitz-Gaffron, former ambassador to the United States; Alfred Horstmann, former minister to Portugal; and Eugen Will, former minister to Mexico.

In addition, 73 diplomats on the waiting list have been retired permanently. No indication was given as to who will take their places.

"Shoot if Necessary."

As a part of the Nazis' renewed warfare against all Marxists, the Berlin police were instructed today to shoot if necessary to exterminate distributors of communist leaflets. Several communists were arrested here tonight by Nazi storm troopers on charges of distributing leaflets. One of the prisoners leaped to his death from a window in a storm troop barracks.

The German secret police also have announced that in case of a new distribution of communist leaflets they would arrest more hostages to force the communists to cease.

The government today took immediate reprisals against Austria for the arrests of three German journalists at Vienna. The deportation of a number of Austrians from Germany was ordered. The government warned that more will follow unless the Vienna arrests are "cleared up satisfactorily."

Dr. Paul Goldmann, Berlin correspondent of Vienna Neue Freie Presse, was arrested.

Two of the German journalists arrested in Vienna were charged with writing carelessly about the Austrian government and were suspected with undercover Nazi activities, Vienna dispatches said. The third was seized for an article published in Berlin containing uncomplimentary references to the government of Chancellor Dollfuss.

Meanwhile, a complete change of Germany's university system was predicted today by the official Voelkischer Beobachter. The newspaper points out that only one-third of the 32,000 men and 11,000 women now attending universities will be permitted to receive degrees.

Declaring that rank and wealth no longer count in the new Germany, "in which all are equal," the Beobachter said that admission to universities must be restricted to the most gifted scholars. In addition, only a sufficient number shall be admitted to meet the needs of the state and people, the paper said.

WAGE AND HOUR CODE IS MODIFIED FOR 14 CRAFTS

Recall Low Laundry Pay Exemption.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Fourteen additional industries today were granted permission to operate under modifications of the President's reëmployment agreement.

All were given various concessions in the adoption of fixed hours of work and minimum wages. The industries affected, whose pleas were presented by national trade associations, are the following:

Advertising specialties, ice cream, fluid milk, knitted outerwear, oil burners, optical goods, paint, varnish and lacquer, Printers' league, section of New York Employing Printers' association; toys and playthings, wheat flour milling and retail lumber, lumber products, building materials, and building specialties, gasoline pump manufacturers, the ice industry and paper box makers.

Each of these groups has filed a formal code of fair competition, it was announced, and the maximum hours and minimum wage provisions in the codes are to be substituted temporarily, pending the adoption of the formal codes, for the provisions of the President's reëmployment agreement.

Variations as Allowed.

The variations from the President's code, which calls for a 35 hour week and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for industrial workers, and a 40 hour week for white collar workers with minimum wages ranging from $12 to $15 per week, were allowed the various industries as follows:

Advertising specialties—40 hour week; 30 cents hourly wage.

Knitted outerwear—40 hour week; 35 cents hourly wage.

Retail lumber—40 hour week; wage scales in geographical sections ranging from 30 to 50 cents an hour. Rates in the north central states are: Illinois, 45 cents; Indiana, 40 cents; Iowa, 45 cents; Michigan, 45 cents; Wisconsin, 45 cents.

Oil burners—Average work week of 35 hours, varied for seasonal requirements; 45 cents hourly wage. Office employés, 40 hours and $15 weekly minimum wage.

Optical industry—40 hour week, with seasonable allowances; minimum wages from 25 cents to 40 cents per hour.

Paint, varnish, and lacquer—Maximum of 1,088 hours in six months' period, equivalent to 40 hours for 20 weeks and 48 hours for 6 weeks. Minimum wages follow President's code except temporary code gives women employés 5 cents less an hour than men, and male employés under 18 years of age, 10 cents less.

Printing—40 hour week.

Toys and playthings—40 hour week, 30 cents an hour wage.

Wheat flour milling—40 hour week, minimum wages ranging in sections from 32½ to 45 cents, with 5 cent differential between east and west. Women to receive 30 cents an hour.

Fluid milk—48 hour week for factory workers and 40 hours for office employés, with 10 per cent monthly tolerance.

Ice cream—Same as for fluid milk industry.

Gasoline pump manufacturers—33 hour week, 40 cents an hour.

Ice industry—56 hours from April 15 to Oct. 15; 40 hours from Oct. 16 to April 14; wages, 30 cents an hour in southern states and 32½ cents in northern states.

Paper box makers—40 hour average week; wage not less than 40 cents an hour unless hourly rate for same class of work on July 15, 1929, was less than 40 cents an hour. In latter case pay is not to be less than 1929 rate, and in no case less than 32½ cents an hour in the north and 30 cents an hour in the south.

Laundry Exemption Withdrawn.

The temporary exemptions granted yesterday to the laundry industry were withdrawn today by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator. No explanation for the withdrawal was given, but it was learned the low wage minimums fixed in the temporary code brought the reversal. In the south, in towns of less than 100,000 population, women employés were to be paid a minimum of $5.67 weekly.

The laundry men's temporary code had been approved by Gen. Johnson, Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside; Industrial Adviser E. R. Stettinius Jr., Labor Adviser Leo E. Wolman, and Assistant Attorney Blackwell Smith.

Gen. Johnson was asked at today's press conference when he thought consumers should begin to patronize only those stores and institutions displaying the blue eagles showing compliance with the President's code.

"I will not give any signal," he replied, "but nothing drastic should be considered by any one within two weeks. I want consumers to be reasonable."

Start Pledge Cards Out.

Despite this statement, officials under Gen. Johnson today began the distribution of millions of consumers' pledge cards, with instructions to state and local recovery boards to have them circulated promptly over whole territories.

The administrator was asked whether there was "likelihood" of his taking action against minorities in an industry which might refuse to obey the terms of specific codes.

"It is not a likelihood, it is a certainty," he replied. "I don't want to set this department up as a police department," he went on. "The federal trade commission is supposed to investigate violations of this kind.

"We are endeavoring to have these code authorities that have set up their own codes police their own industries, and we will let them continue to police their industries just so long as we are convinced they are doing it properly."

Will Work on Steel Code.

Gen. Johnson said that his staff was still engaged in analyzing the steel code, studying masses of statistics given in connection with the public hearing last Monday, and that within several days he would summon the leaders of the steel industry to Washington for further conferences.

SUGGEST FIXED PRICE RATIO TO SOLVE OIL CODE

Link Cost of Crude to Retail Scales.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—As a suggested solution to the quarrel within the petroleum industry over price regulation recovery administration officials today considered a proposal to fix a ratio between the prices of crude oil and refined products and to require that as one moved up the other should advance to the same degree.

Technical experts of the NRA were investigating this recommendation, while other agents in the administration set about formulating a final draft of a trade practice plan to govern the business with the expectation it would be finished within the next week or ten days.

Fight Injunction Suit.

Meanwhile the interior department and the department of justice prepared to answer Aug. 15 in the District of Columbia Supreme court a suit brought by east Texas refiners asking an injunction to restrain enforcement of recent regulations by Secretary Ickes prohibiting interstate movement of oil produced in violation of state production limitations.

Regulation of the flow of oil to market, one of the points intermingled with price regulation, was expected to be dealt with in the trade code finally written, with provisions for the federal government to exercise power over interstate shipments in seeing to it that the market was not flooded.

Johnson Assures States.

Spokesmen for the states and their regulatory commission have been told by Johnson and other administration officials that the government had no intention of encroaching on their rights and that it sought primarily to foster cooperative efforts by which production and demand could be balanced, with the national demand to be estimated in Washington and the production allocation by states recommended from the capital.

Johnson declined today to intimate whether the proposal that crude oil prices should be in a fixed ratio to retail prices of refined products would be written into the code.

UTILITIES CODE READY

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Codes governing employment in the utility industry, on which the leaders in the field have been concentrating, where whipped into final shape this afternoon. They will be presented to the administration for its approval tomorrow morning, Floyd L. Carlisle of the special code committee of the Edison Electric institute and Herman Russel, chairman of the similar group for the America Gas association, announced today.

General provisions provide for a forty hour maximum week for all employés. The minimum wage rates coincide with the President's blanket code. The utility industry is now operating on a forty-eight hour week basis. Provision is made for certain skilled men to continue on a forty-eight hour week until new men can be trained.

Operation of the code will require 50,000 additional workers.

FIVE AND TENS DRAW CODE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The Association of Limited Price Variety Stores in a statement today said it had adopted a tentative code establishing minimum wages, reducing working hours, and restricting employment to persons of 16 years and over.

The organization, composed of executives of 5 and 10 cent and up to $1 variety stores, said that as a result of the code, to be submitted to the national recovery administration for hearing Aug. 15, ten thousand new jobs, increasing the pay rolls by $15,000,000 annually, would be created. The schedule of wages and hours approved were not made public.

Among the companies represented at the meeting here this week were the F. W. Woolworth company, S. S. Kresge company, S. H. Kress & Co., the Ben Franklin stores, United stores, and W. T. Grant company.

SHOE INDUSTRY SPLIT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A charge that large eastern manufacturers were attempting to dominate the shoe industry was made today by Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis, as he filed with the recovery administration formal opposition to a code of competition presented yesterday by the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' association.

Newton, acting in behalf of midwestern and southern interests, said the code of the national association would give it complete control and would drive many small manufacturers out of business.

The national association code provided a wage differential of $1 between cities and towns, and set itself up as the coördinating agency for the industry. Newton today filed amendments proposing a $2 wage differential and calling for representation by districts on the coördinating body.

A similar situation, so far as representation was concerned, developed in the retail shoe trade, with Deputy Administrator C. C. Whiteside attempting to reconcile two hostile groups.

Tell of Treatment

Cases of agranulocytic angina in which the patients recovered were discussed yesterday in a paper by Dr. Joseph F. Schaffer of Chicago before the convention of the American Society of Oral Surgeons and Exodontists in the Stevens hotel. Dr. Schaffer is on the staff of the Northwestern university dental school and of the Cook County hospital. About 100 are attending the convention.

Agranulocytic angina, a rare disease in which the white corpuscles disappear from the blood was discovered in a downstate teacher after she had been sent to Chicago suffering with a "sore" mouth. The young woman was sent to a hospital for two weeks and given treatment including the injection of nucleotide. She returned to her home and has had no recurrence of the disease in the year since she was stricken, he said. The cause of the disease, physicians say, is not known.

"We believe that it is a disease of the bone marrow or an infection of the mucous membrane," Dr. Schaffer said. "It's course is rapid, the onset typically sudden. I would say the percentage for recovery is about 50 per cent. It has been recognized only in the last ten years."

ROCKFORD PAPER OF MRS. SIMMS IN LINE WITH CODE

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 4. — (AP) — Although no general code for newspapers has been made public, Mrs. Albert Simms, publisher of the Rockford Register Republic and the Rockford Morning Star, filed a certificate of compliance with the President's reemployment agreement and the two papers today carry the blue eagle insignia of the recovery program printed in color on the front page.

The papers have operated on terms virtually the same as those of the blanket code for nine months, it was announced. Publisher Simms insisting that places be made for as many employés as possible.

Peoria Paper Joins.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Publishers of the Peoria Journal and Transcript have signed President Roosevelt's reemployment agreement and will operate their newspaper in accordance with the terms of the blanket code, it was announced today.

Chillicothe Paper Acts.

Chillicothe, O., Aug .4.—(AP)—The Chillicothe Scioto Gazette today announced it would place its mechanical staff under the provisions of the blanket national recovery act. Beginning Monday the men will work seven hours a day for five days and four hours on Saturday pending a code governing newspapers.

N. R. A. on Pensacola News.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The N. R. A. eagle adorned the front page of the Pensacola News today. Pending settlement on a newspaper code, C. C. Willings, general manager of the News-Journal company, publishers, signed the blanket agreement.

$7,000 BOND SET FOR ROBBER.

Municipal Judge Harry H. Porter of Evanston yesterday fixed bonds of $7,000 for Russell Harvey, 22 years old, a Negro, arrested Tuesday after he had robbed Mrs. William Svedlund, 918 East Washington street, Evanston, of a watch and ring.

334,550 CHICAGO EMPLOYES NOW UNDER NRA CODE

1,174 More Business Concerns Enlist.

Acceptances of President Roosevelt's recovery code were mailed by an additional 1,174 business concerns in Chicago yesterday, raising the total for the city to 9,665. The new enlistment places a total of 334,550 local employés under the code.

Many large corporations, such as the public utilities, have not yet accepted the code, however, it was pointed out, and less than one-third of the working population of Chicago has been placed under the code. Bureau of census figures for 1930 showed that there were 1,558,846 persons gainfully employed in this city. The present number of employés is considerably lower, according to estimates, but many hundreds of thousands of workers are still outside the code.

The total of business houses in the three states of Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, that have joined the reëmployment campaign was raised yesterday by an additional 11,985 pledges to a grand total of 70,842, according to figures released by F. L. Roberts, district manager for the department of commerce.

Urge Banks to Accept.

The Chicago Clearing House association yesterday held a meeting at which a resolution was unanimously adopted recommending to the banks of Chicago acceptance of the President's reëmployment agreement, subject to conditions drafted recently by the American Bankers' association at a meeting in New York.

The conditions include provisions that employés will have the right to organize and to bargain collectively; that no employé may be forced to join company unions; that a 40 hour maximum working week shall be enforced. Weekly salaries are not to be less than $15 a week in towns of more than 500,000 population such as Chicago. A slightly lower minimum wage is set for small towns.

The recovery code will mean the hiring of very few extra employés by the banks, it was said. The minimum wage will mainly benefit office and errand boys. The banks have been accustomed to work their employés about 43 hours a week and will take care of the shorter working week by enforcing more strictly the closing hour rules.

More than 75 per cent of the members of the Investment Bankers' Association in Chicago have signed the blanket code, A. H. Little, executive vice president of the association, announced.

Plan 500 Additional Men.

The employment of 500 additional men will be necessary by the Automotive Wholesalers of Cook county, according to a statement yesterday as that body, composed of 150 jobbers, accepted a divisional code under the recovery act. The code provides for a 44 hour week and a minimum salary of 40 cents an hour, a wage scale which will appreciably raise the pay of local workers in the industry and will increase by one-third the present employment, according to V. C. Anderson, president of the group.

Thirty furnace manufacturers, representatives of an industry which employs approximately 20,000 men, met at the Palmer house and made a final draft of a code which provides for a forty hour week and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour. The wage level will mean a 10 to 15 per cent increase in pay in most of the plants in the United States, it was asserted, and a sizeable increase in employment.

Other Groups Drafting Codes.

More than a dozen other national industrial groups were meeting in Chicago and drawing up codes for submission to Washington for approval.

Retail food dealers of Chicago have been summoned to a massmeeting tomorrow afternoon in the Hotel Sherman to discuss adoption of the code for food and grocery distributors, which was accepted by the administration in Washington last Monday.

A 15 per cent increase for all employés in the Aurora factory of the Blatchford corporation, manufacturers of railway supplies, was announced. A 40 hour week and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour has been put into effect.

Orders the Sherman to Buy Four More Beer Licenses

Municipal Judge Nuncio Bonelli yesterday ordered the Hotel Sherman to buy four more city licenses for the sale of beer and continued to Monday charges of operating without a license against the hotel. The hotel has two beer licenses now, but the city council, in the beer ordinance for the last half of the present year, provided that one license must be purchased for each bar. City license inspectors charged that there are six bars operating in the hotel.

WAGES AT LIMIT IN STEEL CODE IS LAMONT'S CLAIM

Can't Go Further Under Present Conditions.

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Robert P. Lamont, president of the American Iron and Steel institute, addressed a communication to the administrators of the national recovery administration today in which he announced that the steel industry can go no further in the matter of maximum hours of labor and minimum rates of pay.

"We call attention to the fact," said Mr. Lamont, "that in accomplishing the great purpose of the national recovery act the members of the code have already gone beyond anything that can be justified by present conditions. They can justify themselves for their stockholders only by the realization of the hopes aroused by the efforts of the national administration. They cannot go further."

Practical, Not Theoretical.

Concerning the hours of labor and rates of pay, Mr. Lamont said:

"We deem it unnecessary to reply to what was said on the subject or to add to the facts stated and the statistical data furnished by Mr. Lamont.

"We do desire to emphasize that practical, not theoretical, questions are involved and that they cannot be solved merely by mathematical computation, since there is probably no industry in the country involving so many variable factors as the steel industry."

In providing in the code that the published prices for steel should be prices at various basing points it was stated that "the industry did not undertake anything that is new."

Not to Upset Industry.

"It is the general understanding," the communication stated, "that the national industry recovery act was not intended to upset the normal and customary course of operations of industries in the country, especially where to do so would disrupt the course of business in the industry and require extensive readjustments, with resulting losses and increase in unemployment during the period of readjustment.

"In the preparation of the code long and careful consideration was given to the subject of basing points and to the question of what basing points should be included as basing points for the respective products coming under the code. It was the accepted view of members of the code that the practice of establishing prices for products in the industry upon basing points was a sound economic practice and should be continued without substantial change."

MAN CHARGED WITH ILLEGAL SALE OF NRA BLUE EAGLE EMBLEMS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Selling blue eagle emblems to persons unauthorized by law to buy them was charged in a federal warrant issued today against Harlan French, 29, of auburban Clayton.

The warrant, issued by United States Commissioner John A. Burke on complaint of Bryan Purteet, assistant United States attorney, further charges that French's alleged violation of the provisions of the recovery act obstructed and impeded President Roosevelt's program for national industrial recovery and reëmployment.

Purteet said he is considering the advisability of issuing warrants tomorrow against the unauthorized persons who purchased the emblems from French.

MILLIONAIRE, 66, IS SLAIN IN HOME; NEPHEW QUIZZED

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 4.—(AP)—In connection with the mysterious slaying of Alberto de Alzaga, 66 year old multimillionaire bachelor, police today detained his nephew, Emilio, for questioned his nephew, Emilion. The youth was released late tonight.

De Alzaga was found yesterday stabbed through his jugular vein, lying in the doorway of his bedroom in his town house. He lived there with six servants.

The elderly bachelor protected himself carefully, carrying a revolver and locking with personal keys all the doors of his home, including the entrance and exit of a private elevator to his own rooms. The slayer apparently entered the bedroom Wednesday night and awaited De Alzaga, stealing the revolver and keys after killing him. Newspapers estimated his wealth at $14,000,000.

INJURIES FATAL TO WORKMAN.

Louis Magdzniak, 53 years old, who lived at 154th and Halsted streets, died yesterday in the Ingalls Memorial hospital of injuries suffered July 28 while working in the plant of Bliss & Laughlin Steel company, Harvey.

Outright Bounties to Wheat Farmers Are Considered

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.] — Cash benefits to the wheat farmer under the domestic allotment plan, it was indicated today, may take the form of outright federal bounties instead of government payments to "compensate" the farmer for reducing his wheat acreage next year.

This year's record short crop and the development of plans for exporting a large portion of the present surplus have given rise to the possibility that no agreement to reduce their acreage in 1934 is to be demanded of wheat farmers in return for the federal benefits in cash.

This possibility was forecast tonight by Rexford Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, in a speech eulogizing the wheat relief program.

"The extent of this necessary reduction," said Dr. Tugwell, "has not yet been determined. It may be no reduction at all; or it may be as high as twenty per cent."

May Await London Parley.

And at the same time another of the agricultural adjustment experts, Production Director Chester C. Davis, stated that the acreage reduction, "if any," would be announced Aug. 24. Both Dr. Tugwell and Mr. Davis pointed out that final determination of the reduction percentage would await the outcome of efforts to secure an international acreage reduction agreement at the London wheat conference which reconvenes Aug. 21.

Plans for distribution of the cash payments to wheat farmers out of revenues from processing taxes, to be paid ultimately in large part by the consumers of the country, are being pushed, regardless, Mr. Davis stated. Applications for wheat contracts should be in the hands of the farmers within ten days, he said, and the producers will begin, early this fall, to receive 20 cents for each bushel they produce for domestic consumption next year.

Maximum Reduction 20 Per Cent.

The department stated, in announcing application of the domestic allotment plan, that the maximum reduction to be sought would be 20 per cent. Recently, however, it has become evident that the percentage of cut would not exceed 8 or 10 per cent. But the statements of Dr. Tugwell and Mr. Davis represented the first indication that experts of the agricultural adjustment administration now see a chance that no acreage slash may be demanded.

Meanwhile, under the direction of J. A. Marcus, former export manager of the Amtorg Trading company, and Raymond Miller, former department of commerce attaché at Paris and Brussels, the farm adjustment administration is seeking markets abroad for agricultural products of this country.

While Secretary Wallace frowns upon the term "dumping," it was learned today that considerable attention is being given the possibility of selling American agricultural surpluses in foreign countries well under the world market price. These sales would be financed by the government with the treasury standing the loss of millions because of the difference in prices in the American market and the price at which the farm commodities would be sold abroad.

FOUR GALS DROP EVERYTHING TO HELP A BARKER

And Pat Delaney Wins Contest at Fair.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Four little ladies in the Oriental theater of A Century of Progress were overjoyed yesterday afternoon as they sat on the stage of the court of the Hall of Science and watched the presentation of a huge loving cup to Pat Delaney as the champion barker of the Fair.

"O, Pat, Pat," cried the one in green veil and bangles. Delaney patted her bare shoulder and said feelingly to the judges of this unique contest:

"I thank you with all my heart. The one who will be most tickled about this is my old mother."

Proud of Profession.

For Pat and his brother barkers are proud of their profession.

A palpitating audience watched this interesting scientific experiment, a study in human reactions. There were seven contestants, all from the Midway, but Pat had something that the others lacked, as will presently appear.

The judges were Harvey T. Hill, executive vice president of the Chicago Stock exchange; Karl Eitel, Bismarck hotel; Tom Halpin of Thomas G. Halpin & Co.; Dr. Sergius Grace, vice president of Bell Telephone laboratories; Miss Betsy Brown of the speakers' bureau at the Fair, and George A. Bray, president of the Junior Association of Commerce, which sponsored this event, and newspaper writers. Sidney Strotz dealt out the loving cups.

But No Miss America.

The first to appear was Jack Bedell, barker for "Miss America." He had good enunciation and range, but the audience looked in vain for "that lovely lady" to appear in person. She was back in the theater, Mr. Bedell was careful to explain, and it was a show for "young minds and modern ideas." There was nothing vulgar about it and Miss America was so beautiful that words could not describe her. But she was not there.

Then Mr. Delaney appeared shepherding not one little lady, but four. They wore shawls at first but these kept dropping off, the ladies vainly trying to hold them over their revealing charms. These were the four voluptuous dancers in the "Salome dance" and the "Cleopatra dance," Mr. Delaney explained. They were "women of the Nile," the kind that made Marc Anthony cry "O Cleopatra, where art thou?"

"Now don't lose your heads, ladies and gentlemen," continued Barker Delaney. "You are going to see everything that Marc did. And more than that. You are going to see Little Egypt of 1933 from the tip of her shapely head to the soles of her beautiful feet. You will see every fibre of her beautiful body dancing in perfect rhythm. You are going to see the inside of an oriental harem."

And What a Background.

And Little Egypt of 1933, standing on a pedestal in the court of the Hall of Science, furnished the background to the spiel by letting her draperies fall completely off for one blinding second, while the audience gasped and the judges broke their pencil points jotting down marks for Mr. Delaney.

Al [Big Hat] Fisher, barker for the Oasis of Morocco, was the next contestant. Wearing a Moroccan fez and snuggling a little lady from Tangier under his arm, he might have been a close runnerup in this race, except for the fact that the lady was too much of a lady to take her clothes off. She counted on mystery. She was well wrapped up even to a veil half covering her face.

Al talked loud and well. The ladies and gentlemen, he said, would see an authentic reproduction of a harem of Tangier. The dances were bound to be different from those on State street. The wardrobes that would be worn, he said, had been sent from Egypt in one envelope and under a two cent stamp.

The Talk of Paris.

"She is the talk of Paris, the rage of your city," he barked. "They say we have been shocking some of your good people. They may blush a little, but I don't think that hurts them. The lady is dressed in seven veils. One by one the veils drop. When the seventh veil drifts down to her little feet you are to blush a little. Now, you are all broadminded people and I know you will enjoy this show. Right this way; follow the crowd!"

But Mr. Fisher sat down and the mysterious harem lady did not drop any of her veils, and that was that.

Ralph Hendricks of the "life class" in "The Streets of Paris" came next. He wore a beret and a smock and carried a cigaret and also a lady prop, but she merely smiled sweetly, said "Oui, oui, monsieur," and kept her clothes on.

Homer Simons of the Seminole Indian village, Jack Stevens of the Midget village, and M. Wood of the Odditorium of freaks were the other contestants. This nonscientific observer would have picked the midget barker for a winner under the rules, which call for enunciation and range, humor and ability to sustain interest. But there was no competing with the four little ladies who wept with joy over Mr. Delaney's victory, and just managed to keep their shawls from falling off.

TROOPER BREAKS DEPUTY'S SKULL IN MILK STRIKE

Amsterdam, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Floyd Newkirk was clubbed so badly that his skull was fractured by a state trooper in a clash between law officers and milk strikers at Fonda, Montgomery county seat, today. The trooper mistook Newkirk, according to an explanation, for one of the 200 strikers who sought to prevent deliveries to a Dairymen's league plant there.

Gov. Lehman Asks Inquiry.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Spurred by the strike of dairy farmers against the state milk control board's classified price list for producers, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman urged the state legislative committee "to study the effects of the administration of the milk control law and to determine the wisdom of its continuance."

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Tonight is carnival night at the Enchanted island. A series of special entertainment features, culminating in a lantern parade, will begin at 8 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded for costumes. About 400 children will take part in dances, and a street dance will be held on the boardwalk.

Gosuke Imai, president of the Japanese Silk association, will arrive in Chicago Wednesday, Aug. 16, to visit the Fair. He will arrive in San Francisco on the steamship Taiyo Maru Aug. 9.

Students from the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts held their regular art class in the Streets of Paris, under the direction of Hugh Newman, director of the academy.

The Berlin cabaret and roof garden on the German-American building on Northerly island was opened last night with an elaborate floor show, the "Berlin Follies." Ned Norworth is master of ceremonies.

The Egyptian club of Chicago has issued an invitation to residents and former residents of southern Illinois, known as "Egypt," to a reception in the Illinois Host building as part of the Illinois day celebration next Friday. Joseph W. ["Private Joe"] Fifer and Edward F. Dunne, both former governors of Illinois, and United States Senator William H. Dieterich have been added to the list of notables who have given definite assurance that they will be present.

Search for the photograph that will best express the spirit of A Century of Progress was started yesterday by C. D. Kaufmann, president of Kaufmann & Fabry, official photographers. Mr. Kaufmann said that he already has taken more than 500 photographs of the Hall of Science and hundreds of the other buildings, but is not yet convinced that he has obtained a view that really expresses the purpose and spirit of the Fair.

The new Chicago classified telephone directory, which is no wbeing distributed, has four pages devoted to information about the Fair, condensed and classified to make it readily available at a glance. It includes a two page map of the grounds with alphabetical and numerical keys to all free exhibits, classified according to the industries they represent.

Another free street carnival is scheduled for tonight in the Rainbow area south of 35th street in the Fair grounds. The program will include street dancing for the public, boxing and acts by clowns and expert tumblers and free drawing for prizes at 11 o'clock.

INDIANA LAUGHS AT FALSE YARNS ABOUT THE FAIR

They've Been Here and They Know.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 4. — [Special.]—In this capital of Indiana little headway is made by gossip of adverse driving conditions in Chicago during the World's Fair. New Yorkers or Californians might be frightened away from a tour to A Century of Progress by false rumors of queer police regulations and automobile taxes during the Exposition, but not the Hoosiers. They know Chicago.

Indianapolis, however, has heard the same stories that have been circulated in virtually every state in the Union—that cars with licenses of states other than Illinois are barred from Chicago, or that these foreign automobiles are required to get a special Chicago license to drive in the city during the Exposition, or that parking is prohibited for miles around the Fair grounds.

Just a Joke in Indianapolis.

"The stories are repeated on the streets here," said Noble Sutton of the Hoosier Motor club, "but no one takes them seriously. They are repeated merely as jokes.

"High speed highways and modern automobiles have made neighbors of Indianapolis and Chicago. Many are driving between the cities in less than five hours. And many make the trip at least once a year."

Mr. Sutton was interviewed in the course of a tour by THE TRIBUNE roadster as A Century of Progress official car to squash these false reports.

In more distant parts of the country, these rumors are not repeated as jokes, but are taken seriously. As close as Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, and Dayton, the tour in THE TRIBUNE roadster disclosed that the motoring public was being misinformed about conditions in Chicago.

All Motor Clubs Get Bulletin.

Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association, interviewed in Detroit, sent the following bulletin to motor clubs throughout the country:

"All sorts of rumors are going the rounds about A Century of Progress. One of our clubs wrote in that it learned people could not drive their cars closer to Chicago than Fort Wayne, Ind., and that they had to leave their automobiles there and take a train the rest of the way to Chicago. Another writes that it heard private cars were not allowed in Chicago during the Fair. Another reported it had heard a $10 tax was charged motorists on entering Chicago.

"To all of these wild rumors caution your members to pay no attention whatsoever. Any motorist can drive into Chicago without inconvenience or difficulty. Traffic is moving freely and the motorist may, if he wishes to do so, drive his car right smack up to the Fair gates."

Philippine Governor in Manila to Open Fair Program Today

BY EARL MULLIN.

Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy of the Philippines will speak into a telephone transmitter at Manila today and will be answered by President Rufus C. Dawes of the Fair to inaugurate the ceremonies of Philippine day at the Exposition, one of the headliners on a program in which the history of the United States will be recalled to the thousands of visitors flocking the grounds.

Three major events are scheduled to entertain and edify the Fair visitors. They are, in addition to the Filipino ceremonies, American Legion day, and French-Canadian day. During the Legion observance the thousands of soldier dead will be honored with military pomp and pageantry. The French-Canadian celebration will recall the fact that twenty-six of the first thirty-six voters who formed the city on the lake front a hundred years ago were of that group.

Third Largest Attendance.

Thirty thousand Legionnaires and members of their families are expected to attend, making a crowd of some 50,000, according to C. Wayland Brooks, former county commander and chairman of the day. Such a group, it was predicted, will push the total attendance to an unusual figure.

The attendance yesterday was the third largest so far recorded. Up to 11:30 p. m. there had been 194,783 paid admissions, a figure exceeded only by the record turnout of 244,472 on Jewish day, July 3, and the holiday throng of 232,472 on July 4.

Today's program will open at 10:30 a. m. when the trans-Pacific telephone conversation takes place. The two way conversation will be broadcast through the public address system at the Fair, with the governor general complimenting Chicago on the Exposition and the Fair official speaking of the friendly relationship between the United States and its Pacific possessions.

Parades, Music, and Speeches.

During the day a general program of parades, music, and speeches will be presented under the supervision of James King Steele, the Philippine commissioner to the Fair. A luncheon to Fair officials will precede the general program in the Travel and Transport building.

Included in the islands' program are string orchestras, dancers, and pageants in native costume. President Dawes will unfurl American and Filipino flags as a part of the services.

Two Legion parades will start simultaneously in the afternoon from the 14th street Court of Honor and the Pershing road entrance to the Fair. With twenty drum and bugle corps in each parade, they will meet at the court of the Hall of Science at 3 p. m. In the court the drum and bugle outfits will criss-cross in a competitive drill and end with a mass musical presentation. The principal address of the day will be made by Chairman Brooks, with special guests, including Rear Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, and other military and naval officers.

Special Price for Veterans.

Legion officials announced last night that special arrangements had been made with the Fair to admit Legionnaires for 35 cents when legion membership cards are shown. In addition, a majority of the concessionaires have announced a two for one price policy for the legion members.

The French Canadian program will center around the court of the Hall of States from 7 to 11 p. m. The ceremonies, with the exception of the address of welcome and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," will be entirely in French. During the observance the hardy souls who founded the city will be recalled with a short dedicatory address.

Speakers include E. D. Letourneaux, president of the general committee; Pierre J. Peloquin, Dr. J. H. Carceau of Montreal, and Elie Vezina. A musical program of the French Canadians will be presented.

Elgin Sends Throngs.

Elgin day was observed as the high light of yesterday's exposition, joining with the carnival aspects of Children's day to bring a record breaking Friday throng through the turnstiles.

The Elgin day ceremonies were held in the Court of Honor and in the court of the Hall of Science in the evening. A program of music was presented by the Elgin High school and Elgin State hospital bands, and soloists brought to the Fair by the Elgin Association of Commerce. A pageant, "The Scarlet Knight" was enacted by 250 children.

Barney Oldfield, former racing driver, invited the visitors to attend the Elgin road races on Aug. 26, which were held from 1910 to 1930, and are being resumed this year.

70 NEW VARIETIES OF WATER LILIES SHOWN AT FAIR

More than seventy new varieties of water lilies are included in a large collection of water flowers which will be shown at the Horticultural building in the World's Fair today. The special exhibit will be on display for a week.

A new yellow tropical water lily, named St. Louis by its originator, Dr. George H. Pring of the Missouri Botanical garden, has never before been exhibited. It is a hybrid developed from the species Nymphaea Burtii, discovered in South Africa in 1930 as the first yellow tropical water lily known to botanists.

Dr. Pring also will show a collection of famous hybrids, including many bred from the true Egyptian lotus, an entirely different flower from the lotuses of Grass Lake, Ill., which many Chicagoans have been taught mistakenly to believe was the flower worshiped by Egyptians.

AD ASKS THREE HUMAN ALBINOS FOR HAIR TESTS

Out of the conglomeration of want listed yesterday in the classified columns, the strangest was the search for "three human albinos." Reporters in search of an explanation arrived at the office of Dr. Bengt Norman Bengtson in Maywood, where experiments have been in progress for nearly eight years in the restoration of hair on bald heads. Dr. Bengtson, however, was in Wisconsin on vacation, and his assistant, Dr. Paul Arnal, was chary of discussing the tests in his absence.

He stated, however, that the albinos were wanted for experiments with injections of a serum prepared from the pituitary glands of sheep, on the theory that changes in the pigmentation of these subjects might be made. Only three were wanted, because the material is expensive to obtain and there is a quantity sufficient for only that number.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

CLEARER SKIES OVER EUROPE.

The American public, preoccupied with the momentous and masterful projects for internal recovery launched by the President, has not given much attention to recent events in Europe, although their main tendency and immediate effects may have important consequences for us as well as for Europe.

The most significant of these events is the apparent relaxation of tension between France and Italy and the opening prospect of understandings between these powers which may harmonize with policies in central Europe. If conciliation can be established in place of jealous and perilous competition between France and the little entente on the one hand and Italy and her protégée, Hungary, on the other, the danger of war which hangs like a black cloud over Europe will be materially diminished and economic ameliorations should be possible which will stimulate the recovery of Europe and the world. The failure of the previous Danubian conference, which was both dangerous and disheartening, may be replaced by successful negotiations among the nations concerned. The four power peace pact, initiated by Mussolini; the nonaggression treaties signed by the soviet with the nations on its border, the disposition shown by the Hitler government to be conciliatory in foreign relations rather than pugnacious, all have lightened the European skies, at least for the moment. The revisionist issue has faded appreciably and, generally speaking, although the problems of accommodation are complicated and tremendously difficult, it can at least be hoped that the relief of tension between the major continental powers has opened the way to constructive agreements. At any rate, the imminent danger of a disastrous explosion seems to have been removed and precious time gained for the operation of constructive forces.

It is an irony of this development that the militant nationalism of the Nazi policy seems to have had the effect of moderating the militancy of the Fascist government of Italy in international relations and Mussolini has in recent weeks appeared to be the most important factor of pacification and conciliation. The new situation, developed largely through his diplomacy, of course concerns America, whose reviving hopes of recovery would be disparaged by any serious crisis in Europe and whose ambitious plans of reconstruction, though directed properly and chiefly to internal affairs, require international peace for their fullest realization.

THE CONSTITUTION IN THE PRESENT TIMES.

Independent milk dealers in the Chicago district have asked the protection of the United States District court against provisions in the agricultural readjustment act affecting their sale of milk. Their trade is cash and carry, but under the milk licensing system as set up by the federal government they must sell at a fixed price and comply with rules governing the distribution of milk by the large delivering companies. Their attorney, appearing in court for an injunction restraining the federal officers from enforcing the law, attacks several of its provisions as inequitable, unjust, and unnecessary, but fundamentally questions the constitutionality of the act.

In defending the case the government must, it is assumed, discover an authority in the constitution for regulations preventing the sale of milk in a manner desirable to seller and purchaser and at a price satisfactory to both. It may be further assumed that the issue can be raised in its pure form, in the present instance or in others—that is, the question of public health will not be involved and, furthermore, the power of the federal government in interstate commerce will not enter.

The arguments of the federal attorneys will be followed with great interest. Here is, in controversy between the citizen and his government, an issue presenting on the one side the constitutional rights of a citizen, otherwise conforming to law, to sell the product of his own property and labor at a price determined by himself, and on the other side the authority of the government, seeking the welfare of the nation, to compel him to sell in a manner and at a price determined by it.

The dealers who raise this essential question may include citizens who sell directly to the buyer on their own premises. The price they charge is less than that charged by the companies delivering milk. Their costs are less. The purchaser comes to them, pays cash, and takes his purchase away with him. If questions of public health enter the issue is clouded, but if such questions are not or cannot be raised and if the authority of the government in interstate commerce cannot be appealed to, then the federal attorneys must find authority, explicit or by implication or interpretation, in the constitution which justifies, as emergency procedure or otherwise, a government prevention of the free and legal use of property by the person possessing it and living upon its returns to him.

Lawyers and laymen will be interested to observe how the federal attorneys develop their arguments and how they maintain the constitutionality of the regulations at issue. Legislative and administrative functions have been freely exercised thus far in the national recovery program, but judicial scrutiny of the various procedures remains, and it is here that constitutional doctrines will be argued and interpreted.

THE RIGHTS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Judge William V. Brothers has denied a petition for an injunction to restrain the school board from balancing its budget. It is difficult to see how he could have decided otherwise. If he had granted the petition he would have said, in effect, that government has power to do everything but govern. If a legally constituted school board cannot control the expenditures for schools, why have a school board at all?

It is possible for honest men and women to disagree on the wisdom of the board's economies, but there should be little dissent from the judgment that the school board has the right and the duty to determine school expenditures within the limits of action set up in the constitution and the statutes.

CHICAGO BOXERS WIN THE MEET.

The outcome of the international boxing meet between Irish and Chicago region boxers was a victory for the local boys, who won six of the eight bouts. The Chicago team was probably the best balanced and strongest ever to represent this territory in a Golden Gloves tournament. The Irish boys had been successful in other international contests. Their mettle could be assumed. The interest was to discover their methods in the ring, whether they were too good or not good enough. Predictions jumped both ways.

A top notch Chicago team soon took the upper hand and kept it. The team could not have been much under its present quality to take away the victory. It is regretted that one of the boys from Ireland suffered from a freak accident, falling on a twisted ankle and breaking it as he went out from a blow on the chin. The Chicago fighters say that each opponent was a stout fellow, taking everything given him and giving everything he had. Certain disadvantages always are encountered by athletes away from home. Trainers try to guard against them, but strange surroundings will have an effect.

The bouts were cleanly fought. Several decisions were close, one a divided decision, but it is agreed that they represented impartial judgment. Much experience has made the persons responsible for these bouts, attracting so many thousands of people, highly competent in carrying through arrangements. The defeated Irish boys can console themselves with the knowledge that they won the respect of the winners.

THE EXILED TROTZKY.

Leon Trotzky, visiting in France, is said to have asked the soviet foreign commissar, Litvinov, to intercede for him to obtain a cancellation of the order which expelled him from Russia. Litvinov is said to have replied that there was nothing he could do.

Trotzky was expelled by Stalin in 1927 on the pretense that he was in principle and in activities anti-communistic. The fact was that he and also Lenin distrusted Stalin and Stalin, after Lenin's death, feared Trotzky. The irony of Trotzky's exile on such a pretense is that the outcast is the greatest Marxian doctrinaire and dialectician among the communists and Stalin knows little of the principles he pretends to apply.

For Trotzky, the Marxian doctrines are an intellectual pleasure in which he, as a vigorous writer, takes delight. To Stalin, Marx is simply a magic by which he can maintain a dictatorship. To Trotzky, Stalin is a real traitor. To Stalin, Trotzky is an imaginary and convenient one. Trotzky as head of the Red army proved that he was not only a talented writing man and exhorter but that he had military ability, knew how to command, and had a magnetic quality which aroused real enthusiasm in the Red troops. His own personality may have been one of the decisive factors which brought about the defeat of the White Russian armies. Trotzky is in exile because Stalin recognized in him the greatest danger to the success of his own personal ambitions. One or the other had to get out and Stalin got the jump.

Editorial of the Day

GOOD ORDER IS WORTH A STUDY.

[Decatur Herald.]

Only 60 arrests, and 20 of these for ticket scalping, have been made on the grounds of A Century of Progress Exposition, attended by more than five million persons to date.

The good order maintained in this great enterprise, thronged daily by 100,000 visitors, has been generally remarked. May not this offer something to students of crime and police forces and law enforcement officers the country over?

Here are great crowds, which, like crowds in every community, have divided interests, some searching for education, others for excitement and thrills, others engaged in buying and selling. How does it happen that they behave themselves so admirably?

It will be suggested, of course, that freedom to do as one likes is not quite the same within the gates as outside. There is a certain curtailment of individual liberty. Automobile traffic, that prolific source of offenses, is absent. The fair managers and the south park commissioners also have shown a certain tolerance which officials directly answerable to public opinion might not have exhibited. This was illustrated in their attitude toward some of the concessions which moralists wished modified or closed. The managers decided that they should continue to run.

Of course, the more laws there are the greater chances of their being broken. The fair management seems to have gone on the supposition that most people were willing to be decent and to respect other people's rights. There are mighty few "verboten" signs in the Fair grounds.

If the Exposition comes to its close with a record for orderliness which it appears to be getting, perhaps we are due to learn that the secret of good behavior in American cities is to charge 50 cents admission at their entrances.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. By R. S.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE-LINE: A friend recently placed in my hands a copy of the "Crosby Opera House Dramatic and Art Bulletin." It is Volume 1, Number 1, of the date of July 11, 1866.

The Crosby was Chicago's theater de luxe 67 years ago. It was located on Washington street. This theater bulletin carries on its first page a two-column woodcut of the opera house, a four-story structure with a mansard finish that gives the appearance of five stories.

The ground floor was occupied by four notable Chicago business institutions: W. W. Kimball at 63 Washington, Kinsley's at 65, Root & Cady at 67, and J. Bauer & Co. at 69.

The theatrical attraction for July 11 was announced as "Rosedale, or The Rifle Ball," with the talented Joseph E. Nagle in the title rôle. Publishers of the bulletin announced it was circulated daily in the principal hotels, saloons, street cars, and public places.

There are several columns of white space in the program set apart for advertisers, among them Brown & Sutton, 88 State; Field, Palmer & Leiter, 112-116 Lake; Matson & Hoes, 117 Lake; Bowen Bros., 19-21 Lake; Brown & Mathews, 84 State; Smith & Nixon, Washington street; Sherman house, Clark and Randolph, operated by Gage, Waite & Co.; Tremont house, Lake and Dearborn, Gage & Drake, proprietors; John V. Farwell & Co., 42-46 Wabash. Burt E. Burroughs.

Nov. 11, 1887, was the date of the execution of the Haymarket anarchists, probably the most notable day in the history of the old Criminal court building. For blocks on every side the streets were massed with people, held back from the near vicinity of the building by ropes stretched across the street, guarded by heavy lines of police officers.

Whole companies of police were drawn up on the walks near the building. On the roof police officers paced to and fro, armed with rifles whose bayonets glistened in the sunlight. Within the walls of the jail was enacted the official tragedy of the law. F. R.

TEMPERAMENTAL DAY.

What mood pervades this temperamental day?
Foreboding, now she bends above the earth
And scans the blooms, of colorful array,
As if to question their intrinsic worth.
Each winsome flower face is pale and still
Before the burning portent of her eye.
The siren frowns, and darkness veils the hill!
She weeps—her tears are falling from the sky!
What now? She speaks in terms of snapping flame,
And tears her reedy skirt and emerald hair;
But artfully the vixen waxes tame
To view her passion's toll with heedful air.
Ah, lovely penitent! She offers these:
A witching rainbow and a sunny breeze.
Fan C. Smith.

IRISH FREE STATE amateur boxers made a creditable stand Thursday night against what probably was the best Chicagoland team in six years of Golden Gloves competition. A minority of their former supporters—their fair-weather admirers—is doing them no favor by offering post-battle criticisms and excuses. They merited no criticisms and they need no excuses. Each Irish boxer showed courage, a fighting heart, and splendid sportsmanship.

There were two close decisions and another bout on which opinion might differ as to whether it should have been stopped. Our tab showed Bantams Frank Kerr and Buddy Ginter even at the end of three rounds. Under amateur rules, officials must make decisions. If we had been an official our verdict would have been to Kerr on his aggressiveness, as was the official verdict.

Referee McGarrity stopped the Van der Hayden-Hughes bout in the third round when the Irish battler received a bad cut over the eye. Hughes protested and wanted to continue. The American lad had enough lead up to that point so Hughes would have needed a knockout or at least a knockdown to gain the decision. He was taking a pommeling at the time, although still full of fight. We thought the referee acted sanely and humanely.

Decision to Max Marek over Richard Hearns in the light heavyweight class was roundly booed by the crowd. Our tab gave two rounds even and one to Marek by a shade owing to his heavier bombardment at infighting, not apparent except to those close to the ringside. The margin, we thought, was as great as that of Kerr over Ginter.

Those disappointed that the visitors took only two of eight bouts should recognize that Chicagoland this year is represented in five of the eight weights by just as good amateurs as there are anywhere in America. Certainly the Irish lost none of their tradition of being willing fighters. The Wake-Line congratulates them on all counts—courage, sportsmanship, and also condition, despite the inevitable temptations of sightseeing.

ANOTHER APPLE CURE.

IN Germany the physicians have been curing children of simple diarrheas by feeding them on apples. This practice has been in vogue for at least four years. It has been given a year's trial in this country and the reports on it are excellent. It is true that none save very ripe apples are being used for the purpose, but in spite of that fact, if the small boys ever hear about it, it will be hard to keep them out of apple orchards. They will consider the old idea that stomach ache is caused by eating green apples is nothing more than a fabrication invented for the purpose of keeping boys from eating what they like.

The method of using the apple cure for diarrhea in children is as follows:

All other food and drink are forbidden for two days. Sound, mellow, good apples are chosen. They are washed well and then peeled and cored. They are then grated into a fine pulp. Of this pulp one to four tablespoons, according to age of the child, are fed once every hour or two, day and night, for 48 hours.

In the experience of Dr. T. L. Bunberg with a large number of children ranging in age from 10 months to 12 years the average amount used by each child in 24 hours was thirty tablespoons. As a rule this amount of grated apple supplies all the food and drink that are needed. If the child is thirsty a little very dilute black tea is given instead of plain water.

After this 48 hour period the child is shifted to this diet:

Breakfast: Cooked cereal without milk, toast, 1 cup cocoa made with water [no milk].

Luncheon: Soup with rice, potato gruel, scraped beef, toast.

3 p. m.: Cereal with no milk, toast, banana, cocoa made with water.

This diet is continued for 48 hours. Then milk or cottage cheese, cereal, and breads are fed as a part of a regular but limited diet. Next vegetables, and finally fruits are allowed.

If the child objects to the sourness of the grated apple, sugar can be added. In some cases the addition of mashed, ripe banana to the grated apple will make it more acceptable.

One theory of this cure is that it takes the place of milk and other foods that have been causing the trouble. In addition it is said that apples contain substances such as pectin, malic acid, and tannin, and that one or more of these have some curative action. This is largely speculative and may or may not be true. The substantial fact is that the older babies and children beyond babyhood appear to be cured of their diarrheas by this simple method four times out of five. No medicine is given.

In such cases there is very apt to be fever. Under the diet the temperature comes to normal in less than a day. There is apt to be colicky pain. That symptom disappears. The looseness of the bowels is checked. If there is nausea it passes. It seems to satisfy appetite and thirst and not to add to the digestive difficulties, as is so often the case when the sick child takes milk and ordinary foods, and it allows nature to cure and maybe helps a little directly toward that end.

CONSIDER SELF CURED.

J. W. K. writes: Twenty years ago I had a positive Wasserman. Since then I have had numerous blood tests and two spinal punctures and they have all been negative.

1. Can I consider myself cured?
2. Is my blood liable to infect other people?

REPLY.

1. Yes. You would have been safe in doing so several years ago.
2. Don't get "hipped" on the subject of syphilis.

IT IS CAR SICKNESS.

Miss F. W. writes: Why is it that I always vomit when I go automobile riding? Is there something the matter with my system?

REPLY.

You appear to be one of many thousand who have this or some other form of car sickness. It is a twin brother to seasickness. The most effective cure is not to ride in an automobile. If you must ride keep your eyes closed.

WILL BE CLEANED.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Friend of the People.]—On Keeler avenue, between Van Buren street and Gladys avenue, there is a building which has never been completed. The back yard is now being used as a dump and has turned into just a refuse box for old tin cans and other waste. This accumulation has caused rats to appear and they have become so numerous that they constitute a menace to the tenants of surrounding buildings. E. K.

Report is made that location referred to is the site of an unfinished building. Emergency men will be used to rake and pile up the débris and accumulation will then be removed. Location will be kept under observation to prevent further dumping.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 5, 1917.

LONDON.—The executive council of the workmen and soldiers' delegates, according to Reuter's Petrograd correspondent, has resolved to issue a proclamation to the people of the whole world, pointing out the tragic position in which the continuation of the war would place them. This was especially true with respect to the Russian revolution, the overthrow of which would involve the wreck of all democracy and the hopes of a universal and just peace.

PETROGRAD.—The political conference at the Winter palace ended yesterday morning, when each of the five parties represented passed a resolution declaring its confidence in Premier Kerensky and inviting him to form his own cabinet. Four of the resolutions declared that a new cabinet should adhere to the program of reform and consolidation issued by Premier Kerensky on June 21, but the constitutional Democrats in their resolution made no mention of the program, which they continue to oppose. Premier Kerensky's decision has not been announced.

WAR SUMMARY.—Petrograd reports the eastern bank of the Zbrocz river, north of Husiatyn, is cleared of Germans, but admits the continued retreat of Russians between the Dniester and Pruth rivers and the evacuation of Czernowitz. Berlin says only a small strip of Galicia remains in Russian hands. One report says Kerensky has resigned and left Petrograd. Another asserts that all parties have given him a vote of confidence. London reports recapture of the remaining portion of a trench east of Monchy le Preux, wrested from the British on Aug. 2. Paris reports continued advance of the French in Flanders and artillery duels in the Verdun sector. The Holland-America steampship Noordam struck a mine while bound for Holland, and, although badly damaged, reached port under its own steam.

WASHINGTON.—Resistance of the army draft, if attempted when the army seeks to apprehend deserters, "will constantly encounter troops of the federal government." This laconic message was flashed over the country yesterday by Provost Marshal General Crowder as a warning to persons in this country who are seeking to interfere with the creation of the selective army.

CHICAGO.—Barriers were torn away, red tape was cut, and 70,000 men in Chicago, hitherto unavailable for the United States army, were made eligible yesterday by a sweeping ruling of official Washington. All aliens except Germans and Austrians, it was decided, may be enlisted under the draft without taking out their first naturalization papers.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—How much does A Century of Progress owe?

ANSWER—The total indebtedness of A Century of Progress is approximately $12,500,000. This includes the $10,000,000 bond issue.

QUESTION—What is the price of entering the Fair Grounds on Friday and do the amusement places lower their prices on that day?

ANSWER — On Friday children under 12 years of age are admitted to the grounds for five cents and a majority of the concessions make the same price for children. The prices for adults remain the same, admission 50 cents and concession prices varying.

QUESTION—How many of the exhibits at the Fair can be seen for the payment of only the admission fee to the grounds?

ANSWER — The great majority of the exhibits at the Fair do not charge an admission fee. It would be impossible in this space to name them all, but it would take at least two weeks to view all of the free exhibits.

QUESTION—Where is the world war picture "The Pantheon" located?

ANSWER—It is south of the Midway near 26th street.

THE ENTERTAINMENT POINT OF VIEW.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—So King [Sanitary] Kelly and Sheriff [Who Gave Him That Gun?] Meyering are going to safeguard our morals by making the skin dancers put on some clothes! It is to laugh. What are they trying to do—ruin the Fair? Don't they know that all the people from out in the sticks where they still call them "leg shows" are saving their corn money to come up to Chicago and see if the fan dancers really don't wear nothing nohow? First it was Belle [Don't Forget to Use My Name] Spencer, and later it was Rufus [Pay Station] Dawes with his aid de cramp Maj. [Cash Before Comfort] Lohr, that were trying to make the Fair a 9 o'clock show in a 1 o'clock town. Now it's King Kelly and our sleepy sheriff that are trying to get a few headlines in the papers by cleaning up the Fair. The fan dances at the Exposition are—and always have been—extremely tame. The few seconds of actual nudity involved are a negligible factor, morally speaking. From the entertainment point of view, however, they are indispensable because they give the yokels a chance to say that they saw what they came to see. Why begrudge them this pitiful glory in their home town sessions at the ice cream parlor or on the horseshoe lot? Kelly should remember that he is king only by virtue of the fact that the people never had a chance to vote against him and should stay out of the picture as much as possible. He's only giving the Democrats a black eye, and as a Democrat I object.

JAMES THOMAS.

A PRESS AGENT'S PLOT.

Stockton, Ill., Aug. 2.—There is a guy in this town who reads all the stories in the Chicago papers about the nudies at the Fair and he believes that the fuss is stirred up for moral reasons rather than as a gag to advertise the Midway. Poor fellow, he was dropped on his head while a babe. MR. TUT TUT.

MERE PERSONAL REACTIONS.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Permit me to raise a question concerning the English used by your reporter and the mayor of our fair city in their descriptions of the skin shows at A Century of Progress.

The mayor used the descriptions rotten, lewd, and vulgar to express his judgment of the shows. The reporter in indirect quotation of opinions used the word objectionable, perhaps correctly. Since the word was not a direct quotation, however, the reporter must be held responsible for its use.

The point to be raised is that all of these terms are quite possibly mere personal reactions of the individual observers. They do not describe the shows; they describe the critics' reactions to the shows. Apparently thousands of persons have paid to see these shows and have gone from them satisfied that they were amusing or entertaining rather than rotten, lewd, or objectionable. Those who find them objectionable can avoid distress by remaining away.

Perhaps it has never occurred to our zealous purists that exhibitions of noseyness and shockability, if I may use the word, are to many persons far more objectionable than the gyrating anatomies of the hard working nudes of the show and theater. It might even be said that the desire to interfere with the private pleasures of adults is to a great many enlightened persons not only vulgar but also morbid.

Perhaps the showmen at the Fair who are honest enough to advertise their wares for what they are could take the matter of censorship into the courts and force the purists of the cloth-on-body variety to defend their personal opinions on scientific grounds.

HER MAN.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—I wonder if any one in the vast multitude who reads this corner can advise me on a very serious problem. I am married fifteen years and am the mother of six children. Two died in infancy: the living ones are 3, 5, 9, and 13 years of age. My husband is a steamfitter. The first ten years of our married life he worked for fourteen different contractors. He could not hold a job for any length of time on account of laziness and tardiness. In spite of the large salary he got, we never did make both ends meet as he was out of work half the time. Then depression came and the relief fund. We are still getting from the relief and he is so satisfied with things as they are that he sleeps half the day and sits around the other half. He doesn't shave or take a bath except about once a month. He is so disgustingly lazy that he is positively repulsive. Now that times are getting a little better I asked him to go out and try to find some kind of work. All he'll say is, "A fat chance I'd have with thousands out of work."

I feel that I am losing my self-respect and the self-respect of my children living with such a man. I would apply for a divorce immediately if I could afford it. Won't some one tell me the next best thing to do? I cannot go on much longer. MRS. O.

BLAST REPORTS N. C. A. WILL DROP SCHOOLS HERE

Official Replies to Letter of Economy Foes.

Reports that Chicago high schools are in danger of being dropped from the accredited list of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools because of the economy program adopted by the board of education were shown to be unfounded yesterday.

Supt. William J. Bogan of the school system cleared up the reports by making public letters from A. W. Clevenger of Champaign, secretary of the North Central association. The first letter from Mr. Clevenger asked how the reorganization of the Chicago school system would affect the conditions governing the admission of high school graduates to midwestern colleges and universities. This letter resulted in reports that the association was considering dropping the high schools from the list.

A second letter from Mr. Clevenger to the superintendent called attention to the reports.

No Demand for Information.

"It should be clearly understood," it said, "that membership in the association is purely voluntary and, consequently, there is no demand on the part of the association for information," Mr. Clevenger wrote. "I wish especially to make this point clear in view of the published reports in which the association has been placed in the position of having made a threat of dropping the Chicago schools, of making indictments against them, and of demanding various types of information.

"The North Central Association has authorized no one to have published in any newspaper any such statements."

Mr. Clevenger indicated that in the accrediting of the Chicago high schools, the association "will quite likely follow its usual policy of considering each individual high school as a separate case.

"Since no meetings of the North Central association have been scheduled until after the opening of the schools for the school year 1933-34," the letter continued, "it is quite possible that the association will not be in a position to take any action or make any decisions relative to the accrediting of any particular high school in Chicago until after the annual report for the school year 1933-34 has been received and also after all available information relative to the accrediting of each individual high school has been considered carefully."

Must Live Up To Standards.

Then followed a list of questions regarding the character of the Chicago school reorganization. The high schools, it was explained, must live up to the standards or graduates will have to take examinations for higher institutions instead of being accepted automatically.

Mr. Bogan said that at the request of James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, he had begun work on a report for the North Central association. The full report will probably be ready next week.

The most serious of the association's requirements as far as the Chicago schools are concerned, is the standard regarding the teaching load, in the opinion of school officials. The association asks that high school teachers handle five classes of no more than 30 pupils in each daily.

For years the Chicago high schools have not met this requirement because an average of more than 30 pupils is taught by each teacher, but the practice resulted only in criticism from the association and there had never been an outright threat that the schools would be taken off the accredited list.

Reorganization to Help.

In this connection Mr. Bogan pointed out that the transferring of 165 principals and 151 teachers from Crane Junior college, which was closed by the board, to high school teaching positions would materially aid in solving the problem of teacher load in that branch of instruction.

"No one can say how many pupils we will have to care for in the fall," said Mr. Bogan, "so naturally the association cannot act now in this connection."

The reports regarding the Chicago high schools and the first Clevenger letter were mentioned in literature sent out on July 31 by the Save Our Schools committee, with headquarters at 135 North Wabash avenue.

"Since Mr. Clevenger is the official spokesman of the North Central association," read this communication, "and since the association is made up of practically all standard colleges in this region and its recommendations are accepted by those colleges, the action of the board will have a crushing effect not only on children now in school, but on their future even after they have graduated from Chicago high schools."

Economy Foes Carry On.

Meanwhile, foes of the school board's economy program in Chicago were continuing their organized protest, despite the fact that on Thursday a bill for a temporary injunction to restrain the board from carrying out its program was dismissed by Circuit Judge William V. Brothers with the declaration that it was not "worth the paper it's written on."

Allan J. Carter, attorney for the Principals club, which brought the suit, said that he was undecided on his next move.

The "Save Our Schools" committee, headed by Mrs. Holland Flagler, president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Tachers, had announced a plan to urge aldermen to call a special meeting of the city council to pass a resolution criticizing the school board. Last night it was stated that the plan had been abandoned.

The following meetings in protest of the board action were held last night: McKinley Park fieldhouse at Archer and Western avenues; Jefferson Park Congregational church at which Dr. John Stout, dean of the school of education at Northwestern University, was a speaker; Riis park at 6400 Fullerton avenue; and Douglas park at 3202 Ogden avenue.

U. S. STILL BALKS AT TAX WARRANT SALE TO BANKS

[Chicago Tribune Pres Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Federal authorities probably will turn thumbs down on Mayor Edward Kelly's request that they lift the restrictions on Chicago tax warrant purchases by national banks, it was learned today.

Mayor Kelly laid his request before federal banking officials during his recent visit here in an effort to help solve the financial and borrowing problems of the city. The request has been studied ever since, and a final ruling may be sent to the mayor and Chicago banks soon.

Question Raised Elsewhere.

If the decision goes against unrestricted purchase of tax warrants by national banks and state banks which are members of the federal reserve system, it probably will rule out also unlimited buying of securities issued by school districts, park districts, library areas, and similar units, it was said. This question has been raised not only by Chicago, but by four or five other communities in Illinois.

Under the terms of the new banking act of 1933 no national bank or state bank which is a member of the federal reserve system may purchase on its own account more than 10 per cent of any investment security issue or put more than 15 per cent of its own capital in any one issue. These restrictions are now holding up further purchases of tax warrants by Chicago banks.

Seeks to Cover Tax Warrants.

An exemption from these limitations, however, is extended to securities issued by the federal government and to the "general obligations of any state or political subdivision thereof." Mayor Kelly asked that this exemption be construed by the authorities to cover tax warrants and school bonds thus permitting banks to continue buying them.

Two objections are being raised by the office of the comptroller of the currency to extending the exemption, and unless they can be met, the decision probably will throw out the mayor's request. It is understood, however, that the mayor may attempt to explain away the legal objections before a final ruling is handed down.

The first objection is that when congress exempted securities of "political subdivisions," it did not mean small units such as school, library, or park districts, but merely cities and counties. This objection, if sustained, will rule out school district and similar bonds.

Not General Obligations.

The second objection is that tax warrants are not "general obligations" within the meaning of the banking act. They are obligations on tax receipts of a specific year and therefore are not general in character, it is argued.

A final decision on Mayor Kelly's request has been delayed by a lack of information here, it was explained today by federal officials. Legal data had to be called for from Chicago banks to furnish the background for the mayor's request, and not all of it was received immediately.

British Flyers Ruin Rebel Indian Village with Bombs

SIMLA, India, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The village of Kotkai on the northwestern frontier was reported in ruins today as a result of two bombardments by British air force pilots, who are trying to compel Bajauri tribesmen to relinquish three agitators. Practically all buildings were said to have been leveled in Kotkai, a hamlet of 100 inhabitants.

MASTER UPHOLDS KERNER-SKARDA ACT AT HEARING

Jarecki Names Receiver for 95 Properties.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $303,615. A total of $32,279,552 has been collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began last April 28. The day's real estate tax collections and the uncollected taxes for four years are as follows:

	1928.	1929.
Aug. 4	$ 19,236	$ 42,468
Uncollected	$16,434,878	$ 48,572,410
	1930.	1931.
Aug. 4	$ 163,709	$ 138,232
Uncollected	$78,250,937	$106,267,680

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $2,610.

While County Judge Jarecki was establishing a record yesterday in placing 95 tax delinquent properties in receivership, the validity of the Kerner-Skarda act, under which the judge has been proceeding, was upheld in a hearing before Master in Chancery Julius Miner in the Circuit court. The ninety-five properties owe total taxes of $432,645.

Master Miner denied a motion for an injunction against County Treasurer McDonough, who was named as receiver for the ninety-five properties, and the county board restraining them from disbursing funds for the operation of the Kerner-Skarda act. The master held that the act was constitutional and that the taxpayers' money was not being used illegally for its functioning. The bill attacking the act was brought by Attorney Leonard Klopper on behalf of Roscoe E. Major, 2600 Wilson avenue, a real estate dealer, who contended that the legislature had delegated excessive powers to the County court.

Rules Court Has Jurisdiction.

"The County court is entitled to chancery jurisdiction and suits for the appointment of receivers and tax cases can be brought in it," the master ruled. Attorney Klopper said that Major has paid all his taxes and that his property is not involved in the suit.

"If any part of the act is unconstitutional the individual whose property is involved can attack it on an appeal," Master Miner ruled, "but this complainant has not suffered damages and cannot bring a suit."

Judge Jarecki appointed the county treasurer as receiver for the following properties:

Judge Jarecki ordered former officials of the Phillip State bank, now defunct, to appear this morning for a hearing on charges by Mrs. John Krettler, 7648 Eastlake terace, that they had retained $600 for a commission to extend a mortgage, although she had given them the money to apply on her 1929 real estate taxes.

Plan Grand Jury Action.

Assistant State's Attorney Hayden Bell said that if Mrs. Krettler's allegations were proven he would charge the officials with fraudulent conversion and ask that they be held to the grand jury.

The treasurer yesterday filed 200 more petitions for receiverships against tax delinquent properties. The properties owe a total of $1,003,490 in taxes. In the list given out Thursday of properties sued for taxes the home of George F. Harding, former county treasurer, at 4853-63 Lake Park avenue, was erroneously included, the treasurer's office announced. All taxes on this property have been paid.

Attorney John W. Keogh yesterday filed a petition for a writ of prohibition in the United States District court to restrain Judge Jarecki from appointing the county treasurer as receiver for his property. The allegations are similar to those in the suit heard by Mr. Miner.

AWARDED DIVORCE

Mrs. Dorothy Anderson Cramer, 25 years old, 1008 Wavelund avenue, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Charles A. Williams in the Superior court from Henry J. Cramer, 844 Castlewood terrace. Cramer, his wife told Judge Williams, is an official of the Cramer Baking company, owned by his father. Mrs. Cramer testified that her husband struck her on three occasions shortly before she left him in December, 1931.

CHARGES EISEN AND TWO OTHERS WITH THREATS

The charge that Maxie Eisen, business agent for the Chicago Retail Fish Dealers' association, and two codefendants threatened a restaurant owner with death unless he gave them a partnership in the business, was made yesterday in the Municipal court of Judge Joseph H. McGarry. Eisen, his brother-in-law, Jack Perno, and Henry Kimmel were charged with intimidation on complaint of Leon Jarinkes, owner of a restaurant at 201 North Union avenue.

Jarinkes said that Eisen and his two accomplices demanded a fifty-fifty partnership in the restaurant business in 1928 and urged him to handle beer and liquor. When he refused, Jarinkes said, Eisen opened a restaurant at 663 West Lake street in an effort to ruin the Jarinkes business.

The government closed the Eisen restaurant a year ago, according to Jarinkes, and the three men renewed their requests for a partnership and threatened to kill him unless he acceded to the request.

"It looks," Detective Sergeant Barney Kennedy said, "as if at last we have a complainant who will push the case against Eisen." The case was continued until Aug. 30 on Eisen's request for time to retain an attorney.

A STENOGRAPHER FINDS JOB; SENDS GIFT TO ICE FUND

"Inclosed please find $1 as my small contribution to the free ice fund," wrote one of yesterday's contributors to THE TRIBUNE fund. "I promised myself to do that if I got a job. I got it. I hope this may be of some use."

The letter was signed by "a grateful stenographer." The Camp Algonquin fund received $2 from a woman who could not go on a vacation herself. She hoped that the small amount would help send an unfortunate child to the camp. Another gift to the camp fund, $1, brought the grand total to $1,536.49.

A letter carefully printed by Edith Rose Campbell, Diane Huszagh, and Alice Emily Butz, brought 54 cents to the ice fund. The money was earned at a lemonade stand.

Other contributions to the ice fund were $5 each from H. G. S. and G. A. K., $2 from Mrs. S. N. Trevine, $3.85 from the Bookhouse for Children, raising the fund to $1,398.92. Contributions to both funds should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

MANHOLE COVERS STOLEN.

Jesse Williams, colored, 26 years old, 3600 South Wabash avenue, charged with stealing the manhole covers from sewers in the south park district, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge John J. Lupe. Bonds were fixed at $2,500.

NAMES 2 ILLINOIS GROUPS TO SIFT VETERAN CLAIMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—In accordance with the veterans' compromise plan passed by congress at the close of special session, President Roosevelt today named special veterans' review boards for Illinois, New York and Massachusetts, to pass upon alleged injustices to ex-service men under the economy regulations promulgated by the President shortly after he took office.

Two boards were named for Illinois. The first is composed of Gen. Abel Davis, chairman of the board of the Chicago Title and Trust company; Col. Albert A. Sprague, former Chicago commissioner of public works, and Lynn D. Sifford of Anna, Ill.

Second Illinois Board.

To the second Illinois board, the President appointed Burt Massee, Palmolive company executive; Gifford Holden of Glen Ellyn, and Col. George Seaman of Taylorville.

Two veterans' administration officials also were named on each board. They were chosen from the Detroit regional office of the administration, it was stated "in order that veterans may have their cases considered by entirely new personnel."

For the first board the President selected Dr. G. W. Rudolph and John W. Musgrave, and for second Edward G. Brandenberger, and Caroll D. Robertson, all rating specialists.

Receive Letter from Hines.

A letter of instruction was dispatched to each of the board members today by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, urging them to exercise careful judgment in their settlement of claims.

"I believe that the roll of veterans in receipt of pension for disability incurred in the active military or naval service should be an honor roll," said Gen. Hines, "and that no man should remain on that roll unless he incurred his disability in the line of duty in the active military or naval service.

"If, as a result of the action of the special boards, we can be assured that those who properly belong on the rolls remain there and those who do not belong on the rolls are removed, we can then insure this group of veterans the full bounty of a grateful government without fear of injustice to the taxpayer or proper criticism from any one."

FALL KILLS WOMAN, 44.

CHINESE PIRATES LOOT SHIP; KIDNAP 3 PASSENGERS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 4.—(AP)—As the national government conducted a conference in Nanking today on ways of combating pirate hordes which have been pillaging China's coastal shipping, sea wolves added another Chinese ship to their long list of victims. The steamer Yuishun, bound from Swatow in southern China for Shanghai, was seized by Pirates off Swatow.

Pirates carried out their usual disguise as passengers and boarded the steamer at Swatow. After the vessel had put out to sea the brigands overpowered the crew and forced the skipper to proceed into Bias bay, the pirates' stronghold south of Swatow, where the cargo and passengers were looted. The invaders escaped laden with loot and taking with them three passengers they are holding for ransom.

The anti-pirate conference today decided to urge the government to require all Chinese ships to install wireless and to carry anti-pirate guards.

HURRICANE HITS TEXAS; HOMES, CROPS DAMAGED

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A tropical hurricane lashed inland across the lower Rio Grande valley for two hours tonight, damaging homes and crops with a gale of 70 to 75 miles an hour velocity, and then turned south into Mexico.

No loss of life was reported and only one person was known here to have been injured. He was an unidentified man cut slightly by flying glass when a window of the Brownsville courthouse gave way.

Brownsville streets were choked with the débris of fallen trees and timbers from houses damaged by the gale. There was widespread damage here to roofs and plate glass windows.

In Matamoros, a Mexican city across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, an old theater, the Teatro Reforma, built during the French occupation in the days of Emperor Maximilian, was damaged badly, and many dwellings were razed.

Port Isabel, at the mouth of the Rio Grande, bore the full force of the hurricane, and several persons who made their way to Brownsville from there tonight said scarcely a building in the town escaped damage. Among the buildings hit worst were those of the Port Isabel Development company and the Shary Yacht club, the latter owned by John Shary of Mission, wealthy citrus grower recently named a member of the advisory committee for the National Recovery Administration.

3 HIGH OFFICIALS LOSE JOBS AS U.S. QUITS SHIPPING

Large Number of Employes to Find New Work.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A cherished hope of the administration to get the government out of the shipping business today has combined with President Roosevelt's federal reorganization plans to shorten the days left of the sixteen year old merchant fleet corporation and shipping board.

Officially, the board stands abolished next Thursday under an executive order by Mr. Roosevelt. The fleet corporation and its 38 remaining ships will be transferred to the commerce department for direction.

Just what the department will do with the vessels and the approximately 1,000 employés it will take over has not been determined, but it intends to carry on the policy of winding up commercial maritime activities.

Change to Be Gradual.

One official at work on the plans for the fleet's future smilingly observed:

"We're going to eat the fleet corporation first and digest it later."

Three high officials of the fleet and board have already been given to understand they will no longer be needed after Wednesday. They are Elmer E. Crowley, president; F. E. Ferris, in charge of operations, and Samuel Goodacre, secretary to both the board and corporation.

Their departure, it was said, was made necessary by the "continued liquidation of the Fleet corporation."

Scattered Over World.

Two years ago the corporation had approximately 300 ships. It had hundreds of employés scattered about this country and in foreign ports. Sale and lease of its shipping lines have reduced both personnel and ships.

Under reorganization the commerce department may reëmploy within the next four months as many of the workers as it needs. Many will be absorbed temporarily by the department, officials expecting the force to be decreased gradually as the Fleet corporation's affairs are closed up.

Whether the three members of the shipping board will be given places in the commerce department was, H. I. Cone, the board chairman, said, up to Secretary Roper. Roper's aids said nothing definite had been decided.

Encouragement of American merchant marine development and regulation of water carriers are to be carried on by the commerce department. Officials said "no drastic" changes would be made suddenly.

QUIZ SANITY OF FLINT SLAYER OF HIS MOTHER

Flint, Mich., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A plea of guilty to a charge of killing his mother, offered by Balfe MacDonald, 17 year old Flint youth, was refused in Circuit court here today by Judge James S. Parker.

Judge Parker announced that instead of accepting the plea he would appoint a commission to examine into young MacDonald's sanity. The commission will consist of three physicians.

Mrs. Grace Baird MacDonald, the boy's mother, was found dead in her bedroom here on May 27. Her head had been crushed with a heavy bookend.

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH FROM "L" PLATFORM

Mrs. Sarah Jane Hiuzenga, 70 years old, 5650 Emerald avenue, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when she leaped to the street from the elevated railway station at 63d street and Harvard avenue. She died soon afterward at St. Bernard's hospital.

A witness, Ida Burnstein, 5513 Everett avenue, told the police she had seen the woman climb upon the guard rail and jump.

Mrs. Hiuzenga's body was identified by her husband, John. He said she had left home while he was away seeking work.

EVERTS WRENN WILL PROBATED; ESTATE IS $150,000

Everts Wrenn, insurance executive, who died July 28, left an estate valued at $150,000, it was learned yesterday when his will was admitted to probate by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the probate judge. The estate is left to the widow, Mrs. Goodrich Manvel Wrenn, 1318 Ritchie court. Mr. Wrenn was 64 years old. He had been general agent for the State Mutual Life Assurance company, 1 North La Salle street, since 1901.

Five other wills were admitted to probate yesterday. The wills are those of:

EDWARD FITZGERALD, died July 16. Estate, $9,000, to six sons and two daughters, James Fitzgerald, a son, is executor.

MARY HARTEL, died Oct. 16, 1932. Estate, $2,000, to three sons and two daughters. Andrew Hartel, a son, is executor.

WALTER TWITTY, died July 19. Estate, $7,000, to widow and executrix, Emma Twitty.

ANDREW LARSEN, died June 28. Estate, $15,000, to son, Frank Larsen, and daughter, Anna Audette, co-executors.

CHARLES FINKL, died July 29.—Estate, $75,000, to widow and four sons. Elizabeth Finkl, the widow, is executrix.

IDA M. STODDER, TEACHER HERE 49 YEARS, DIES

Word was received yesterday of the death of Ida Marria Stodder, who retired in 1929 after teaching in Chicago schools for 49 years, in her home west of Buchanan, Mich. Miss Stodder was born in Peoria, Ill., and was 73 years old.

Miss Stodder served in Thomas A. Hendricks school at 313 West 43d street for 46 years. She became assistant principal of that school in 1886 and kept the post until her retirement. Miss Stodder and her sister, Myrabelle, who had served in the Chicago schools for 50 years, retired at the same time. Both had been residents of Englewood and were graduates of Cook County Normal college, now Chicago Normal college.

She is survived by her sister, who lives at Galien, Mich., and two brothers, Arthur of Galien and Lee of San Gabriel, Cal.

Rites for Cesaire Gareau, Retired Contractor, Today

Funeral services for Cesaire Gareau, retired Chicago building contractor, will be held today at the Notre Dame church, with burial in Mount Carmel cemetery. Mr. Gareau died Thursday in his home at 1954 West Harrison street. He was 89 years old. Mr. Gareau was active in the building contracting business in Chicago until his retirement twelve years ago. His firm constructed several buildings of the World Fair of 1893. He was president of the French Republican club for 15 years. Mr. Gareau is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jules X. Rivard, and two sons, Louis and Gedion.

Wife of Albert Cotsworth of River Forest Dies at 82

Mrs. Gertrude Gouverneur Cotsworth, wife of Albert Cotsworth, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter D. Herrick of 807 Keystone avenue, River Forest. Mrs. Cotsworth, who was 82 years old, had resided in Chicago since 1899. Besides her husband, to whom she was married nearly fifty-seven years ago, Mrs. Cotsworth is survived by her daughter and two sons, Albert Jr., passenger traffic manager of the Burlington railroad, and Staats J. Phone Girl "Listens In"; Saves Woman from Suicide

Mrs. Theresa Kaplan, 27 years old, wife of a loop restaurant owner, attempted to commit suicide by inhaling gas in her apartment at 4300 Lake Shore drive early yesterday. A telephone operator in the apartment building overheard Mrs. Kaplan tell a cousin during a long distance call to New York that she intended "to end it all." The operator notified Town Hall police who found Mrs. Kaplan lying with her head in the gas stove in the kitchen of her apartment. Mrs. Kaplan, revived by physicians at the Lake View hospital, refused to answer questions concerning the motive of her act.

Dr. Richard Dewey, 87, Noted Psychiatrist, Dies

La Canada, Cal., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Dr. Richard Dewey, 87, noted psychiatrist and neurologist, died today at his home here. He was president of the American Medical and Psychological society in 1896 and was the head of a number of institutions in Illinois and Wisconsin before coming here in 1921 from Chicago.

Gets Job After a Year; Dies of Overexertion

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Overexertion the first day he had been able to find a job in more than a year caused the death yesterday of C. J. Snell, 61. He was pushing a wheelbarrow loaded with gravel on a hard road construction job when he fell dead from heart trouble.

John Nealy, Board of Trade Bootblack 30 Years, Dies

John Nealy, a bootblack on the Board of Trade for the last thirty years, died Aug. 3. He was 67 years old. He was unmarried and lived with a sister and a blind brother at 229 East 42d street.

SPEEDS PAST RED LIGHT; FATALLY HURT IN CRASH

A motorist was fatally injured last night when he sped past a red traffic light at Crawford avenue and Touhy road, Tessville, and his automobile struck two other cars, overturning one of them. He was William Youngquist, 51 years old, 5026 North Hermitage avenue. He fell out of his car after the first crash and was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where he died.

Miss Dorothy Helding, 23 years old, 4022 Lowell avenue, whose car was overturned, suffered slight cuts. Henry I. Pfaff, 1010 Pleasant street, Oak Park, who was in the third car, was not injured.

Three men injured in motor accidents earlier in the week died yesterday in the county hospital. The deaths yesterday increased the 1933 motor toll in Cook county to 593. The other victims:

Morris Jacobson, 55 years old, 1247 South Avers avenue. Died of injuries suffered on Wednesday, when he was struck at Independence boulevard and Roosevelt road by an automobile driven by Gustav Knobloch, 1041 North Keystone avenue.

Ignace Bronicki, 40 years old, 1623 Elston avenue. Died of a skull fracture suffered Thursday when his automobile skidded into a safety island at Ashland and Chicago avenues.

James De Stefano, 65 years old, 2059 West Erie street. Died of injuries he suffered Thursday when he was struck by an automobile at Winchester avenue and West Madison street. Mrs. Celia A. Lucier, 3059 Washington boulevard, driver of the car, was notified to attend the inquest today.

WINS A HEARING ON FORMER WIFE'S INSANITY CHARGE

Judge Peter H. Schwaba, in the Superior court, yesterday granted Sewall Billings Vaughan, 6645 North Ashland avenue, a real estate operator, a complete hearing on a new charge made by his ex-wife, Mrs. Phyllis Vaughan Andrews, 1639 Chase avenue, that there is a streak of insanity in the Vaughan family which makes it unwise for Vaughan to have custody of their son, Sewall Jr., 10 years old, during the summer months. The hearing was set for Sept. 6.

Judge Schwaba also refused an order upon Vaughan to resume payments to Mrs. Andrews for the support of the boy when Attorney Harry X. Cole submitted evidence that Vaughan is still suffering from the financial distress which caused Judge Joseph Sabath to allow him to stop the support payments several months ago.

Mrs. Andrews got an alimony order for $50 a week when she obtained a divorce in 1930. This was cut down to $50 a month when she remarried. At that time Vaughan was $320 in arrears, and when Mrs. Vaughan sought to have him sent to jail for contempt of court, Judge Sabath permitted him to give his note for the arrears.

CELL FOR WOMAN IN BRUCE BARTON BLACKMAIL PLOT

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frances W. King, convicted Wednesday of an attempt to blackmail Bruce Barton by a General Sessions jury which recommended leniency, was sentenced today by Judge Joseph E. Corrigan to from five to ten years in the state prison for women at Bedford Hills.

"Blackmail is the foulest crime in civilized life," said the judge. "There has been much of it in New York in recent years. For that reason an adequate sentence must be imposed in this case, in spite of the jury's recommendation, which I am taking into consideration."

The maximum term Mrs. King might have received under the three counts of the indictment was 15 years. She has been in jail, unable to raise bond, since she was arrested last April.

Mrs. King, dressed all in white, took the sentence calmly. Her attorney pleaded in her behalf that she had no criminal intent when she threatened Barton with the publication of a book she had written and asked for $50,000.

Mrs. King is 35. Some years ago she married Hugh P. King, who later sued Mr. Barton for alienation of affections.

Sani-Flush

cleans closet bowls without scouring

Beware of odors

THE slightest toilet odor is a danger sign. It means that the toilet is unclean. Germs are breeding there. Hot days increase the nuisance. Be careful. Use Sani-Flash more often.

Sani-Flush is not an ordinary cleanser. It is intended for cleaning toilets. It removes stains and incrustations without scrubbing. It cleans and purifies the hidden trap that no other method can reach. Directions on the can.

Eliminate the cause of toilet odors. Purge the toilet with Sani-Flush. Sani-Flush is also effective for cleaning automobile radiators. For sale at grocery, drug and hardware stores, 25c. The Hygienic Products Co., Canton, Ohio.

WOMAN ARTIST HURLS ACID; MARK BAUM IS VICTIM

Provincetown, Mass., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—A woman artist threw a glass of acid into the face of a man artist at his studio here this afternoon, probably disfiguring him for life.

The victim was Mark Baum of Greenwich Village, New York, well known among the modernists. Baum ran twelve blocks through crowds of summer residents and visitors to the office of Dr. H. D. Hibert for treatment. Dr. Hibert said Baum would have been blinded permanently had the acid struck him a fraction of an inch higher on the face.

Baum asked the police to arrest Miss Kay Silverberg, but without a warrant the police refused. Miss Silverberg was not at her studio tonight. Baum said he had no idea what prompted her act.

BUCHANAN—Helen M. Buchanan. In the passing on Aug. 1 of Dr. Helen M. Buchanan, following a long and useful life, all of those privileged to know her have experienced an irreparable loss; yet a profound gratification in the consciousness of a life so nobly lived.

Her friendships were many and lasting; her gentle nature happily blended with a stanchness of character that won not only the confidence of those with whom she came in contact, but who became endeared to her by ties of genuine affection.

Her fine mental endowment, generously supplemented by study, kept her abreast of the developments in her chosen profession to the end; and her retirement of recent years was but the reflection of her many contributions to it, in which she was truly revered.

Her home life was one of generous thoughtfulness for all of those about her. Good cheer and kindliness were her outstanding characteristics.

Antoinette Donnelly Tells How Noted Beauties Keep Charm

How Smartness in Dress and Make-Up Help Business Girl Get Job Demonstrated at Style Show

Here is pictured a girl who is looking for a job—and the obvious reasons why she doesn't find one. Her bedraggled chiffon dress, in itself, is a drawback, but with sports oxfords, white beret and so called costume jewelry she hasn't a chance. Her frowzy hair and lack of lipstick don't help either. She needed some expert clothes and cosmetic assistance.

This picture shows the same girl properly dressed for job hunting. The fashion stylist, dressed her in a trim black frock with a touch of white, a black satin sailor and suitable black shoes. The beautician advised a lipstick and rouge in a raspberry shade, a tiny bit of eye makeup, and hair that is as glossy as the satin of her frock, and just as sleekly arranged.

Noted Artists to Give Girl Scout Concerts

Lawrence Tibbett to Open Annual Series.

BY JUDITH CASS.

BEGINNING Sept. 1 Mrs. William S. Monroe will be making almost daily trips to town from her inviting country home, White Gates Farm, at Fort Wayne. On this date the active campaign for the sale of boxes and seats for the fall and winter Girl Scout concert series is scheduled to start, and Mrs. Monroe is the chairman of the committee organizing the series.

It is only the Girl Scouts, however, that could bring Mrs. Monroe in the city frequently from her comfortable hot weather house. She enjoys the early autumn days in Wayne. But for years she has given her untiring energy and interest to scouting and its program for building the finest type of young womanhood.

One of the highlights of the winter social season last year, the concert series promises to be an even more brilliant attraction this year. This week contracts for the five programs were signed. And to judge by the important list of Chicagoans who have already asked for the same places they had last year, the box and ticket sale is not to be an arduous chore.

Tibbett to Give First Program.

On the evening of Oct. 30 at Orchestra hall the first concert will be given by Lawrence Tibbett. The second program the night of Nov. 27 will bring back to the city Serge Lisar after a fifteen years' absence. One of the oldest members of the original Diagliess ballet that will never be forgotten, he has danced the world around. Now he represents one outgrowth of this ballet, and the "Ballet Russe of Monte Carlo" the other. And this, we understand, is also due in Chicago this winter, though not as a part of the Girl Scout program.

Elizabeth Rethberg will be here on Dec. 11, and on Jan. 23 Yehudi Menuhin, the boy violinist who was a prodigy two or three years ago. A bit more grown up now, it will be interesting to note his artistic development. The final program of the series will be presented the evening of Feb. 5 by the delightful Lily Pons.

Mrs. Albert Blake Dick will occupy this year the same box she heard the concerts from last winter. And so will Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, Mrs. Richard Bentley, Mrs. Richard H. Fahrney, and the James S. Kempers.

On the main floor will be, among others, Miss Joanna Fortune, Mrs. Wentworth Field, the Charles B. Goodspeeds, Dr. and Mrs. Charles King Corsant, Ernest A. Hamill, Miss Carrie Pam, the Clifford Barnes, the George A. Ranneys, Russell Tyson, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Huntington H. Henry, and the Howard Linns.

Co-workers on Mrs. Monroe's organization committee are Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay Jr. and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay III.; Mrs. Bentley, Mrs James H. Douglas Jr., Mrs. Edison Dick, Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr., Mrs. Paul Magnuson, Miss Harriet Clifford, and Mrs. John B. Bremner.

Repeat Pony Show Today.

It's going to be more fun than a three ring circus to watch the scions of several of Lake Forest' best families race across the ring on Paul Lewellyn's farm this afternoon atop their ponies, change into nightshirts and pajamas, and race back again.

The stunt is one of several Miss Libby Chase is planning for 300 Arden Shore and Lake Bluff orphanage boys and girls in a special version of her second annual Misery Farm Pony show. At 3 o'clock the show is to begin. At least a hundred young Lake Forest matrons have volunteered to be chauffeurs for the afternoon.

To add to the merriment today the thirty or more little equestrians in the show, all of them pupils in Miss Chase's riding classes, will be in costume. The program will start with a parade and at the head will be those two good friends of James Minotto who hail from the cow country, Chester Byers of Fort Worth and Richard Merchant.

They're up here to take part in the World's Fair rodeo that comes off Aug. 27 and they've volunteered to add a few trimmings to the pony show today. Mr. Byers can lassoo just about anything that ever roamed the western plains and it's impossible to find a better cowboy than Mr. Merchant.

Other Horse Events During Weekend.

Other important events of the weekend will be the annual Barrington Hills gymkhana tomorrow afternoon on the Jevne Haugans' polo field in Barrington and the beginning of the intracircuit polo matches at the same time on one of Oak Brook's five polo fields.

Nearly everybody in Barrington, with their week-end guests, will gather on the Haugans' polo field—Revonah farm at Algonquin road, near Bateman road—to watch potato, polo, an egg and spoon race, a polo bending race, and riding to Jerusalem.

A team from the Twin Cities' Polo club—and that means St. Paul and Minneapolis—will team up against Oak Brook at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon in the first of the intracircuit games Captained by Louis Hill, son of the late James J. Hill, the Twin City team will remain in town for the East-West polo classic to be run off in another week at Onwentsia.

Paul Butler heads the committee that has arranged the intracircuit matches for the championship of the central polo district.

At Fort Sheridan tomorrow the local polo four will play the third game

Proper Dress for Home Woman Will Be the Subject of Expert Today

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

IF the two business girls shown at the Fashion show yesterday at the Fair came knocking at your door asking for a job it wouldn't take a minute to decide which one you'd take on. Only they weren't two girls. Just one! They only seemed like two separate and distinct individuals, so radical was the change effected by the type of dress that should be worn and the kind of thing in dress, coiffure, makeup, and general appearance that often kills a girl's chances.

Time and again I've been told by employers and employment agencies that a girl's appearance counts more than brains, brawn, fidelity. There's basis for this standard of judgment. If a girl isn't smart enough to get herself up cleverly and keep herself so—she's just out of date on modern employment ethics as far as women are concerned, which couples efficiency with personal appearances.

Yesterday at the Fair we saw first a young woman in a sleezy, fragile materialed dress, trimmed with magenta velvet; a white beret, oxfords, and borne down with so-called costume jewelry—beads, bracelets, etcetera. Then, a few moments later, under the tutelage of Mrs. Ford Carter, style director, the girl stepped forth in a clever black frock, white trimmed, small black satin sailor, trim black shoes, bag, and gloves. This girl could have sold herself as a fashion buyer, promoter, an executive, anything almost, so smartly was she turned out.

The transformation was amplified with the change in coiffure and makeup recommended by the beautician-adviser on hand for the experiment. From hair pulled out in untidy loops over brow and around the face of the coiffure was changed cleverly. It was brushed back off the face to let a ravishing "widow's peak" be the high point of the coiffure. [Yeah, a Business Girl may look the intriguing sister as well as the efficient woman, so long as her appearance is consistent with the job.]

The makeup overhauling given the girl did marvels for her. Like a number of girls not wise in this art, her rouge and powder and lipstick were flamboyant, cheap in effect. The make up artist toned her down with a raspberry shade matching rouge and lipstick [a natural looking color], a peach-toned powder, and permitted her just a touch of an eye shadow for daytime wear and an eyelash grower that gives a gloss. And the girl was read a lecture on skin cleansing and anti-wrinkle cream and lotion to keep that skin of hers young and fresh looking.

Now, today is your day, you women in the home! At 1:30 p. m. you shall see the town apartment and the suburban matron as they ought never be caught looking — and as they could look, the better to keep hubby, family and visiting friends happy. I'll be seein' you—yes?

Scout Jamboree Measles Rumor Based on 2 Cases

GODOLLO, Hungary, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Rumors of a measles quarantine in the British camp and the presence of a five foot bull snake from Texas caused excitement today at the fourth world jamboree of Boy Scouts. The quarantine rumors turned out to be based on the fact that two cases of German measles were discovered in the Scout encampment.

Good Morning!

It's neither lie nor exaggeration—I'm just thrilled to the core these days by the way things are looking up at the motion picture theaters!

DID you, by any chance, see the line at the Chicago yesterday? Almost around to the alley on Lake street! One MIGHT think that the much publicized Miss Sally Rand, who's presenting her fan dance on the Chicago stage, was the cause of it all had not happy conditions across the street at the State-Lake.

"Smiling Faces—Going Places!" one just last week run into the same sings fat Johnny Perkins, the current M. C., at the Chicago.

It's the truth—thank God!

Now, of course, the first thing you want to know about is that fan dance. Perfectly beautiful—as presented and lighted. Airy, exquisite, artistic! So adept is Miss Rand with her fans, so cunning the hand at the colored light switch, that you're good if you can tell where body starts and fans stop. The lady and her huge, softly waving plumes seem one. The dance is preceded by a charming and fully dressed dance by the Evans ballet and Miss Rand, assisted by the Biltmore boys. Then Johnny Perkins comes out and kids while Sally changes into her fans. The curtain goes up. On either side of a staircase on the darkened stage the Evans girls sing and sway. And presently down the stairs drifts something to stir the imagination and the pulses.

If there's anything indecent about the fan dance I couldn't see it. [I spotted a man in the audience who looked like Mayor Kelly around the eyes and nose, but, sure, hizzoner wouldn't be hiding behind a goatee . . . ?]

"Another Language" was SUCH a good play! It is a good picture without the "such." The former had "spark," perfect casting. It clicked from opening to closing scene. The latter has competent playing by players who did not strike me as being particularly well chosen for their rôles and it completely misses the electric appeal of the stage version.

The plot revolves about the difficulties an artistic and temperamental daughter-in-law has in becoming adjusted to her husband's family.

Mom, one of those gentle tyrants who are the most terrible of all, hates her with an awful, martyrdom disguised hate, and Mom has always had her way with her sons, who have never found her out as have her husband and daughters-in-law.

Under Mom's influence Victor changes from the ardent lover of honeymoon days into a dense husband who fails to discover the way the wind is blowing till his temperamental young nephew, Jerry, puts him through an eye opening experience . . . And so, and so . . .

As you know, Helen Hayes is, possibly, my favorite actress—and I like Robert Montgomery a lot. Both left me cold this trip. And what a PITY they could not have obtained Ellen E. Lowe to be the screen Helen!

The picture follows closely the action of the play, and settings are almost identical.

Harking back to the stage show—Tom Howard has a funny skit. Sort of a Chic Sales chap, you know—without a mustache.

Judge McGoorty Speaks at Loyola Graduation

Judge John P. McGoorty urged the development of a sense of responsibility for civic and national affairs in an address yesterday to graduates of the Loyola university summer school. The judge's niece, Mary Louise McPartlin, 6830 Paxton avenue, was one of the 56 graduates to receive their degrees from President Robert M. Kelley, S. J. The graduating exercises, during which 16 graduate and 40 bachelor degrees were distributed, lasted but 30 minutes.

Front Views and Profiles

THE one time in her life that Margaret Ayer Barnes, Pulitzer prize winner, blue blood and gayest of raconteurs, feels she really rose to an occasion occurred on the night boat recently going from Boston to Bar Harbor. Mrs. Barnes entered the dining room for breakfast and as she seated herself suddenly realized that the gentle looking white-haired man opposite, wearing a silver crucifix on a silver chain across his black waistcoat, was a Negro. She remained to eat her breakfast rather than change her place and risk offending him, and chatted a little with the minister. As she left the table she was stopped by a haughty lady, obviously of the best Boston abolitionist tradition, who expressed her surprise at Mrs. Barnes' behavior.

"You disgrace your race," she concluded.

Mrs. Barnes looked at her with affected surprise.

"But Ahm colored, too," she retorted.

MRS. BARNES adds that she is looking forward to encountering the woman at a Bar Harbor dinner party one day and having her leave the table when she sees her.

COCKTAIL parties and little tea-time gatherings go on apace, undisturbed by the hectic life that floods the town. Paul Kirby, the young British conductor who wields a distinguished baton in Vienna was the reason for the gay little gathering at Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank's. Guests were torn between going to the dining-room windows to look out at the garden, which Janet Fairbank graded, sowed, planted and weeded herself, now aglow with gardenias and exotic lilies, and the drawing-windows to look at the truck parked at the curb. It was the truck in which Shepard Vogelgesang and his sister Zenaide were starting toward the White mountains, immediately after tea, and it was piled high with furniture and luggage, canvas-covered and roped down, until it looked like a covered wagon. After trips to the windows, the guests returned to cluster about Mrs. Fairbank, in town just for the day from Geneva, dispensing hospitality behind a large tray.

THEN there was the cocktail party Dr. Edouard Kulikowski, the charming young Polish vice consul, gave yesterday afternoon for his friend, Prince Stanislaw Czetwertynski. It was small and gay, with hors d'œuvres with a Polish influence and amazingly good cocktails made with rum. Prince Czetwertynski and Dr. Kulikowski were friends for three years at the diplomatic school in Paris. He is a member of one of the first families in Poland, if not the first, and upon his arrival in Evanston, where he and his American wife, who is a Cincinnati girl, are stopping, a story was printed in the Evanston paper saying he was the pretender to the Polish throne. It happened that the prince saw, in a Chicago paper, a picture of his friend Kulikowski and called at the Polish consulate to see him. In the meantime, as part of his official duty, Dr. Kulikowski had been quietly checking up on the arrival of a Polish prince said to be a pretender to the throne. And two old friends found one another.

A PATHETIC little tale concerns the artist who trudged down to Grant Park Art fair from the far north side carrying a bundle of his pictures for exhibition. Learning that he had to be "juried," he walked away while a jury of artists passed on his work.

"Am I in?" he inquired anxiously when he returned.

Assured that his work had been accepted, he collapsed at the feet of the jury, in a faint from fatigue, hunger, and excitement. Meanwhile the jury discovered that it was not his work that had been passed, but another artist's. His had been rejected. However, the jury was unable to tell him the truth and he is hopefully exhibiting anyhow.

NOTE for fussy readers. We are contrite about the "true" story printed here the other day—the one about the doctor and the servant girl, which turns out to be probably the oldest joke known to mankind, judging from the complaints in the mail. All we can say is we trusted the contributor, who said it was true. The latest letter about the matter reads:

"In fact, I heard it embodied in song by a veteran trouper who end-manned for a forgotten minstrel show. Here is the chorus, sung to the tune of 'My Little Girl': [We've never heard of that tune, either!]

"My little girl, you know you're not sick,

Simples Lines Presented in Paris Shows

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The first gun in a war against Victorian "fussiness" was fired at today's fashion shows when Mme. Elsa Schiaparelli launched models of extreme simplicity influenced by Chinese designs and art.

The designer, declaring she had been impressed by the "placidity of the Chinese" and desired to give the same influence to clothes, displayed coats simply cut like coolie and mandarin coats and frocks trimmed with Chinese designs. The collection was announced as based on the idea that simplicity followed the slender silhouette with normal waistline and skirt lengths and widened shoulders.

Fabrics included rich quilted taffetas, deeply crinkled crêpes, and wools in such colors as bright Peiping red, dark Betel red, bright Cathay blue, light Celeste blue, Gobi beige and Tibetan brown.

A dark blue wool ensemble had a three-quarter length coat hanging loose like a coolie's coat, a small fur collar and bright red lining. It was accompanied by a blue knit Chinese hat.

A black quilted taffeta suit had a jacket with the neckline edged in black ribbon and patterned with white Chinese figures.

BAILEY'S 25 WEST VAN BUREN HALF BLOCK WEST OF STATE

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training, rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough. He and Schewan, his chief, plot to trick Rhoda out of a fortune. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. She has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt, Garrick determines to settle the matter in his own way. His solicitor tells him that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda. Garrick hires Alf, a farmhand out of work, as a helper and buys his silence. One of the gang is shot during an encounter in Garrick's home and the police suspect Garrick. After a series of narrow escapes from the police and Schewan's gang, Rhoda finds shelter in the home of a Mrs. Tarranio and her cousin, Gus Esdale. Rhoda believes they are friends of her uncle. Garrick suspects the couple have designs on Rhoda's property and, therefore, will shield her. They discourage his visiting Rhoda and his messages to her are intercepted. A faked announcement of Garrick's wedding to another is shown to Rhoda. Mrs. Tarranio suggests that Rhoda marry Gus to save her from returning to the asylum. Rhoda rejects the abhorent idea, so Mrs. Tarranio bargains with Schewan. She is about to be taken back to the asylum, when Garrick's solicitor arrives and proves that the legal twenty-eight days have elapsed, and he takes Rhoda to the home of Garrick's aunt, Lady Carstairs. Garrick, still under suspicion of murder, calls on Maitland and bluffs him into revealing important information. Schewan arrives and calls Scotland Yard.

INSTALLMENT XLVIII.

A FIGHT TO THE FINISH.

Garrick got up as three Yard men, headed by Detective-Inspector Lanport, came into the room.

"Hullo, Mr. Lanport!" said Garrick, as if he were very pleased to see him. "I've got something for you and I think you'll be pleased. Those carbines that have given you such a lot of trouble—you know, the one that killed Lawson—and those that were dumped in that warehouse of mine. Schewan bought them, with silencers fitted, from——" He consulted the note on his shirt cuff—"Freeman & Waldect, Chicago. They were shipped on the Hildegonda—Capt. Benson. Schewan gave Benson a check for two hundred for his trouble—you'll be able to trace that through Schewan's bank."

His last words fell in complete silence. The whole group had frozen—they looked like figures in a photograph—for quite suddenly the whole situation had changed. George was nearest to the door. In front of him were the two detectives—and near the window, Dorling. On Garrick's right were Maitland and Schewan, with Lanport opposite him.

Garrick had the impression that Lanport did not quite like the situation. The detective spoke tactfully.

"I daresay Mr. Schewan has his own explanation of that," he said. "And if he'll be good enough to come along with us to the Yard, together with the others, we'll go into the matter thoroughly."

"I've got an explanation right enough!" growled Schewan, and turned to Maitland. "You told Garrick when he was cooped up in here with you."

The blow had been aimed at the solar plexus—but Garrick just managed to take it in the ribs.

In Schewan's voice there was such utter conviction that Maitland could not deny it.

"I tell you he bluffed me, Schewan—pretended that everything had been found out and that——"

"And be paid you?"

"O, no. I swear he didn't! Only a hundred pounds."

"A hundred pounds! To help you get away before any of us got the tip? . . . Well, you're not going to get away, you white livered squealer!"

The crack of Schewan's revolver startled and shocked everybody, including Garrick. And there could be no doubt as to Maitland's fate.

Lanport, in the act of rushing forward, was held at the point of Schewan's revolver.

"Your regulations don't require you to run into certain death," shouted Schewan. "I've got no quarrel with the police—but I damn soon will have if you don't get out of my way. Hop it!"

Garrick saw that Lanport did not intend to hop it—and sprang like a cat. Before he landed the edge of his left palm had cut at the muzzle of Schewan's revolver, while his right cut on the outer side of Schewan's wrist. The revolver came away without barking and fell to the floor at his feet.

Behind him Dorling fired once—twice. Garrick was betrayed into glancing over his shoulder—saw that the two plain clothes men had fallen and that Lanport had rushed to attack Dorling—then turned back a fraction of a second too late to escape a gigantic lunge from Schewan.

The blow had been aimed at the solar plexus—but Garrick just managed to take it in the ribs. It was the heaviest blow Garrick had ever taken in his life and for the moment all the strength had gone out of him. There came another crack from Dorling's gun. Then the slamming of the door—while Garrick and Schewan looked into each other's eyes.

"He's got me in the leg, Mr. Garrick, and he's either killed or wounded my two men."

Garrick was holding his breath—lest Schewan should discover the damage done by the blow. If Schewan had only known it he could have landed another blow then and easily picked up the revolver which was a couple of inches from Garrick's feet.

Garrick drove a straight left at Schewan. It was a feeble blow and did no real damage, though it landed on the nose and drew a little blood.

"Take this gun, Lanport!" cried Garrick, and with his foot sent it flying across the room.

There came a snort of triumph from Schewan. Garrick could not see what had happened, but Lanport's words told him.

"I can't—it's buzzed under that armchair."

No luck, no chance, now, of a quick finish! Never mind! Garrick was getting back his breath and with it his strength.

Schewan seemed to sense his advantage then, for he came forward with a rush. Garrick sidestepped and shook him with a moderate punch on the neck that drove him towards the fireplace. He was not yet sure enough of himself to follow up with a knockout. But he was still between Schewan and the wounded man about the door.

Schewan's first object was to get away and he kept his head.

"What's the good of scrapping with me?" he demanded. "You're out of this now, kid! You're not spiteful, are you?"

"Hellishly spiteful!—every time I remember that you injected hilvanium into Miss Fairclough and had her certified as a lunatic." Quite suddenly Garrick felt his full strength had returned.

"If he gets hold of that revolver he'll kill us all to destroy evidence," groaned Lanport.

"He won't get that revolver," said Garrick. "He and I are going to settle up now."

Schewan snatched up a poker and rushed in. Garrick landed with his left foot in the stomach and Schewan went down—but Garrick knew well that he was not out. It was a breathing space and no more.

Maitland was dead. Dorling and George had got away. The three Yard men now lay wounded and helpless. Schewan, on the floor, but undamaged.

Garrick was thinking of the parquet flooring and of a big rug in the center of the floor. Before Schewan had risen Garrick had whipped off his shoes and socks. Garrick was ready.

He made a feint dive at Schewan, swerved away, then caught up the edge of the rug and flung it back. There was now a space of parquet flooring in the middle of the room rather more than half the size of a boxing ring.

Schewan was on his feet, holding the poker lightly in the middle, relying on a twist of the wrist and a deadly jab with either end of the poker.

Garrick was standing on the edge of the cleared space—Schewan was advancing slowly from the direction of the fireplace. Garrick knew then he could not dodge that jab from the poker—and one jab might be fatal to them all. He put his hand in his trouser pocket. Inside were three half-crowns.

He flung the coins in Schewan's face, knowing that it would do no more than make him blink—but the blink was quite enough. He grabbed the poker and twisted it free, but as it was wrenched from his grip Schewan got his arms round Garrick's ribs, imprisoning both arms. Then the man's colossal strength of grip was brought into play over Garrick's bruised ribs.

Garrick could, he supposed, last about thirty seconds more and then he would inevitably faint, for once he let his breath go he could never get it again. Then he tried a gambit.

He leant back in the grip, deliberately exposing his throat. Then he used the last of his breath for a taunt.

"You're very strong, Gorilla! But you learnt your wrestling from a stable boy, didn't you!"

It was the tone of voice that did it. It was anything but the voice of a man whose life is being crushed out. It conveyed that the pressure round the ribs had accomplished absolutely nothing. Instantly Schewan shifted his grip to the throat.

The collar offered a little protection, as did the throat muscles. . . . The thumbs were stronger and broke down the resistance—but not before Garrick had drawn a breath.

He tried for the other's throat—but the Gorilla was well named. His arms were long enough to hold Garrick off. Garrick caught the lapels of his coat and thrust forward as if he would push Schewan back into the fireplace. Schewan used all his strength against Garrick's thrust—and then in a flash the fight was over.

Raspberry Ice Makes Perfect August Dessert

Colorful and Tempting but Not Too Heavy.

BY MARY MEADE.

Questions and answers have the floor once more in an effort to settle two or three problems of the kitchen that have been worrying as many culinary artists. It may be that these same sticklers have been bothering you, too, so we are giving them space in our column.

Mr. A. R. H. asks: "Do you advise using cake flour for best results in baking cakes?"

Yes, Mr. H. Even when a cake recipe does not specify cake flour it is usually intended that it should be used. There is a lower percentage of gluten in cake flour than in bread flour, and that gluten, in addition, is more delicate and pliable and produces a lighter, more tender cake.

Mrs. S. C. requests a recipe for raspberry ice. Here is the recipe, Mrs. C., for such an ice and it is to be made in the automatic refrigerator. It is delightful as a hot weather dessert:

RASPBERRY ICE.

1 qt. fresh raspberries
1 cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup water
1-3 cup orange juice
4 egg whites

Crush the berries with the sugar. Add the salt and cook for three minutes. Remove from the burner and add the water slowly. Strain through a sieve to remove the seeds and cool. Add the orange juice, pour into a refrigerator tray, and freeze until almost firm. Then remove the frozen mixture from the tray, whip until light, and add the stiffly beaten egg whites. Return to the refrigerator tray and finish freezing.

And Mrs. F. S. T. writes: "Will you please give me the directions for making maple sirup from pure maple sugar?" We'll be glad, to, Mrs. T.:

MAPLE SUGAR SIRUP.

2 cups shaved maple sugar
2-3 cup boiling water

Pour boiling water on the scraped maple sugar and stir until the sugar is completely dissolved. Boil until clear (without stirring) and allow to cool before using it.

The last letter is from Mrs. T. R. S., who is searching for a recipe for mustard beans. She says: "My mother used to make such delicious ones, but I can't find the recipe":

MUSTARD BEANS.

1 peck green beans
3 pints vinegar
4 cups sugar
1 cup ground mustard
1 cup flour
3 tbsp. celery seed
1 tsp. turmeric

Cut the beans in one-inch pieces, boil them in salted water until tender, and drain them thoroughly. Combine the rest of the ingredients and let them boil until thick. Then add the beans to the thickened vinegar-spice mixture and mix thoroughly. Pour into clean, sterile jars and seal air tight.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

CLASS DAY.

"Well, well, my dear," Prof. Fordney said to his young friend and hostess, Lynn Hall, as he handed his hat and stick to the butler, "how charming you look this evening!"

Slim, blonde, blue-eyed Lynn had worked with him on several cases where judgment, discretion, and the feminine touch was called for, and she had come through with flying colors.

"None of your blarney, now, Uncle Joe," she bantered, taking him by the hand.

"From here," he said as they walked down the long hall of the luxurious apartment, "it appears as if you've rounded up all the social lions of the North Shore."

"Indeed? Well, Mr. Professor, you eagerly awaiting the great criminola are the lion tonight. Every one's eagerly awaiting the great criminologist and to hear some of his exploits. Now don't say no!"

As Fordney was ready to depart, Lynn pleaded, "Just one more before you go . . . please."

The professor couldn't resist the appeal of his little friend. "Well," he said, "we've had enough of crime tonight so I'll explain a little game, Lynn, that may amuse you and your guests. Select three of them," he continued, "turn out the lights and I will place a little red mark on the foreheads of two . . . quite without their knowledge. When the lights are turned on each of the three who sees one of these marks will start whistling and continue to do so until the first one realizing he bears a mark will stop whistling."

"Now, Uncle Joe," exclaimed Lynn, "how in the world can that be done?"

Young Visitor Tells Charms of Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Lillian Bow, Clara's 11 year old niece from Brooklyn, is angry at Aunt Clara and she's going back to Ma Bow and Brooklyn by herself on the train. Why Lillian decided she can't get along with Aunt Clara is a story in itself. But there's another story in the contrast between Lillian and her twin brother—Johnny. Both youngsters were brought west by Clara to grow up in the sunshine about a year ago. They have different temperaments.

Johnny is 100 per cent for Aunt Clara. Johnny wanted his hair to grow pompadour. So Clara gave him an old stocking and cut off the top of it and Johnny made a cap of it. He was playing yesterday in the Benedict canyon district where "Bo-Bell"—the Clara Bow-Rex Bell estate—is located. Johnny was wearing his overalls, his newly made cap—and a dirty face.

Another little chap, clothed spic and span, eyed Johnny: "That's a funny looking cap you got."

Johnny's retort was scornful. "Listen, punk. That cap was made out of one of Clara Bow's stockings and how many guys in the United States have got a cap made out of Clara Bow's stockings?"

The adventures of Clara and Lillian took a turn toward the frigid when Lillian smacked her brother in the face with a piece of rope. Clara spanked Lillian. Lillian said: "All right, I am going home to my mother. Nobody likes me out here."

The truth of the matter, according to Clara's other cousin, Bill Bow, who is a studio mechanic at Fox, is that Lillian got homesick for her mother. But the debate about her departure included the entire family circle at Bo-Bell.

Said Johnny: "Lillian, you oughtn't go 'way. You'll start eatin' white bread again. You'll forget to brush your teeth at night. That won't be good for your health"—and, turning to a listener-in from this newspaper, Johnny said: "Won't it make her unhealthy, mister? Say, I told Aunt Clara if she tried to send me home, I'd jump off the train. It's much better 'n Brooklyn here, because everything is full of health, and sunshine, and trees, and flowers, and we have the swimming pool here."

So Lillian allowed she would probably come back west in a month.

Beach Party to Mark Birthdays.

About fifty of the young married crowd, friends of the John C. Evanses and the Everett L. Wymans, have been looking forward to this evening for many weeks. Today is the birthday of Mrs. Evans and Mr. Wyman, and their usual joint birthday party is to be given. This year it is a beach supper on the beach of Mrs. Wyman's father, Clayton Mark, in Lake Forest.

"A Night in Japan," read the invitations sent out by the Knollwood club for its party tonight, which starts at 9 o'clock around the swimming pool and continues until 2 with dancing and supper. A very Japanese night it is going to be, too; for, besides a Japanese girl dancer and Japanese musicians in a sampan on the water, there will be a lovely little bridge, just like those in Yokohama gardens, built across the pool.

The Barrington Hills Country club is providing excitement and fun tonight with a supper dance. Miss Betty Gillies will be hostess to the whole of her former class at North Shore Country Day school. Her special guest is Miss Ann Taylor of Fort Thomas, Ky., who arrived in town yesterday to spend a week or so with Miss Gillies and her parents, the James C. Gillieses, in Winnetka.

Commander and Mrs. Eugene F. MacDonald will entertain at another of their delightful Sunday yachting parties tomorrow afternoon. The Mizpah will leave its Monroe street anchorage at 2 o'clock and return at 6.

A north shore wedding this afternoon is that of Miss Melanie Truman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percival H. Truman of Evanston, to Charles Frederick Bullard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Bullard of Elmira, N. Y.

The service will be read at 5:30 o'clock in the chapel of St. John the Divine at the Western Theological seminary in Evanston by Dr. Percy C. Norwood.

Miss Malcolm Carr will attend Miss Truman as maid of honor and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Francis Truman, will be her matron of honor. Miss Polly Bullard, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Edith Pratt of Williamstown, Mass., are to be her two bridesmaids.

Mr. Bullard will be served by Wilson Hamilton of Caledonia, N. Y., as best man.

After a wedding trip Mr. Bullard and his bride are to make their home in Rochester, N. Y.

Glee Wright to Leave Tuesday.

Friends of the vivacious, attractive Glee Louise Viles Wright [Mrs. Redmond S.] are remonstrating with her because she insists on leaving Chicago Tuesday to return to New York, which means that she will spend practically no time at all here. But as the trip was very suddenly decided upon by Mrs. Wright, who hastened to New York from her villa on Cap d'Antibes to be with her mother because of the serious illness of her stepfather, Albert L. Smith, who is still in a hospital, and as Mrs. Wright is returning in November, she feels that she mustn't linger too long this time. She sails Aug. 19 on the Rex directly to Cannes, where she will join her husband and small daughter at Cap d'Antibes.

Crilly Butler arrived home yesterday after being away for many months, writing scenarios in Hollywood and traveling around the world. The two young men, John Arledge and George Kennedy, who accompanied him on his globe-circling four months' trip are arriving today. They will all remain a month in Winnetka with Mr. Butler's parents, the Rush Clark Butlers, before returning to Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Dana M. Dawes and their baby of Newark, O., are visiting Mr. Dawes' parents, the Charles Gates Dawes, in Evanston. Mrs. Charles Dawes does not know how long they are going to be here, so no definite plans for entertaining them have been made.

St. Patrick's Parish at Lake Forest Will Mark Centenary Today

The centenary of St. Patrick's Catholic parish in Lake Forest is to be celebrated today and tomorrow on the rolling lands of Louis F. Swift's estate, which Clifford M. Leonard has taken for this summer.

Because of the planked roads leading to the church, which was founded in 1830, it was originally called "The Corduroy." The Most Rev. Joseph Rosati, bishop of St. Louis, celebrated the first mass that winter and the first white child born in Lake county was baptized at the church six months later. The first burial in the grave yard was that of a little child, Patrick Carolan, who died in 1832.

Chanel Features Suit of Organdie for Summer Wear

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—There is no one who knows better how to put fashions at their ease in polite society than Chanel. Not that she ever allows them to become négligé, but her clothes never have that awkward dressed up air of the yokel in his Sunday suit that casts such a damper over everybody's enjoyment of the party.

Her new embroidered suits, like the one in our drawing today, illustrate my point. What could be simpler or easier to wear—and yet daintier and more dressy in the smartest sense? Chanel is featuring these suits in pastel colors for summer races, polo matches and so on, where they look ever so much more in the picture than trailing, frilly frocks that are all right as long as one keeps on the grass, but get frightfully bedraggled in the dust of the pesage.

This particular one is in sky blue organdie, embroidered all over with a fine tracery of white. The jacket buttons down the front with blue organdie buttons and the belt is of the same fabric. Pockets jut out on the hips in a typical Chanel line, and there are similar pockets on the hips of the smooth bell skirt also. The white organdie blouse is made gay by a ripply collar and cuffs of bias organdie folds, recalling the ripply visor brim of the white organdie hat that has a tricky folded bow arrangement hiding all but one or two distracting curls at the back.

Chanel has a ravishing suit of the same persuasion in pale pink voile, embroidered in white, worn with a blouse of plain pink organdie having a wide turndown collar and catty bow tie. Some of her smartest clients prefer it in lily bud green. Organdie gloves naturally accompany these costumes.

Sally and Her Guests to Meet Buddy Rogers at Film Showing Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The long awaited day has finally arrived, boys and girls! Today's the day we go to the Hotel Sherman for a very thrilling afternoon. First of all we'll see a special screening of "Best of Enemies," Buddy Rogers' latest film, and then we'll meet the star of the film. I guess the fortunate youngsters who are the proud possessors of invitations will have something to talk about for a long time to come.

Tomorrow's TRIBUNE will contain the list of boys and girls who wrote winning letters for the circus party. It will also bring news of our next party, which will be most interesting—so you'd better not miss the announcement.

THE STAGE

A girl whose face and figure are making her fortune is among the celebrities of the new vaudeville bills. She is Eleanor Holm, the swimming beauty of the last Olympic games, who made her stage debut at the Palace theater yesterday. She is a vivid young creature with a flashing smile, worth seeing in spite of her immaturity as an entertainer. The film magnates, no doubt, will turn her into a heroine after she has completed her course of training for the cinema adventure that has been promised to her.

Miss Holm appears several times, in several dresses, to exchange remarks with Milton Berle, the Palace's long-run comic talker. She also sings a popular ditty well enough—better, anyhow, than Babe Didricksen. She refrains from bathing suits and swan dives, because such use of her athletic prowess would ruin her amateur standing with the A. A. U.

Willie and Eugene Howard, stars of Broadway revues for twenty years, contribute strongly to the amusement at the Palace. And brash young Mr. Berle, as usual, is all over the place.

Jane Cowl will begin an engagement in a new version of "Camille" [her own] in the Tremont theater, Boston, next Monday night. Rollo Peters will be her leading man.—C. C.

Don't Try to Fit the Child to a Pattern

Train Him to Develop His Own Talents.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I met her on a boat long ago. She told me all about it herself. About her problem and her disappointment.

"There is only one kind of man I like and understand," she said, "that is the very virile, masculine man, either the practical business man type or the sportsman or the man of social graces. I have always thought that when I had a boy he would be strong and athletic and popular, and grow into the kind of man I like and understand.

"Well, I have a son. Have you seen him? Then, you can see that he is as different as can be from my ideal—because that is what it was—an ideal. I can't really understand him—and try as I will not to be, I am disappointed. It makes it hard for him and hard for me . . ."

I had seen the little boy. He was a slim almost fragile looking, quiet child with large thoughtful eyes, and a fine broad brow. I suppose one would describe his whole expression as spiritual. Nothing could have been much further from his mother's ideal of a son than he, though every one else in the boat was drawn by the quality of the child.

Many parents have a quite definite image of what they want their children to be. Some mothers want above all things to have their daughters pretty and popular; some fathers want their sons to be perfect physical specimens surpassing at sports, while others want them to excel in intellectual pursuits. Some parents, as soon as they know they are going to have a baby, picture a little child as good, clean and docile—a perfect little lady or gentleman.

Then, when nature, who goes her own way regardless of human desires, presents them with a child utterly different from their conception, they are disappointed. Sometimes they are not conscious of this disappointment but it affects their attitude, nevertheless. Their dissatisfaction will show itself, somehow—either in an effort to make the child over to fit their pattern, or in a critical or fault finding attitude.

Try and accept your child as he is. Nature has plans for him. He has his place in the scheme of things. Of course, give him opportunities to be a healthy, happy well rounded child, but be willing to have him the kind of child he is. Try to understand him so that he can grow and develop in harmony with his own personality and individuality.

Wives Write to Doris About Chilly Mates

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She's married for twenty months and this is what she reports:

"My husband does not kiss me. Never gives me a present. Never tells me he loves me. It's darned discouraging slaving away on a job and keeping house, too, for a man who can't say a nice thing to you."

Darned discouraging is right!

Mrs. J. N. reports in the same mail her experience with the tongue-tied mate. She was a widow who had known the companionship of a loving mate. The second one treats her like a housekeeper, she says. Outside of a peck on the cheek when he is going away, she never gets any sign of love. A cold statue of a man, she calls him. A miserable substitute in marriage, she accuses.

We don't know whether the arctic season is on with husbands, but a third cheated woman tells of her icy, wordless mate.

All good wives apparently, with no thought of up and leaving their icebergs. Yet not resigned to the chilly atmosphere by a long shot.

Wonder if husbands realize what a lonesome sort of job housework is! If they thought of this angle they might better realize what a bit of love and flattery means. Give a woman a good hearty kiss and a word that she is the best ever and her day is lightened. Give her nothing but a cold peck once in a long while and leave her alone with her own self and pretty soon you have a neurotic on your hands!

What's the matter with you gentlemen, anyway? The cheapest thing you can give a woman, the dearest thing to her—and you hold out as if it were a million she was asking for! You men are out and around all day getting a kick out of your work and the people you run into during the day. The woman is behind at home, probably facing a greasy dishwashing job, cleaning, mending. It is discouraging for her, doing this sort of work day after day, day after day—and never a word of encouragement, a kiss, a hug. Heaven only knows your sex isn't notorious for its lack of urge in this direction when you're trying to land a woman. Why the cold pall that settles once you've got her tied?

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—The secretary of the navy and Mrs. Swanson and a small company of guests left today by motor for the Rapidan camp to spend the week-end.

The attorney general, Homer S. Cummings, left yesterday to join Mrs. Cummings in their home in Greenwich. They will spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Bonham at their place, Walhalla, Riverside, Conn.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Thomas T. Craven, formerly of Chicago, who have taken possession of their country place at Wardour, Md., near Annapolis, have as guests their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Craven Jr., of Easton, Md., and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rodman Drake de Kaye of Port Washington, L. I., who are all there for the wedding tomorrow of Miss Olga Craven, younger daughter of the admiral, and Lionel Glenn Anderson.

Mrs. Wallace, wife of the secretary of agriculture, was the guest for whom Mrs. Charles J. Brand entertained at luncheon today. Among other guests were Mrs. Hugh S. Johnson, and Mrs. George N. Peek of Chicago.

The Spanish ambassador and Señora De Cardenas entertained at dinner tonight in compliment to the new naval attaché of the United States embassy in Madrid, Lieutenant Commander Leo Howlett Thebaud and Mrs. Thebaud. Lieutenant Commander Thebaud also will have duties as naval attaché of the embassy in Paris.

BOOKS

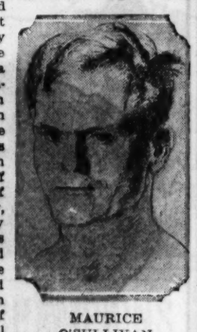
Writes Story of Own Life on Blasket Island

Communal Life Described by Young Irishman.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Twenty Years A-Growing," by Maurice O'Sullivan. [Viking.]

THE sage who said that every man has at least one book in him—the story of his life—ought to nod his head happily in whatever Valhalla he inhabits over "Twenty Years A-Growing." It is the record of the first twenty years of the life of a young Irishman now on the Dublin police force—years spent on an island off the coast of Kerry, where only Gaelic was spoken and where life was savored in the rich fullness of elemental beauty.



MAURICE O'SULLIVAN.

Maurice O'Sullivan, born on the Great Blasket island—the only one of the group which is inhabited—was sent to the mainland when he was a very young child because his mother died when he was "only half a year old; dear God, bless her soul and the souls of the dead," he writes, and his memories begin with his fourth year, when his world was that of the school where he boarded and his horror the schoolmistress "who was as gray as a badger, with two tusks of teeth hanging down over her lip, and if she wasn't cross, it wasn't day yet."

In that school he was taught English, so that when he was taken as a little boy back to the Blasket, he had to learn the only language which was spoken there, Gaelic. But so truly was Gaelic his native language that when he came to tell the story of his life he chose to write it in that language, and the book comes to us in translation. [With, one might add, heartfelt encomiums from E. M. Forster, who in an introductory note explains that the reader may well say that the book is unique, for "he is about to read an account of neolithic civilization from the inside. Synge and others have described it from the outside, and very sympathetically, but I know of no other instance where it has become vocal and addressed modernity."]

According to Mr. Forster, the author is "pleased that his book should be translated," but "his main care is for the Irish original, because it will be read on the Blasket. They will appreciate it there more than we can, for whom the wit and poetry must be veiled. On the other hand, we are their superiors in astonishment. They cannot possibly be as much surprised as we are, for here is the egg of a sea bird—lovely, perfect, and laid this very morning."

"Lovely—perfect . . ." it is filled with the same lusciously rich phrases that have made the best of the literature of the Irish renaissance memorable, phrases which do more than describe facts, phrases which imply so much more than they state. The facts are simple, homely ones, of "neolithic" life, of fishing, of hunting, of the discovery of strange, terrifying creatures—like the crayfish which seemed to its first discoverers to be the devil himself in a new form.

An almost communal life fills the pages, remote, wholly, from the life of the rest of the world. To them the war was only a lavish gift of the sea. Ships torpedoed off the Irish coast cast their cargoes onto the waters and the men and women of the Blasket had to their very hands such riches as they had never before dreamed of, luxuries which, not being a reading community, they had never even read about. Maurice O'Sullivan was a boy when the sea brought fortune to his native island and in a few of his pages there lives a strange phase of the war which no other person who has put pen to paper has recorded.

However fascinating the story which the author tells, it is his manner of telling and his love of his native island that will make "Twenty Years A-Growing" a find for jaded readers. He was a smart boy—his reply to the doctor who examined him for his policeman's job shows that. "'O, you are as sound as a herring,' said he. 'It is no wonder,' said I, 'for I was born and bred in their company.'"

Birds, fish, mountains, fern, are as vivid and alive to him as are his fellow men. He loves them all and his memories are a sort of pantheistic pæan of praise. He lived a youth filled to its utmost with the joy of the sea, the sun, and the companionship of God's creatures and he has been able to capture in an idyllic prose the idyll of that youth.

At the end of the book on his first looking into a theater in Dublin he says: "Without any nonsense it took my senses from me. Stars came before my eyes with the sight. . . . Wonderful is the power of man! We went up a staircase as twisty as a corkscrew and my delight was so great that I thought of heaven. If it would be as fine as this, it were worth fighting and getting sudden death for it."

Many readers will find "Twenty Years A-Growing" almost as great a delight as his first theater was to the author.

"Twenty Years A-Growing" by a lucky chance fell into the hands of a young Oxford student. It was translated into English, came to the attention of E. M. Forster, was chosen by the Book Society of London, and comes now to America as the August choice of the Book of the Month club

"Prison Days, Nights" Is Story of Twelve Years Spent in Jail

"Prison Days and Nights," by Victor F. Nelson [Little-Brown], has caused no end of comment. It is an autobiographical record of the twelve and one-half years in jail which the author has spent out of his total thirty-four. One prominent prison official declares [in a private letter to the publishers] that the book should never have been published; that it is absolutely worthless to the penologist.

But it is highly commended by such nationally known penologists as Sheldon Glueck, professor of criminology at Harvard university; Dr. George W. Kirchwey of the New York School of Social Work—a former warden of Sing Sing—and Frank Tannenbaum of the Brookings institute, who wrote "Wall Shadows: A Study of American Prisons."

Mr. Nelson's disclosures are startling and vivid and tell the lay reader much that he never even suspected about prison life. H. L. Mencken wrote a letter to the author in which he said that in the last six years he has read the manuscripts of half a dozen books on prison life written by prisoners and fifty eyewitness articles, but "yours is the best, and by far."

London Ready to Cheer for New Humorist

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON — [Special Correspondence.]—A new humorous novel of which the publishers have very high hopes indeed is published in London. It is the work of Geoffrey Dearmer, son of Canon Dearmer [better known to readers as the Rev. Percy Dearmer] and it is called "Saint on Holiday." Mr. Dearmer is already known as a poet and dramatist, but this is his first novel. If it proves to be, as is said, the work of a "new humorist," it will be rapturously welcomed by an unhappy public, grieved beyond measure by a new series of gloomy pictures of our hard times.

I am told that the only novel of the day which is having a ready steady booksellers' sale is Miss Helen Waddell's "Abelard"; but this work is being subjected to some criticism on the ground of sentimentality by one—Miss Margaret R. B. Shaw—whose scholarship is beyond cavil in matters of medieval research, although her own work has become known chiefly in relation to Laurence Sterne and other eighteenth century studies.

A spirited debate is taking place between Miss Shaw and Miss Waddell in the pages of the New English Weekly; and it is a model of what such a debate should be, since it is conducted with force and courtesy such as less learned writers rarely employ.

I have been reading the new book, not a novel, by Horace Annesley Vachell, one of our perennially young authors (he is 73), called "This Was England." It is a delightful work. The author loves the face of England, and he loves the history of the old quiet towns known to all of us by name. And so he has written a sort of journal, month by month throughout the year, into which he has thrown all sorts of antiquarian knowledge in the most charming manner. For browsing, or as a companion in a leisurely tour of England, this book should be especially agreeable.

The sale has been completed of an important batch of letters written once a week by Arnold Bennett to his nephew, Richard Bennett. Richard Bennett originally planned to publish a collection of these letters, which were written very frankly and which contain details of Arnold Bennett's life not otherwise made public; but, although it has been announced that the letters will be published after sale, I am told that there is an absolute ban upon the publication of any letters at all written by Arnold Bennett.

Nor does there seem to be any immediate likelihood of the publication of further "literary remains," although several suggestions for a book of Bennett's later criticisms have been made. Richard Bennett, the only son of Arnold's elder brother, Frank, was educated at Arnold Bennett's expense, both at Oundle school and Cambridge university.

PLAN TO PUT IDLE IN CAMPS STIRS NEW ZEALANDERS

Husbands Protest Plan; Riots Feared.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Aug. 4.—Throughout New Zealand resistance is crystallizing to the government's plans to force all married men without jobs into relief camps. National organizations of the unemployed are approaching the administration and demanding that recent cuts in the dole be restored.

From the mountains beyond Nelson City a whole corps of miners abandoned their search for gold bearing dirt and marched into the city as a protest against the government's policy. It took two days to reach Nelson and it wa sfeared the miners would riot. But the demonstrators proceeded in orderly fashion through the streets. They held a meeting at which they condemned the government's policy.

Police Check Demonstration.

In the capital, Wellington, where processions are banned by order of the police department and where graduates of university were not allowed to stage their annual street show on diploma day, an attempt to demonstrate by "driblets" was made Idle men and women streamed into the city from all quarters, but their demonstration was checked by the police.

In Wellington and Auckland, where memories of last year's riots remain vivid and property owners know just what the police failure cost them in the orgy of destruction that came with mob rule, special defense organizations have been created. These bodies, it is declared, will throw thousands of equipped men into the streets within an hour.

In the both cities the task of planning against possible attacks by mobs has resulted in a complete scheme of defense.

In Christ church, where last year a street railroad strike was marked by riots and clubbings, a demonstration took place against the camps for married men and the police stood quietly by. Thousands of men massed in Latimer square, while the uniformed force picketed the place to oppose any attempt to break through into the important business blocks. The police adopted as their motto the words of Sir James Parr, legislative council leader and prominent government member, who said, "If they must demonstrate let it be in the side streets."

Pushes Winter Camp Plan.

Meanwhile, the government is pushing its plan to place all married men who cannot be given jobs in the cities in camps for the rest of the winter. An extra camp is to be established near Ashburton for the idle husbands. They are to be separated from their families and paid at a rate of around $7 a week minimum, it is declared. The men distrust the pay rates because that single men, promised a minimum of $2.50 in addition to their keep if they entered camp, found themselves unable to earn more than a few cents a week.

The battle against the camps goes forward is also being led by women's organizations.

Practically every important woman's organization in the country has forwarded protests to the government at this "threat to the home." It is estimated that more than 30,000 homes are affected by the administration's move, although a much smaller total would be actually affected because it is the men who cannot be "economically employed around the cities who are to be sent to camp."

This battle is accompanied by another of a different kind. Having taxed the nation to provide idle relief, the government now proposes to enter the manufacturing business in a big way. It plans to issue boots to the idle. If the men have been employed on relief works for 26 weeks they will receive a pair of boots free, and a man will be able to square his account by working one extra day.

Boot Stores Object.

Twenty thousand pairs of boots are to be issued at first. The boot stores, which view the plan as virtual extinction of their business, are protesting vigorously. The state, they complain, in buying footwear on a large scale and selling it to workers for cost price or less, will be padlocking the stores.

"It is the thin edge of the wedge," said a shopkeeper. "Before long everything the people eat and wear may be handled in the same way. It is a touch of soviet Russia.."

The class of boots which the state is to supply the idle is that for which there is the greatest demand and on which the storekeepers make their steadiest profit. But the administration replies that it seeks merely to stimulate the boot industry, and that more than 40,000 new purchasers will be added to their list of customers. It cites as a reason the government credit to men on relief work for more than half a year.

Ambassador Cudahy Leaves to Take New Post in Poland

Galesburg Family Makes Home in Bear Den at Zoo

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—A den in the Lincoln Park zoo here, formerly occupied by bears, has been taken over as living quarters by Tom Reynolds and his family of seven. The family, including a three months old baby, eats and sleeps in the cave and uses the cement enclosure behind the iron bars for a front porch. Outside of having people stare at them Caveman Reynolds says the quarters are very pleasant.

U. S. WIGHTMAN CUP TEAM WINS THREE MATCHES

Helen Jacobs Beats Dorothy Round.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Although Mrs. Helen Wills Moody came down of a crick in her back and had to withdraw from the competition, the American young women gave the English girls a complete licking today in the first three matches of the Wightman cup tennis competition on the grass at Forest Hills. The Americans didn't lose a set.

Miss Helen Jacobs of California, who in her time has been the champion of all the world except Mrs. Moody, attended to the first and, as it was thought, the most formidable of the English girls. This was Miss Dorothy Round, a slender rather solemn young woman, who had beaten Miss Jacobs and had taken a set from Mrs. Moody, herself, recently in London, being the first woman to do as much against Mrs. Moody in six years. Miss Jacobs won, 6-4, 6-2.

Settle Things Today.

Miss Sarah Palfrey of Boston then substituted for Mrs. Moody against Miss Peggy Scriven and won, 6-3, 6-1.

Finally, Miss Jacobs and Miss Palfrey beat Miss Round and Miss Mary Heeley in the doubles contest, 6-4, 6-2.

The show had been arranged so as to carry the decision over to tomorrow when it may be possible to lure a pay load of cash patronage into the arena. Four matches out of seven is the plan of the Wightman cup competition and persons wishing to see the cup retained in the U. S. A. for a third year were advised by public announcement that gentlemanly agents would be eager to take their money, hard or soft, as the circus people say, at conveniently located windows.

Mention of funds is distasteful, of course, but there are bond issues on the stadium to think of and even in church it is necessary to ask the brothers to shower down, so the gents in charge felt that they could speak of the matter without serious sacrifice of their dowager dignity.

Put Press in Lazaretto.

The attendance was sparse, possibly because the sky was gray and apparently on the point of giving rain. The customers congregated behind the two ends of the court and ranged upward about half-way to the rim of the steep stadium. At $2.20 per head the cashiers would seem to have laid their hands to more than $4,000.

The sward was mottled with brown patches where some blight had been working on the aristocratic hay, another painful problem for the boys who must settle the bills for the intensely commercial sport of amateur tennis.

Photographers swarmed over the lot before the matches began, ogling the ladies through their finders and firing many rounds close up, but were gently shooed out of bounds just on to post time and confined in a special corner of the lazaretto along with the other untouchables of the press.

One of the journalists who had been off exploring before the matches came down to the isolation tent a few minutes before the beginning of play and reported, naïvely, that he had been up in the club house lunching with a white trousered suburban broker. He was cited before the press committee on a charge of unbecoming conduct, tending to degrade the profession of journalism.

Helen Is Master.

Miss Jacobs' biscuit-colored profile, a blonde complexion burned to the even, delicate tan common to Pacific coasters, was faintly similar to that of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, a high forehead, straight nose and strong, curved chin, all suggesting the high aloofness of the Grecian ladies in the statuary galleries.

Miss Jacobs came onto the pitch wearing a pink sweater but shucked it after a couple of games, appearing in the hospital-white, trained-nurse effect which is standard with the tennis ladies at home and abroad except that some of the girls nowadays are appearing in shorts. In the second set Miss Jacobs' hair-set began to melt and her bobbed locks to cling to her cheeks in clammy strands. She has the typical huge right arm of the girls who play tennis for a long time and very little range of facial expression when intent on the game.

Miss Round's feats of defeating Miss Jacobs and winning a set from Mrs. Moody recently at Wimbledon raised expectations which she was unable to fulfill in her encounter with her late victim this afternoon. Although Miss Jacobs had seemed to have passed, or anyway to have dipped from, the peak of her career in losing three matches this summer, she was always in command today and jogged up to the net to shake her opponent's hand with the manner of one who had never had any doubt about it.

It had been different at Wimbledon where Miss Round eliminated Helen in the semi-final round, but this was a new deal and quite different one. Miss Round seemed scared and was a victim more than an opponent most of the way.

Mrs. Moody Has Something.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, who used to start grass fires with the friction of her stuff on these grounds, rose up from a place in the forward rows of the great sections just after the Ja-

LYONS REACHES OLD TIME FORM FOR 10 INNINGS

Then Three Singles Wreck Him.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 4.—An awkward lad named Hank Greenberg and the batting inactivity of most of the White Sox were the main reasons why Ted Lyons suffered his 14th loss of the year today. Greenberg's contribution to Detroit's 3 to 2 eleven inning victory over the White Sox was a homer with one on in the second inning and a single which drove in the winning run with two out in the 11th.

The Sox made only six hits off Vic Sorrell in the whole 11 innings. Two of these were executed by Lyons and two, a single and a triple, were the handiwork of Luke Appling. A double by Webb, which drove in the tying run in the eighth, and a single by Hayes in the ninth completed the Chicago hit total. Such worthies as Swanson, Haas, Simmons, and Dykes socked nothing that remotely resembled a base hit. Simmons, incidentally, completed the three game series here with a record of one scratch infield single, made in the fourth inning of the first game.

Sox Lose Big Chance.

Lyons pitched one of his old time games for ten innings, and though the first two runs were scored on a bona fide homer, the pair was unearned. The third out even had been called, but the decision which apparently had ended the inning on a tag play on Doljack was reversed by Umpire Brick Owens and the circuit smack followed forthwith. During the regulation period Lyons allowed only a half dozen hits, two singles with two out in the fifth being the only hits the enemy was able to perpetuate in the same inning. But Ted weakened in the 11th for three singles, two of which came after two were out, and that meant No. 14 on the red side of his ledger.

The Sox lost a swell chance to break up the game in the 10th when Swanson was on third and Haas on first with none out as results of a walk, a steal and an error. But Webb tapped into a double play while Swanson held third and Simmons flied out.

The Sox started the scoring program in the second inning, aided somewhat by Rogell's too generous throw. Appling singled to right with one out and Dykes was hit by a pitched ball. Hayes then grounded to Gehringer, who tossed to Rogell, forcing Dykes. Rogell, in an attempt to complete a double play, threw the ball to the boxes, Appling scoring and Hayes reaching second. Berry fouled to Greenberg.

Lyons Works Well.

Lyons had no difficulty in retiring the first five men to face him. With two out in the second, however, Doljack grounded to Appling. Luke made a wide throw to first, but Webb grabbed the ball, apprently tagging Doljack on the line. Umpire Owens at first had called Doljack out, but on reflecting reversed his decision, precipitating a lengthy debate. When the game was resumed Greenberg knocked a homer over the scoreboard in left center, Doljack scoring ahead of him. Dykes threw out Pasek.

A single, a wild pitch, and a walk weren't enough to get the Tigers past second in their third inning. Rogell singled with one out and went to second on a wild pitch. Owen grounded to Lyons and Rogell was trapped, Lyons to Appling. Gehringer walked, but was forced by Stone, Hayes unassisted.

Appling got his second and the Sox third hit with one out in the fourth, a triple to right. The smack was wasted, for Dykes tapped to Rogell and Hayes lined to Greenberg.

Lyons led off the eighth with his second and the Sox fourth hit, a single over second, and moved to second on Swanson's sacrifice. Gehringer threw out Haas from back of second, Lyons taking third, whence he trotted home with the tying run on Webb's double to left center. Simmons was given an intentional pass, but Owen threw out Appling.

Here's Bad News.

Here's the detail of the Sox tenth: Swanson walked and stole second. Haas bunted and when Sorrell fumbled the ball Swanson was safe at

IRISH CHAMPIONS GO HOME WITHOUT PADDY MULLIGAN

Call Chicagoans Perfect Hosts and Sports.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The amateur boxing champions of Ireland, who lost the international matches with Chicago's Golden Gloves team Thursday night at Soldiers' field by a score of 6 to 2, left for home yesterday with words of praise for the hospitality and treatment which had marked their stay in Chicago.

Seven of the team, accompanied by Capt. William O'Brien, representative of the Irish Amateur Boxing association, and Coach Paddy Dwyer left at 4 o'clock over the New York Central for Boston, where they will board the liner Laconia for Ireland tonight.

Patrick Mulligan, the Irish heavyweight, who was knocked out in the final bout Thursday night by John Pacek, and who suffered a fracture of his right ankle when he fell to the floor, did not accompany the team. Mulligan is confined to St. Anthony's hospital and he will be unable to leave for Ireland for two weeks or more.

Irish Are Pleased.

"We had heard of the graciousness of Chicago's citizens before we came to this country," Capt. O'Brien said yesterday, "but the manner in which we were entertained was remarkable. I am sorry that we could not win and fulfill the confident hopes of the thousands of Chicago Irish, but we met a better team.

"Our boys were in fine condition. We were entertained frequently, but we still had time for our daily drills. Those who saw the courage and determination of our boys Thursday night know that only conditioned athletes could have fought as well as they did.

"We have no dispute with any of the decisions. Indeed, seven of the eight bouts were decided by a unanimous vote. The only possible dispute was in the Max Marek-Dick Hearns fight, and Hearns is satisfied that Marek had the better of the fight. It was close, and if Dick had been able to stop Marek's body attack he would have won.

"I wish to express to Chicago and to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which sponsored the international bouts in such a generous fashion, our appreciation of the opportunity to visit here. We hope that at some future date we will again be invited to participate in a Golden Gloves tournament."

Fighters Laud One Another.

The members of the two teams met at an informal dinner Thursday night at the Midwest Athletic club. The boys previously had had their first glimpse of each other at the weighing in at the club on Thursday afternoon. The hours at the dinner were devoted to good natured bantering back and forth and several friendships sprang up.

Bud Ginter and Frank Kerr, who won the bantamweight title, sat side by side. Bud had a big grin on his face as he recounted several incidents in the match. He praised Kerr as one of the speediest fighters he has met.

The only note of gloom was the absence of Mulligan. The big heavyweight was especially liked by his Irish pals. According to Pacek, Mulligan twisted his ankle in falling after the knockout punch had landed on the jaw. Mulligan gamely attempted to rise after he was counted out by Referee Dave Miller, and his attempt to stand on his leg increased the injury to his ankle.

Chicago Team Disbands.

Chicago's team disbanded yesterday. The boys were jubilant over their triumph but while they had expected to win, they were astounded at the courage displayed by their opponents. They praised Paddy Hughes in particular, who insisted on continuing although he had a deep gash over his eye.

Referee Norm McGarity stopped the bout in the third round because he feared another blow might inflict serious damage. George Van Der Heyden, the winner, was leading in points at the time, having been awarded the first and second rounds by the judges.

Eddie Ward's bout with Ernie Smith was one of the closest in the point scoring. Ward was given the first round by the officials while Smith had a lead in the second round. Ward's rally in the final minute of the final three minutes brough him the international diamond studded belt.

Bill Celebron, who took the welter-

[Sports Editor.]

The sports department of THE TRIBUNE extends its deep appreciation to its many friends who gave unsparingly of their time to make the international Golden Gloves bouts with Ireland the greatest boxing show of the year.

To Daniel McGrath, Irish Free State consul, and his general chairman, Peter M. Kelly; to the west side and south side reception committees, and to the scores of others who helped the visiting boxers to enjoy their stay in Chicago we owe a debt of gratitude.

Our thanks, too, to the Most Rev. B. J. Sheil and the Catholic Youth organization, of which he is the head, and to the Amateur Athletic union and the Illinois athletic commission for their splendid coöperation. Our compliments go again to the loyal band of workers who comprise THE TRIBUNE Officials' association for the way they conducted the show, and to the south park police and city police for their aid in directing traffic inside and outside the stadium.

Most of all, our appreciation to the boxing fans of Chicagoland for the amazing support they have given Golden Gloves.

Congratulations to the Chicago boxers who once more have demonstrated that the young men of Chicago are among the strongest and bravest in the world. We hope we always may have a team of fighters and sportsmen their equal.

Miss Gottlieb Beats Wales in Golf, 5-4

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Miss Beatrice Gottlieb of Tuckahoe, N. Y., displayed a score card signed by the prince of Wales today attesting to the fact that she had beaten him at golf, the first woman of any nationality to accomplish the feat.

Miss Gottlieb, who competed in the recent British women's championships at Glen Eagles, scored her triumph, 5 and 4, in an 18 hole round with the prince at Coombe Hill.

The prince, a better than average golfer and runner up in 1933 parliamentary championship tourney, received a club from the bag of sticks Miss Gottlieb used to beat him with a medal score of 80 to his 83. The young lady also had a box of golf balls as a gift from the prince. Archie Compston, British pro, who accompanied them, cherished the memory of a 65 that swamped them both.

The club Miss Gottlieb presented to the prince was copied from one Bobby Jones carries in his bag. Miss Gottlieb, 28 years old, blonde and a one-handicap player, told all about her match with the prince.

"I was invited to play a round with the prince at Sunningdale and we finished all square after a little bit of indifferent golf here and there," she explained.

"Afterwards we went to Coombe Hill. Archie Compson joined us and he went around in 65 and gave us both a terrible beating.

"The prince surprised me with the excellence of some of his shots. He took an 83 for the round and I was a lucky golfer to take 80 strokes. I won the match, 5 and 4.

"During the round the prince saw an iron club with which I imagine I was playing rather well. I asked him if he would like to have it and I felt quite happy when he said he would take the club. The prince gave me a box of golf balls, of which I am very proud, and he signed my scorecard, which I shall always treasure."

FERRERA AND MILLER PUBLIC LINKS FINALISTS

Portland, Ore., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The defending champion, Robert Lee Miller of Jacksonville, Fla., and Charles Ferrera of San Francisco, a former holder of the title, today entered the finals of the national public links golf tournament. Miller eliminated Don Erickson of Los Angeles, 6 and 5, and Ferrera defeated Bruce McCormack of Los Angeles, 2 and 1. The 1933 title will be decided at 36 holes tomorrow.

PIRATES OFFER ROUGHER SAILING FOR CUBS TODAY

Five More Home Games Before Long Trip.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

For the next few days at least the Cubs, who have pennant ambitions, will have to plan on settling differences with something more formidable than a tail end outfit. They spent three pleasant days this week dusting off the Cincinnati Reds, who are more or less comical, but the program now changes for the worst.

All the Cubs will have for amusement purposes starting today and continuing through to a week from tomorrow are, first, the contending Pirates, then the contending Cardinals, and then the Pirates again. If the north siders can get any amusement out of that list of baseball parties they will prove themselves considerably tougher than a lot of folks now suspect.

It is quite recent, as will be recalled, that the Cubs dropped three in a row at Pittsburgh and the same number at St. Louis. Hence the basis for fear over the outcome of the impending affairs.

Five Games at Home.

The one consoling feature of the list of games in the immediate offing is that five of them are billed for settlement on Wrigley field. The Cubs go well on their own lot, as records prove. They've won 24 of their last 27 there and 38 out of 51 for the season. This ability to gather in the wins at home may be of help today and tomorrow against the Pirates, Tuesday and Wednesday against the Cards, and again next Sunday, when the Cubs and Pirates jump back from Pittsburgh for a single game.

It is advisable for the Cubs to make the best use possible of the at home magic they work on their guests, because they will shortly have to move around the circuit, where conditions seem to be less suited to their requirements. They have games in Pittsburgh next Thursday and Saturday. After the Sunday leap to Chicago they'll move on to Boston for the start of an eastern tour also embracing New York, Philadelphia, and Brooklyn. After that they will visit Cincinnati before returning to Wrigley field Sept. 3.

Double Headers in East.

Added to the hazard involved when the Cubs are away from home are a staggering layout of double headers. There will be one in New York, one in Philadelphia, and two in Brooklyn. The extra games mean the Cubs must stage 19 games in 15 playing days in the four eastern stops, and if they don't win about 75 per cent of them they can kiss their pennant hopes good-by. That is, unless the other contenders flop, and all three of them are not likely to do that.

The Cubs' tour through the east is tough enough, but it won't be anything to what the now pace making Giants will be subjected. The first visitor at the Polo grounds during the impending east-west series will be the lowly Reds. The Giants can fatten up on them, if possible, and then devise plans for repulsing the Cubs, Pirates, and Cardinals in successive series. It is the ideal arrangement for purposes of getting the Giants out of first place, but actually doing it is another matter.

Lon Warneke, the Arkansas sniper, who was batted hard last week in Pittsburgh, will endeavor to make the Pirates pay off today for their previous pleasure. For tomorrow Bud Tinning hopes to be able to assume the mound assignment. The Pirate workman today probably will be Steve Swetonic.

BROWNS ACQUIRE FRANK MAHACEK, 16 YEARS OLD

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—A 16 year old Omaha high school baseball star is to get a chance with the St. Louis Browns. He is Frank [Tex] Mahacek, student at South High school, who weighs 145 pounds. He will leave here Monday and is expected to finish the season with the Milwaukee American association club, Browns' farm. He is an infielder.

"The kid is just two years away from the major leagues," said Otto Williams, former coach of the Browns. "All I want is to have Rogers Hornsby take a good look at Tex. I'm taking him in myself."

Gallant Sir 9 to 5 Choice in Hawthorne Stake Today

BY FRENCH LANE.

Racegoers are ever willing to give somebody or somebody's horse another chance. This was indicated last night when the betting started on the outcome of the Hawthorne handicap, which will be renewed for the sixth time at Chicago's west side track this afternoon.

Despite four failures here—they were real failures—Gallant Sir, the Pacific coast champion, which is to run coupled with the old giant killer, Plucky Play, was made the favorite to come home on the front end of a parade which may include 14 horses. The entry—both are owned by Norman Church of Los Angeles—was quoted at 9 to 5.

Except for one unexpected triumph at Arlington park, Plucky Play has not been doing much better than Gallant Sir this year. He has either lost his giant killing punch or has been pulling his punches.

Clockers Like Plucky Play.

Some shrewd clockers at Hawthorne last night regarded Plucky Play as a more dangerous threat in the handicap than Gallant Sir. He has been working extremely fast lately. For another reason the clockers pointed to the cold figures, which showed that Plucky Play has run only one bad race over the Hawthorne course.

The grandstand trainers probably would advise Woody Fitzgerald, who trains the Pacific Coast stars, to Royal Blunder, 3 year old from the Audley Farm stable of Virginia, finally encountered a band he could defeat in the Berwyn purse at Hawthorne yesterday afternoon.

He was making his seventh start of the year and, while he had threatened a time or two to trim somebody's horse, never was able to do it until he started in this contest.

The dull track was just to his liking, so he pounded down the stretch far in front and wound up by beating Mountain Elk, the last minute tip, by four lengths. Hernando finished third. Karl Eitel, the favorite, was fourth.

Royal Blunder paid $10.88 for a $2 ticket. He ran the 6½ furlongs in 1:20.

Jockey Jack Westrope was in the saddle on Royal Blunder and it was the third victory he scored during the afternoon. He won the second race on the odds on choice, Even Play, then came back in the fourth event and piloted Stuyvesant Peabody's Alpers to victory. Alpers was neglected and paid $14.34 in the mutuels.

After Even Play won the second race Chief Bunting came along to take the third and complete a daily double which paid $45.84.

Albert Wilhite rode the first mount of his career on Belle's Last in the opening race. He is a 16 year old youngster who can make 86 pounds and hails from Redfields, S. D., a town near the birthplace of Jack Westrope. Wilhite, like Westrope, is under contract to O. L. Foster.

Jockey Otto Harbort, who rode 17 winners on the coast last spring, was an arrival from Tanforan.

Sammy Renick, one of the two Renick brothers riding at Hawthorne, has had unusual success riding 2 year olds this year. In 48 mounts on juveniles he has won 13 races, has been second eleven times and third four times.

EQUIPOISE STILL ROLLING UP VICTORIES

How High and Helianthus Beat Choices

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. T. J. Lewis's How High, and Mrs. Isabel Sloan's Helianthus, divided the honors here today, the former winning the Seneca claiming stakes while Helianthus dominated the running of the 30th renewal of the Campfire purse.

How High was a 15 to 1 shot and scored by a length over Hastipast with Cattail another length and a half back in third position. The track was slow and this may be some excuse for the poor showing of the heavily played Sation from George D. Widener's barn.

Sation was driven down from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5 but ran out of the money after going sluggishly throughout the six furlongs.

He is the horse which many thought would end up with the three year old championship after he had won four in a row earlier in the season.

How High's time was 1:14 but this may be laid to the track. Frank Horn had the leg up on the winner which carried 110 pounds and earned $1,845 by his dash.

Helianthus scored in the fourth race which saw the defeat of the fourth favorite in a row. The winner had an easy time getting home five lengths before Pilate, which led Pompeius by four lengths. The last named was the heavily played public choice, being driven down from 5 to 2 to 11 to 5.

FEHRING WINS PURDUE HONORS IN SCHOLARSHIP

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—William (Dutch) Fehring, outstanding tackle on Purdue's football elevens of the last two seasons, and captain elect of the 1933 team, has won the rating of distinguished student at Purdue university, the highest scholastic rating possible, for the second straight semester, it was announced today.

Fehring, who has established an unusual athletic record in his two years of competition, winning major letters in football, basketball, and baseball both years, has set an equally fast pace in the classroom. For the second semester of the last scholastic year, his junior year in the school of science, Febring received one H, four As, and one B, to earn the distinguished student rating. In order to qualify for the rating, which carries with it special privileges, a student must maintain an average of A or above. In numerical terms, this is a rating of 90 or above.

THIRD RACE—

GIANTS POUND RHEM; DEFEAT PHILS AGAIN, 18-1

Score 9 Run in Eighth; Collect 23 Hits.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The New York Giants, listed as "hitless wonders" who were holding the National league lead on pitching strength alone a couple of weeks ago, went on another batting spree today and duplicated their season's high scoring mark by defeating the Phillies 18 to 1.

The Giants equaled the score of Wednesday's second game against the Phils and made 23 hits, one below the mark set in that contest. After pounding Flint Rhem in the first seven innings, they hammered him from the mound with nine runs in the eighth and finished with two runs off Ad Liska in the ninth.

Although holding a 7 to 1 lead, Clark was removed in the eighth when the Phils began to hit him, and Carl Hubbell was called in to finish the game.

BRAVES WIN TWICE.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Fine pitching by Ben Cantwell and Bob Smith and home runs by Randy Moore and Wally Berger enabled the Braves to take a double header from the Brooklyn Dodgers today, 4 to 1 and 3 to 0.

Cantwell yielded only seven hits in the opener, winning his 14th victory of the season. Moore hit his homer in the first inning with one on to start a three run rally that won the game. Smith, making his first start for Boston since he was purchased from the Cincinnati Reds, blanked the Dodgers with four singles. Berger's homer, his 20th of the season, was the final run off Hollis Thurston in the nightcap. Score:

PIRATES, 5; CARDINALS, 4.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Too many errors spoiled Burleigh Grimes' first pitching start for St. Louis today and the Pittsburgh Pirates came through with a ninth inning run to beat the Cardinals, 5 to 4.

Three St. Louis errors in the seventh paved the way for three Pirate runs, and Grimes, who had hurled excellent ball, retired after that inning in favor of Walker, who was charged with the defeat. A single by Lloyd Waner, a passed ball by Wilson, and a single by Pie Traynor gave the Pirates the winning runs in the ninth. Score:

cobs-Round match and walked out, unnoticed, as the broadcast people shoved microphones up close to Miss Jacobs to hurl a few remarks far and wide.

As an athlete, gent or lady, grows more prominent it becomes necessary to keep a few tactful nothings on the tip of the tongue for such moments as this. An awkward phrase, an honest criticism may start an international row and result in an exchange of notes at 30 paces between the ambassadors.

The patrons, a gay dazzle of garden colors made by sweaters and other costumes of summery hues, turned and shot looks at one another as the graveyard voice of the loud speaker announced that Mrs. Moody would be unable to give them any squints at her famous art this afternoon. But they broke into refined giggles as the voice went on to recite the doctor's diagnosis in a lot of Latin which seemed to denote nothing less than galloping disintegration, but turned out to mean just a pain in the back.

"She is suffering" said the voice, "from subacute, unstable, fifth lumbar vertebra symptoms."

There's Beauty In Tennis.

The Palfrey girl has the look, at a distance, of a child who has just left her dolls and means to hurry right back to them, being very small and deceptively youngish, but she has been coming to the large tournaments for several years now and must be 20 or more. She is the protégé of Mrs. Wightman, the former Hazel Hotchkiss, who gave the trophy of this competition and who sat by the umpire's chair today in white tennis costume with a blue band about her head, watching the young one play.

Everybody Takes Part.

Sarah bounced up to grip hands with her at the close of their match and after some general handshaking back and forth, involving even the canvas crew who caught the spirit of the thing and took to bowing from the waist to one another, the performers vanished through a hole under the concrete stands.

The canvas hands are very tastefully turned out at Forest Hills, wearing khaki slacks and shirts, khaki hats of modified sunbonnet design and pale blue neckties. They seem always on the point of breaking into song and revealing themselves as the six singing commuters, but they never do.

FAVORITES LOSE IN COUNTY GOLF MEET FOR BOYS

Two favorites were defeated in the afternoon rounds of match play for the Cook county boys' golf championship at Garfield park yesterday. George Rhenberg of Edgewood Valley, medalist, won his morning match from Zane Poczulp, 3 and 1, but in the afternoon he was eliminated by Ralph Schaefer of River Forest, 1 up, at the 23d hole.

Jac Chamberlin of Chicago Meadows was the other favorite to lose in the second round. He was beaten by John Jemsek of Cog-Hill, 2 and 1. Chamberlin scored an easy victory in his morning match, defeating John Pociaska of Oak Hills, 6 and 4.

Other double winners yesterday were Jim Marek of Twin Orchards and Frank Penning of Mid-City. In the semi-finals this morning Penning will oppose Schaefer and Marek will play Jemsek. The winners will meet in the afternoon for the title.

The Schaefer-Rhenberg match featured the play yesterday. At the end of the first nine Schaefer was three up. They finished the 18 holes all even, and halved the next four extra holes. On the 23d Schaefer was on the green in two and took one putt for a birdie three to win. The results of yesterday's matches:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Jim Marek, Twin Orchards, defeated Bob Diamond, Westmoreland, 3 and 1.

Allan Lunn, Kinsman, defeated Joe Petrakovic, Garfield, 2 and 1.

Jac Chamberlin, Chicago Meadows, defeated John Pociaska, Oak Hills, 6 and 4.

John Jemsek, Cog-Hill, defeated Carl Hoff, Big Oaks, 3 and 2.

Frank Penning, Mid-City, defeated Francis Gilbert, Northmoor, 4 and 2.

Art Williams, Garfield, defeated Al Miller, unattached, 2 and 1.

Ralph Schaefer, River Forest, defeated Harry Frankenberg, Park Ridge, 3 and 2.

George Rhenberg, Edgewood Valley, defeated Zane Poczulp, Southmoor, 3 and 1.

SECOND ROUND.

Jim Marek defeated Allan Lunn, 1 up.

John Jemsek defeated Jac Chamberlin, 2 and 1.

Frank Penning defeated Art Williams, 2 and 1.

Ralph Schaefer defeated George Rhenberg, 1 up, 23 holes.

Budge Plays Ball Today in Net Final

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Tennis as played in California will be given a test tomorrow by two Texas youths in the finals of the western junior and boys' tennis tournament at St. John's Military academy here.

Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., top seeded in the junior division, will meet Russell Ball of El Paso, Tex. Robert Harmon of Berkeley, Cal., plays Roy Velinder of San Antonio, Tex., in the boy's finals. Harmon was seeded No. 1 in his division.

Budge Wins Twice.

Budge entered the finals by defeating William Seward of Beverly Hills, Cal., 6—3, 1—6, 6—1, in the semi-finals, and W. B. Dey, of Pasadena, Cal., 3—6, 6—3, 7—5, in the quarter finals today. Ball won by default from John Shostrom of Chicago in the semi-final round after eliminating Fred Renker of Topeka, Kas., 10—8, 8—6.

Shostrom, No. 3 in the draw, defaulted at match point. He is entered in the national public parks tournament in New York, which starts next Monday, and had to leave tonight. Shostrom won the first set 3—6, and lost the second, 6—3. The score was 5—6 in the third set when Shostrom had to stop.

Harmon Beats Christner.

Harmon defeated Warren Christner of Topeka, Kas., in the boys' semi-finals, 6—0, 6—0, after eliminating Charles Shostrom of Chicago, 6—2, 5—7, 6—2, in the quarter finals. Velinder whipped Arthur Jorgenson of Chicago, for the right to face Harmon. The match lasted almost three hours and ended 6—2, 2—6, 11—9. In the morning round. Velinder defeated Paul Strange of Neenah, Wis., 6—4, 6—4.

PARKER VS. SHIELDS

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 4.—(AP)—Big Frank Shields of New York and Frankie Parker, 17 year old holder of the national clay courts title, advanced to the final round of the singles in the Meadow club's 43d annual invitational tennis tournament today.

Shields, bidding for his third tournament crown in as many weeks, defeated Bryan M. Grant of Atlanta, in the semi-finals, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2 while Parker, finding himself more and more at home on grass, eliminated the defending title holder and top seeded player, Sidney B. Wood of New York, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Shields, ranked No. 5 nationally, and Parker, No. 12, will clash for the crown tomorrow.

Displaying some of the finest backhand shots of the season, Parker never gave the defending champion a chance to get started. Wood apparently under rated his rival at the start and when he did open up he found all his efforts to stop the youngster's sensational drive in vain. Speedy cross court drives and great backhand shots to the corners had Wood running all over the courts in a vain effort to stem the tide.

Wood and George M. Lott of Chicago reached the doubles finals along with Parker and Shields.

Wood and Lott upset the defending champions, Berkely Bell of New York and Mangin after five hard sets, 6—8, 2—6, 6—4, 6—1, 6—4, while Shields and Parker downed Grant and Eddie Jacobs of Baltimore 6—3, 3—6, 10—8, 6—2. The doubles final also will be played tomorrow.

20 MILE RACE TO HEADLINE AUTO CARD TOMORROW

Van Der Heyden won on a technical knockout in the third round. The score for two rounds:
William O'Connell, Van Der Heyden, 10 to 8.
William Hoier, Van Der Heyden, 10 to 8.
Norm McGarity, draw, 9 to 9.

EDWARD WARD VS. ERNIE SMITH.
John Bray, Ward, 14 to 13.
Dr. William Christoph, Ward, 14 to 13.
Tom Gilmore, Ward, 14 to 13.

WILLIAM CELEBRON VS. JOHN KENNEDY.
F. L. Jackson, Celebron, 15 to 12.
E. A. Hintz, Celebron, 15 to 12.
Tommy Thomas, Celebron, 15 to 12.

FREDDIE CASERIO VS. PADDY HENNELLY.
L. E. Osborne, Caserio, 15 to 11.
E. L. Cook, Caserio, 15 to 12.
Phil Collins, Caserio, 15 to 10.

MAX MAREK VS. DICK HEARNS.
L. E. Osborne, Marek, 15 to 13.
R. A. Goudie, Marek, 15 to 14.
Phil Collins, Hearns, 14 to 13.

JOHN PACEK VS. PADDY MULLIGAN.
Officials, Rube Metz, Carl Witt and Dave Miller, Pacek, won by a knockout in the first round.

Five points is the maximum a fighter may receive in each round. If the round is even the score is 5 to 5. A score of 5 to 4 indicates an advantage and 5 to 3 a decided advantage. Where the total is 15 to 12 it indicates that the winner took every round. A score of 14 to 13 indicates that the loser had an advantage in one round.

Sox Open Series with Browns at St. Louis Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 4.—The White Sox tomorrow will open a four game series in St. Louis against Rogers Hornsby's tailend Browns. A single game will be played tomorrow. On Sunday there will be a double header, Tuesday's scheduled encounter having been moved up. A single game Monday, then the Sox go home for a two day rest before they start a home stand which will see every team in the league at Comiskey park, excepting the Browns.

The fellows who prepare the statistics for publication appear to be in disagreement as to the number of runs Al Simmons has driven home. Eastern papers printed this morning have Al in a tie with Jimmy Foxx with a total of 96. The American league statistician, however, said that Al averaged exactly one run batted in for each of his first 99 games.

The Sox lost a chance to tie the season series with the Tigers. The record now shows 9 wins for the Tigers out of 16 played. The Sox dropped back into sixth place, a half game behind the Tigers.

Ed Durham is scheduled to pitch the St. Louis opener.

third and Haas at first. Webb grounded to Gehringer, who tagged Haas on the line, then tossed to Greenberg to double Webb. Simmons filed to Stone.

In the Tigers' half of the 10th Sorrell singled to left center, after which Rogell grounded to Webb. Webb threw to Appling to force Sorrell, but Appling threw the ball into the dugout in an attempt to double Rogell, Rogell pulling up at second. Appling threw out Owen.

Appling grounded out to Owen to start the 11th, then Rogell threw out Dykes. Hayes fanned.

Gehringer opened the Tiger 11th with a single over second. Stone bunted and forced Gehringer, Lyons to Appling. Fox lined to Haas, but Doljack singled to center, Stone stopping at second. Greenberg singled to center, scoring Stone with the winning run.

EASTERN TEAM COMPLETE FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern university yesterday announced the acceptances of four more players for his east football team which will play the west eleven in the all-star game at Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 24. The addition of these players completes the roster.

The four players are: Gene Ronzani, half back, Marquette; Ben Boswell, tackle, Texas Christian; George Musso, tackle, James Millikin, and Orin Crow, center, Haskell.

Coach Hanley has selected his players from the east, south, and central states with the latter section contributing the largest number. Seven schools in the Big Ten are represented.

Howard Jones of Southern California is coach of the western eleven.

"I feel that our squad will uphold the reputation of eastern football," Coach Hanley said. "We may not have the power of the west coast team, but we have excellent running backs and the best passers and receivers who have been graduated from college in the last two years.

"Imagine having passers like Harry Newman of Michigan, Pug Rentner of Northwestern, and Gil Berry of Illinois in the same back field. In addition we have a pair of great pass receivers in Frank Baker of Northwestern and Wes Fesler of Ohio State. With such talent we expect to give the west team plenty of trouble."

10,000 Seats on Sale Today for Polo Series

Ten thousand general admission seats for the East vs. West world series of polo to be played at the Onwentsia club field starting a week from tomorrow will go on sale this morning at the series headquarters, 912 Builders building, 228 North La Salle street.

Although classified as general admission tickets, they call for a seat in a specified section. The entire east side running parallel to the 900 foot long field will be set aside for general admission stands.

The stands are now being erected. Space also is being cleared to accommodate 8,900 automobiles. No charge will be made for parking.

Yesterday found the five players chosen by Manager Carleton F. Burke to represent the West congratulating each other. They are Cecil Smith, nine goal field captain of the team; Rube Williams, Elmer Boeseke Jr., Aidan Roark, and Neil McCarthy.

After a luncheon at the Hotel Sherman as guests of Maj. Frederick McLaughlin, chairman of the managing committee, the players gave their ponies a workout at Onwentsia.

"All of our ponies came through their long overland trip in fine shape," said Smith, who will get his long awaited chance to battle 10 goal Tommy Hitchcock, captain of the East. "We know the importance of horseflesh in this series and we feel they are going to do their part in carrying the Onwentsia club trophy to the West."

BOOSTERS LOSE, 9-4.

PHILADELPHIANS WIN 2 NATIONAL REGATTA TITLES

Quincy Oarsmen Take Central States Crown.

Philadelphia oarsmen rowed away with two of the four championships decided yesterday in the sixty-first annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen on the choppy waters of A Century of Progress lagoon.

Tommy Clark, sculler from the Undine Barge club, started the easterners off by winning his third national title in the 145 pound sculls without difficulty. He stroked into the lead at the start, and at the finish had a margin of four lengths over Bob Cummings of the South End Rowing club of San Francisco. His time was 4 minutes, 37 seconds for the three-quarters of a mile.

Undines Win Quadruple Sculls.

He came back only a short while later to stroke the Undines to triumph in the 145 pound quadruple sculls over the Lincoln Park Boat club of Chicago after a struggle. The Chicago boat load held on until the final eighth of a mile, when the Philadelphians pulled away to a lead of one and a quarter lengths in 4:46.4.

A third Philadelphia victory yesterday gave Al Vogt of the Penn A. C. the right to meet Bill Miller, a teammate and the defending champion, for the single sculls title today. Vogt conquered Bob Richards of the Winnipeg, Man., Rowing club by two lengths in 5:28.

The South Side Boat club of Quincy, Ill., scoring 45 points, captured the central states rowing regatta in A central states rowing regatta, which concluded in A Century of Progress lagoon yesterday.

Second place went to the Central Rowing club of St. Louis with 40 points. The North End Rowing club of St. Louis was third with 30 points. The West End Rowing club of St. Louis scored 5 points. The Lincoln Park Boat club of Chicago failed to score in the final event.

Kausch Wins in Final Yards.

In the senior single sculling race Nicholas Kausch of the Central Rowing club of St. Louis thrilled the crowd when he came from behind in the last ten yards of the race to defeat Adolph Kreuder of the Western Rowing club of St. Louis by two feet. The time was 5:03.

The senior doubles final was won by George Hussong and Gilbert Holm of the South Side Rowing club of Quincy. They defeated Cris Kausch and his brother Nicholas of the Central Rowing club of St. Louis by seven feet. The time was 4:48.

St. Louis Club Wins Fours.

The Central Rowing club of St. Louis won the senior four finals, defeating the South Side Boat club of Quincy, Ill., by three lengths. The time was 4:48.

In the senior eight finals, lightweight class, the North End Rowing club of St. Louis defeated the South Side Boat club of Quincy by half a length in 4:33.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—With trading volume at the lowest ebb in months, bond prices scored irregular, fractional gains in today's abbreviated session. Numerous rail bonds, however, moved against the trend for fractional losses.

Recurrence of demand for high grade corporation bonds was about the most significant development of the day. Insurance companies continued to take offerings in moderate volume. Demand for high grades this week, however, has fallen short of totals for preceding weeks, partly because the new treasury financing has taken much of the available funds.

Insurance Companies Buy.

Life insurance company bond purchases for the week ended July 29 totaled $14,736,575 compared with about $17,000,000 for the preceding week. State and municipal purchases had a sharp bulge, totaling $6,261,389. Public utility bond purchases totaled $1,588,870, against rail commitments of only $1,089,940.

Reappearance of demand for high grade public utility bonds was noted in outside trading today. Yesterday dealers reported that several sizable offerings of prime rail bonds were about the street.

British Loan Sags.

British 5½s provided one of the principal movements in the foreign list, dropping about a point as the dollar firmed. A few German dollar issues lost ground, including Electric Power of Germany 6½s, which lost about 5 points.

Gains in domestic rail bonds included Cincinnati Union Terminal 5s, issues of Illinois Central, Pere Marquette, and others.

Associated Gas & Electric Earns Less in 12 Months

The Associated Gas and Electric corporation, for the 12 months ended June 30, last, reports net operating income before depreciation of $28,912,924, compared with $31,981,373 for the same previous period. The company's total sales of electricity amounted to $64,225,890, against $68,114,516.

Southwestern Gas and Electric.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me a report and state what you think of Southwestern Gas and Electric company preferred?—E. H.

Answer: Southwestern Gas and Electric company is a subsidiary of Central and Southwest Utilities company, part of the Middle West Utilities system. The latter is in receivership. It supplies electricity, gas, ice, and some water and railway service to a territory in east Texas, northern Louisiana, and southwestern and western Arkansas.

The area served is mostly agricultural, although considerable revenue is derived from industries or communities doing business in lumber, oil, dairy products, glass, salt, and sand.

Operating revenues for the first half of 1933 totaled $2,626,000 and net income was $409,000, which was 1.20 times preferred dividend requirements.

During 1932 the company was benefited by increased activity in the east Texas oil fields and increased consumption of electricity for household purposes. This offset the decline in service rendered to industrial organizations.

Gross operating revenues in 1932 amounted to $5,751,000. This compared with gross of $5,709,000 in 1931.

Increased depreciation charges and additional cost incurred in obtaining new business resulted in a drop in net to $1,344,000, or $14.22 per preferred share, against $1,857,000, or $19.51 per preferred share, for 1931.

Current assets at the close of 1932 amounted to $1,992,000 and current liabilities were $1,588,000. Notes payable were reduced during 1932 to $12,000 from $757,000.

Funded debt aggregates $20,365,000. The earliest maturity is 1957. Amounts due to affiliated companies total $252,000. There are outstanding 6,234 shares of 8 per cent preferred and 88,392 shares of 7 per cent preferred, both of $100 par value. Both classes of preferred have equal preference over the common.

The preferred is medium grade and somewhat speculative at present.

Armour & Co.

Investors' Guide: In looking over the plan of Armour & Co. I see that I am offered new common shares and warrant. The warrants entitle me to purchase additional shares for five years at $12.50 each. Since the shares have a par value of $10 the market value would have to be $125 before the warrants would be of any use. Am I correct?—O. G. E.

Answer: Your conclusion is erroneous. Since each warrant entitles you to purchase one common share at $12.50 a share it would be of value (barring the speculative element of the option) when, as, and if the price of the stock rose above $12.50, and would be worth the difference between the market price of the stock (again barring the speculative element of the warrants) and $12.50.

WHEAT SLUMPS 3 CENTS; BUYERS GROW CAUTIOUS

Turnover Smallest of Recent Sessions.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain prices were on the down grade yesterday, but at no time did the decline in wheat, corn or oats threaten to touch the limits imposed on fluctuations for the day. There was a little activity at the opening and again at the close, but the aggregate business was regarded by brokers as the smallest since normal conditions were restored.

There was no snap to the commission house buying or selling, and while the crop comments on wheat and corn were again construed as bullish, these were offset by Washington reports indicating that the administration's inflation program might be held in abeyance until early in the fall.

Wheat Off Over 3 Cents.

Wheat the inside showed a decline of 3⅛ to 3⅜ cents from Thursday's finish, with the September delivery touching 97½ cents at the extreme. Numerous small rallies were witnessed during the day, but the close was at the bottom with net losses of 3⅛@3⅜ cents, with September finishing at 97½ to 97⅝ cents, while December was $1.00¾ to 1.01, and May, $1.05 to 1.05⅛.

Bullish enthusiasm has been materially dampened in the last few days by the failure of inflation to develop, and in some quarters there is a feeling the startling upturn in all commodity markets since early in March advanced them somewhat too fast as compared with the recovery in industry. Demands for heavy margins in trading in grain and also other commodities is regarded as having chilled speculative interest to some extent.

Always Under Previous Close.

At no time Friday were prices above the finish of the previous day and all grains finished around the inside figured of the day. Corn was off 2⅛ to 2⅝ cents at the last, with September 54 to 54¼ cents, December, 58⅝ to 58½ cents, and May, 63⅞ to 64 cents. Oats lost 1⅝ to 2⅛ cents, with September 39⅜ to 39¾ cents, and December, 42½ to 42⅝ cents. Rye was 3⅝ to 4⅛ cents lower, September being 72 to 72¼ cents, and December 77 to 77¼ cents. Barley lost ⅞ to 1⅛ cents, and closed with September at 53⅜ cents and December at 58⅝ cents.

Many grain brokers, in expressing their position, said they had adopted a waiting policy and are inclined to go slow until the situation becomes more clearly defined.

Crop reports for the time being are regarded as having lost their effect, and the disappointing foreign demand for Canadian wheat of late was reflected in a break of 3⅜ to 3⅞ cents in Winnipeg yesterday, with fairly general commission house selling in evidence. Liverpool, which will be closed today, finished equal to 1¼ to 1¾ cents per bushel lower in American funds.

GRIGSBY-GRUNOW LOSS IS $755,011 FOR 3 MONTHS

The Grigsby-Grunow company, radio and refrigerator manufacturers, yesterday reported a net loss of $755,011 for the three months ended June 17. The quarterly loss brought the deficit for the 24 week period ended June 17 to $1,455,190. Comparable figures for last year are not available because of the change in the company's fiscal year. The company incurred a deficit of $2,236,277 in the year ended Dec. 31, 1932.

Surplus deficit on June 17 was $6,936,840, the statement discloses. Sales for the quarter were $2,243,346, and $3,817,170 for the 24 week period. Sales in 1932 were $9,349,470.

One June 17 the company had current assets of $3,432,143, including cash of $402,482, as compared with current liabilities of $1,936,173.

Electric refrigerator shipments in July were seven times those of July, 1932, the company reported.

Diamond T Sales in July Best in Company History

E. J. Bush, vice president of the Diamond T Motor Car company, said yesterday that July sales of the company were the best in the company's 28 year history. Up to July 31, he said, the company had sold 400 more trucks than were sold during the entire year of 1932. Jul ysales were 5 times the same month last year. Mr. Bush predicted good August business.

Former Kroger Executive May Organize New Chain

PRODUCE—Butter easier, eggs unchanged.

Dairy Industry Is Facing Vast Butter Supply

BY PAUL POTTER.

Experts in the butter industry over in the Chicago Mercantile exchange are predicting that the government's report on butter storage stocks as of Aug. 1, to be issued next week, will show the largest reserve supplies of butter on hand in history.

The situation not only is unique in a year when drought has been widespread over the great butter producing areas, but is filled with uncertainties for owners of the butter and some five million farmers whose income is based largely upon butter prices.

Reports issued early this week by the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers showed that 217 of their creameries increased their butter output during the last week in July by 27.62 per cent over the same week a year ago.

Others Show Increase.

In the same period the 307 cooperatively owned creameries in the Land O' Lakes organization reported an increase of 15.90 per cent. Both are the largest increases over a previous year on record, and many smaller organizations of creameries show somewhat similar gains.

Since these reports were issued, rains have fallen over most of the main butter producing country to further stimulate production. Where ordinarily the peak of storage holdings comes on Sept. 1, according to Samuel A. Sugar of John F. Clark & Co., the peak is more likely to come this year in October.

Several factors enter into the situation. Butter is the commodity in which milk production is best kept for a length of time. Since fluid milk and cream sales have been declining steadily since 1929 in great consuming areas, while other dairy products such as ice cream are not so heavily in demand, the surplus has gone into butter.

Farmers Expand Dairying.

Then too, farmers who found live stock or grain growing unprofitable turned to any sort of cow that would give milk. The prices of veal and canner cows did not attract farmers to sell older cows or the young calves and these have been kept on the farm to pile up the total production.

On the other hand, prices of butter at retail dropped so low last year as to keep the production of butter, which was gaining like a snowball rolling down hill, moving into consumption. People ate more butter than ever before last year. Then last spring talk of inflation and a speculative element as the result of the early drought crept into the butter market; prices advanced, and consumption of butter has been falling off ever since.

Oleomargarine consumption in June showed an increase of 42 per cent over June, last year. And the heaviest users, according to dairymen, have been the dairy farmers themselves.

Price Decline Ineffective.

Even the drop in butter prices during June and July has failed to check the mounting production and declining consumption. The situation is further complicated by the fact that the price doesn't drop to the point where consumption would increase to eat up the reserves. This is because holdings are financed for a long enough time to enable the owners to sit back and wait for inflation of currency. On the other hand, by holding up the prices, farmers find butter a source of cash and feed every animal that will give milk, even with mounting feed prices and short crops due to drought.

"We had a situation this year in butter similar to that in 1896," declared Mr. Sugar, "when a drought occurred and the price of fresh extras reached around 24½ cents in the forepart of 1896.

Recalls Drop in 1896.

"When the drought was broken in July and August, 1896, the production became liberal and resulted in fresh extras selling around 14½ cents in August.

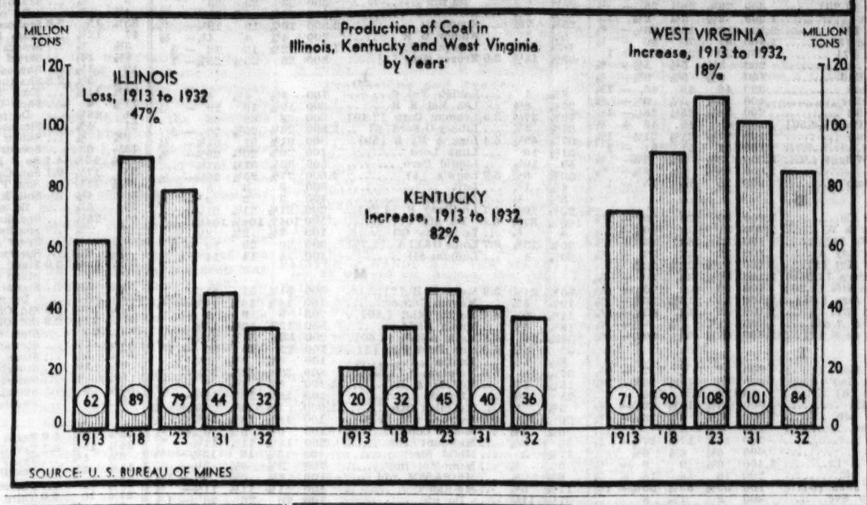
"Unless conditions of supply and demand change or something occurs to move the surplus crop, prices may have to reach a point where consumption will be increased or production curtailed."

With this situation confronting the butter trade, exchange members are asking how the creamery butter producers can expect their new code provisions to be effective. The code would stop all trading in butter futures and appoint a committee of producers and sellers to set a week-to-week price, under sanction of Secretary Wallace.

Chicago Exchange Bans Rights on Butter and Eggs

Effective Monday, Aug. 7, trading in buying and selling rights on the Chicago Mercantile exchange will be discontinued, Lloyd S. Tenny, business manager, has announced. The "rights" trading in butter and eggs corresponds to privileges in grain.

Illinois' Coal Industry Declines Since War While Her Rivals Gain



Traders Want a Schedule for Inflation News

During the world war and the military operations in the Dardanelles which, if successful, might have permitted a tremendous flow of Russian grain to reach the allied countries, it became almost a custom to look for rumors claiming the straits had been forced on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays the attacks had been repulsed, according to rumors. In view of the effect of the many yes and no rumors whether or not there will be inflation or not in the United States, the grain trade is of the opinion a similar schedule should be followed.

"Too bad," said a Board of Trade broker as he sadly looked out of a window overlooking La Salle street yesterday when informed that the New York Stock exchange had adjourned early on account of some one throwing a tear gas bomb into the eastern exchange ventilating system. "I wish some one had done it here." He added he had his golf bag in the cloakroom.

Nat C. Murray, grain analyst, whose crop reports have been the bible of a large section of the trading public for many years, says he has never in his life "bought a future of any commodity."

* *

A refined "growler" for beer drinkers is to make its appearance shortly, according to reports in La Salle street. Details are still sketchy, but it is reported a plan is being developed whereby beer will be sold in sealed cans in five and 10 cent stores and in chain groceries.

* *

Edward A. [Doc] Crawford, whose operations in bids and offers is said to have been one of the main factors responsible for the recent collapse in the grain market, had 26 separate accounts in his commodity markets speculations, according to reports in La Salle street. Earlier reports placed the number of houses with which he had accounts at 17.

* *

La Salle street brokers find it difficult to meet all the requirements for hours of work under the national industrial recovery program. "We never know when we are going to have a big market," one broker explained. "When such a one comes we simply have to complete the work on hand. If necessary we must stay on the job all night to get everything on the books. In quiet markets there isn't so much to do and actually our employés work less than the code requirements. As far as pay goes, we are ahead of the code requirements and in addition we pay some substantial bonuses."

STANDARD OIL OF CALIFORNIA BACK ON PROFIT BASIS

The Standard Oil company of California yesterday reported second quarter net income of $1,918,401, equal after charges to 14.6 cents a share. This compared with a loss of $718,988 in the preceding quarter and net income of $3,986,302, or 30.4 cents a share in the second quarter of last year.

Six months' net income was $1,199,413, or 9.2 cents a share, against $6,916,544, or 52.8 cents a share, in the first half last year.

Major Railroads Gross Income Increases 39½% for Half Year

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—The class 1 railroads increased their gross revenues in the first half of the year 39.5 per cent over the same period last year, according to the bureau of railway economics. This was the first six months' period in which an increase has been shown since 1929.

An increase of 14.3 per cent in gross revenues for June, following one of 1.3 per cent in May, which month was the first in which an increase in gross had been shown since 1929, resulted in the showing for the half year.

Led by the west, with an increase of 1.202 per cent in net operating income in June, all sections of the country reported a betterment in net returns for the month.

Western Roads Earn More.

Western roads had a net operating income of $21,573,000 in the first six months, against $8,901,000 in the same period last year, an increase of 142.3 per cent. Their gross declined 10.9 per cent to $501,341,000 and their expenses were reduced 14.2 per cent to $402,997,000. June net operating income was $19,825,000, against $1,622,000 in June, 1932, an increase of 1,202 per cent.

Eastern roads had a net operating income of $106,281,000 in the first six months of the year, against $93,209,816 in the same period last year, an increase of 12.9 per cent. Their gross revenues decreased 12 per cent to $723,464,000 and their expenses were reduced 16.8 per cent to $523,622,000. Their net operating income in June was $32,975,000, against $12,175,900 in June, 1932, an increase of 17 per cent.

Record of Southern Roads.

In the south, net operating income in the first six months was $26,048,000 against $7,501,000 in the same period last year, an increase of 247.2 per cent. Their gross decreased 4.2 per cent to $190,417,000 and their expenses were cut 15.1 per cent to $142,319,000. June net operating income was $6,651,000, against an operating deficit of $1,398,000 in June, 1932.

BELIEVE U. S. EXPORTS GOLD TO PAY SALARIES OF EMPLOYES ABROAD

New York, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Wall street today thought it had solved the mystery of a recent small shipment of American gold to Europe, which under ordinary conditions would have been prevented by the gold embargo law.

In the opinion of bankers here, the shipment — amounting to $347,000 which went to France on Wednesday —was for the purpose of compensating American government officials in foreign service for the loss of income resulting from the fall of the dollar to around 75 per cent of its former value. Export of the odd sum was revealed when federal reserve reports showed that it was not a part of the shipment of earmarked gold held here for the account of foreign central banks.

The state department recently announced that it was working on a plan to pay officials abroad the equivalent, in purchasing power, of the old dollar. The simplest way to handle the problem, it was assumed, was to pay in gold, and the financial community thought that the recent shipment was in line with this decision.

DOLLAR CHEAPER AGAINST FRANC, GAINS ON POUND

New York, Aug. 4.—The dollar cheapened slightly in terms of the French franc and the German mark today, but gained in terms of sterling and all other important exchanges. This disparity in the movement of the dollar against the franc and sterling reflected a tendency for sterling itself to break away from its link to the franc.

Recently sterling has shown an increasing tendency to weaken and the exchange equalization fund has apparently been having trouble in maintaining the pegged rate against the French exchange. To secure francs for sale in supporting sterling the fund has withdrawn more than $30,000,000 gold previously earmarked here in the past month, and has sold the gold to the Bank of France.

Sterling's net loss against the dollar today amounted to 1 cent and left the exchange at $4.52. At one time in the day, however, it sold as low as $4.48½. The franc was up ½ point net on the day at 5.36 cents, and the mark was 5 points higher, at 32.70 cents.

MONTGOMERY WARD SALES UP 15.34% IN JULY

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported that its sales for July totaled $13,615,400, compared with $11,804,281 in July, 1932—a gain of 15.34 per cent.

For the first six months of 1933 sales totaled $81,782,366, compared with $83,002,446 in the like period of 1932—a decline of 1.47 per cent.

That the company's sales are maintaining the improvement which set in some months ago is indicated by the fact that the June, 1933, gain over June, 1932, was 8.93 per cent.

July sales of S. S. Kresge company totaled $9,406,816, an increase of 4 per cent over a year ago.

Sales of W. T. Grant company for July totaled $5,784,242, an increase of 13.6 per cent over a year ago.

Sales of H. C. Roback company in the four weeks ended July 29 totaled $2,278,995, a decrease of 5 per cent from the same period of last year. Tonnage volume increased 1.1 per cent.

S. O. Indiana and Chicago Corporation Pay Dividends

Regular quarterly dividends were declared yesterday by the directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana and the Chicago corporation. The Indiana company will pay 25 cents Sept. 15 to stockholders of record Aug. 15. Preferred stock holders of the Chicago corporation will receive 25 cents a share Sept. 1 on stock of record Aug. 15. Similar dividends were paid by the investment trust in the preceding two quarters.

Stock Markets Close, Grain Pit Open Today

Principal security markets, including the stock and curb exchanges in New York and Chicago, will be closed today in accordance with the week-end suspension rulings made last month. The Chicago Board of Trade and other commodity markets will conduct normal business. All markets will be open Monday.

Lloyds Offer Insurance on Kidnaping

Insurance against kidnaping is now being underwritten through London Lloyds.

Protection is being arranged for prominent and wealthy persons threatened by kidnapers through an insurance company which acts as Chicago correspondent for London Lloyds. London Lloyds consists of groups of British insurance interests, with headquarters in London, who unite to insure almost any risk known to man.

The utmost secrecy prevails in the arrangement of insurance against kidnaping. The name of the person applying for this type of insurance is cabled to London in a secret code. The deal is arranged by a certain senior officer of the firm acting as Chicago correspondent for London Lloyds. Not even members of his staff are permitted to know the identity of the person involved.

Applicants Are Investigated.

It was stated yesterday that only persons of unquestioned reputation will be considered for this type of insurance. Once a person applies for this protection his record is gone over. If he has ever been involved in a shady deal or connected with undesirables, insurance protection is refused. London Lloyds, it was explained, refuses to take chances on any one participating in a fake kidnaping to collect the insurance.

The maximum amount of protection which will be given an adult is $100,000 and the limit is $50,000 for a child. Straight kidnaping coverage is offered at a rate of three-quarters of one per cent, while policies covering children will be at a rate of 1½ per cent. Children being unable to take care of themselves as well as an adult, the rate is doubled.

Insure Against Injuries.

In addition, there is a rate of 1 per cent for adults which also provides compensation for injuries incurred while a victim was in the hands of kidnapers. This later insurance is provided in the form of an indorsement of a personal accident policy written by Lloyds.

The names of persons insured are kept secret so that they will not be a standing invitation to kidnapers to come and get them.

It is reported that as a result of the wave of kidnaping which has swept over the country there has been a substantial demand for protection whereby the insured may be given funds to pay ransoms should he fall into the hands of the "snatchers."

Inquiries concerning kidnaping insurance are reported to have come to Chicago recently from Albany, N. Y., where John J. O'Connell was a recent victim; from Kansas City, Mo., where Miss Mary McElroy and Mrs. Nell Quinlan Donnelly were recent victims, and from many points in the east.

U. S. RUBBER HAS LARGER DEFICIT FOR HALF YEAR

New York, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The United States Rubber company, for the six months ended June 30, had a loss from operations of $224,204. After charging off $3,195,000 for depreciation, the net deficit for the period was $3,419,304. For the corresponding period last year the company reported a deficit after depreciation of $2,761,345.

Net sales for the first half of this year totaled $36,494,680, against $42,432,104 for the like 1932 period. These figures were exclusive of the net sales of the Samson Tire and Rubber corporation and the Gillette Rubber company, subsidiaries.

Current assets as of June 30 totaled $42,941,372, of which $5,888,653 represented cash and marketable securities. Current liabilities amounted to $8,562,985. On Dec. 31, 1932, current assets were $48,228,364, including cash of $12,303,473 and marketable securities of $187,943. Current liabilities were $15,742,580.

U. S. Closes Subscriptions on 500 Million New Bonds

Subscription books on the treasury's offering of 500 millions of eight year bonds were finally closed last night. Acting Secretary Acheson announced that subscriptions received from holders of treasury certificates maturing Sept. 15 were closed at midnight. Other classes of subscriptions were previously closed. The basis of allotment will be announced next week.

Liverpool Grain Exchange Closes Today and Monday

No session of the Liverpool Grain exchange will be held today or Monday, owing to bank holidays. Winnipeg will be closed on Monday.

STOCKS DROOP TO A TEARFUL EARLY CLOSING

Trading Dull Before Exchange Is Gassed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—Tears stood in the eyes of the members of the New York Stock exchange as today's market came to a close leaving prices hanging raggedly 1 to 3 points below yesterday's final figures. They stood in the eyes of a lot of other people about the place, too. It was a weepy occasion for both bulls and bears.

Two tear gas bombs planted in the exchange's ventilating system forced the institution to abruptly shut up shop at noon after only a little more than 500,000 shares had changed hands. The incident found prices a little steadier than they had been for the better part of the preceding two hours, but with trading at the same dull, monotonous pace it had shown throughout the morning.

Prices Sag; Trade Dull.

It was one of the sorriest looking sessions the market has had in a long time, in fact. Price movements were narrow and uninteresting from the outset. Gold stocks had a rather severe break, Homestake Mining taking a header for more than 21 points on word that the government is not going to start the paper money mills working overtime after all, but elsewhere group movements were featureless.

The bulk of business apparently represented evening up operations by traders out to shorten sail over the week-end with its extra holiday.

The fresh weakness in wheat caused J. I. Case and other farm equipment stocks to sag more than some other trading favorites, the group leader selling off 2 points. American Telephone, United States Steel, Western Union, Atchison, General Electric, Westinghouse, and others sold off a point or so on light dealing.

American Can Gains.

American Can ran counter to the trend for a gain of about a point.

The rails and utilities were heavy as groups, but there was little evidence of pressure against any of them. Oils looked a little more forlorn than usual.

The day's news contained little of market account and the money market was about as lifeless as the stock exchange. Owing to the extreme dullness of the market this week many traders had beat the gun by a day to hie them out of the terrific heat to more tolerable regions for an early start on the week-end vacation.

UPSETS MARKET HERE

La Salle street's normal routine was upset yesterday when trading was halted at midday on the New York stock exchange as traders were routed from the floor by tear gas fumes.

Brokerage houses throughout the financial district remained open throughout the balance of the day, but business was extremely dull. With the New York ticket quiet traders in other markets were unwilling to make important commitments. The Chicago exchange tape was at a standstill during most of the afternoon session. Only routine transactions were carried.

Brokers were thankful that the sudden interruption did not come during a busy trading period. Business both here and in New York was dull during the morning with prices showing irregularity.

Trading Almost Stops.

Only about 2,000 shares were on Chicago exchange during the afternoon, bringing total sales for the day to 26,000 shares. Prices generally were easier.

Speculative interest in Cord corporation common stock continued to run high with about 4,500 shares appearing on the tape. Beer stocks were irregular with closing quotations generally moderately under Thursday's last prices. Commonwealth Edison lost 2 points to 64½ on small volume.

Stocks which are listed both here and in New York were inactive during the afternoon, traders apparently being unwilling to deal in these issues while the New York market was closed.

Chicago Education Board Calls $709,400 Warrants

The Chicago board of education has issued a call for $709,400 of its 1931 tax anticipation warrants on or before Aug. 10 on which date the interest will cease on the certificates called. Included in this block are $507,000 educational fund certificates, $193,400 of building fund warrants and $9,000 playground fund warrants.

Results of Cut in Dollar Value Present Puzzle

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Inflation would necessitate eventual devaluation of the dollar, which is another way of saying that the value of gold, expressed in dollars, would be raised.

That presents some interesting possibilities.

The twelve federal reserve banks possess among them about 3 billion 560 million dollars worth of gold, valued in terms of dollars before the United States abandoned the gold standard.

* *

We have been indulging in the fiction of assuming that gold is still worth only $20.67 per ounce. That is all the treasury will pay for it. Since America's abandonment of the gold standard, however, the price of gold in London—the only free gold market operating at present—has risen about 35 per cent in terms of American dollars.

If, therefore, a free gold market were established in New York, as is urged by the Committee for the Nation and others, the actual value of the gold held by the twelve reserve banks would immediately be worth not 3 billions, 560 millions, but 4 billions, 806 millions—a profit of 1 billion 246 million dollars for the twelve reserve banks.

* *

Likewise, the gold and gold certificates still held by citizens, in defiance of act of congress and orders of the United States treasury, would be worth not 586 million dollars, but 791 million dollars, a theoretical profit to the holders of 205 million dollars—if it could be collected.

If the dollar were to be valued for internal purposes at the same rate that it is being quoted in other countries, therefore, ever, dollar's worth of gold would suddenly be worth $1.35.

The committee for the nation, headed by such men as Frederic H. Frazier, chairman of General Baking company; Vincent Bendix, president of Bendix Aviation company; Lessing J. Rosenwald, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co.; F. H. Sexaur, president of Dairymen's League Coöperative association, and J. H. Rand Jr., president of Remington Rand, urge that this be done. Establishing a free gold market in this country would do it automatically. It would also greatly stimulate the production of gold in the United States. Gold mine owners just now are holding back because they don't want to dig gold and sell it at $20.67 an ounce when it's worth nearly $28, American money, in London.

* *

Under the old banking act, profits of the federal reserve bank in excess of 6 per cent had to be turned over to the government as a franchise tax. This was changed, however, by section 4 of the new Glass-Steagall banking act, which provides that earnings of any federal reserve bank above a cumulative 6 per cent dividend shall be paid to the surplus fund of that bank, instead of to the government.

Thus the inflation profits on the nation's chief gold holdings could not be used to cover the federal government's public works spending program—unless congress again alters the banking act.

* *

The Federal Reserve bank of Chicago, which now holds more gold than any other reserve bank, would show a profit of 324 million dollars if its present holdings of 928 millions in gold were valued at the actual market. The New York reserve bank would show a profit of 314 million dollars.

Further depreciation of the dollar would cause the potential profits on gold holdings to rise still further. Should the President exercise his authority to devalue the dollar 50 per cent, the dollar value of gold holdings would be doubled.

RADIO REPORTS $1,268,212 LOSS FOR SIX MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 4.—The Radio Corporation of America reports a net loss of $1,268,212 for the first six months of 1933, comparing with a net income of $219,406 reported for the first half of 1932. No dividends were paid for the period, comparing with $343,019 dividends paid on the class A preferred stock in the 1932 period. Surplus at June 30 amounted to $8,582,972, compared with $9,851,184 at Dec. 31 and $11,204,176 on June 30, 1932.

Gross income from operations amounted to $27,149,824 for the six months, comparing with $35,952,369 in the 1932 period, and other income was $369,614, against $589,794. Total income was $27,519,438, comparing with $36,542,163. Net earnings after cost of sales and expenses were $804,318, against $3,598,508.

Curtis Candy Company to Add 1,500 to Its Pay Roll

The Curtis Candy company yesterday announced it would add 1,500 names to its pay roll of 6,000.

GIANT STEAM PLANT TO HEAT LOOP PLANNED

Mrs. Armour Firm Seeks R.F.C. Loan.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago is to have the world's greatest heating plant, capable of warming the entire down town district, if negotiations now under way at Washington for borrowing several million dollars of federal funds are successful. The Chicago Tunnel company, controlled by two of America's wealthiest and best known widows, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, and Mrs. E. H. Harriman of New York, is contemplating the erection of a $7,000,000 plant at the foot of Randolph street, which can supply heat to every skyscraper in the loop, near north side and the close-in west and south sides.

MRS. J. OGDEN ARMOUR.

The Chicago Tunnel company has purchased from the Illinois Central railroad for a reported $700,000 a site at the northwest corner of the intersection of Randolph street and the boulevard approach to the contemplated bridge connecting Lake Shore drive with Grant park. The property extends north to the river's edge.

Carry Steam Through Tunnel.

From the $7,000,000 heating plant on this site, steam under a 400 pound pressure, would be forced through 24 inch pipes placed along the sixty-two miles of underground passageways, forty feet below street level, which are owned and operated by the Chicago Tunnel company.

Some idea of the possibilities of this gigantic heating program is gained when it is known that the building volume accessible to the tunnels totals one billion 300 million cubic feet. The steam, forced through the subways under high pressure, would be piped into buildings through reducing valves.

As the contemplated heating plant will occupy what eventually will become one of Chicago's outstanding boulevard corners, fronting on the new link drive and overloking both Grant park and the river, tentative plans for an imposing structure architecturally are being considered.

Burn 30 Cars of Coal Daily.

Its location assures easy access by both rail and water transportation. This is necessary as during an average winter day approximately thirty cars of coal [about forty tons to a car] or a total of 1,200 tons of coal daily would be burned in the big plant making steam.

Although the supplying of steam will cut off much of the present traffic of the tunnel company in carrying coal and taking out ashes from skyscrapers, the gain in income is expected to more than offset the loss in the coal and ashes traffic which has never been remunerative.

It was reported a few weeks ago that a $4,000,000 loan with the R. F. C. had been negotiated at Washington. This was admitted yesterday in some quarters, though not officially, for practically all of the officers, including S. W. Tracy, president and general manager, and vice president John J. Mitchell, Mrs. Armour's son-in-law, are now at the national capital negotiating for $5,000,000 additional.

Work May Start Soon.

If the $9,000,000 can be obtained, it was said yesterday by interests closely identified with the project, work will get under way at once on the big project. It probably would take about a year to complete.

Yesterday's disclosures break down a wall of silence which has blocked all inquiries concerning this project for many months. D. O. Dunbar, a director, recently replied "We'll deny anything you say" to a query about the proposed steam plant.

The tunnel company was granted a thirty year extension of its franchise last year by the city council after three years of negotiations.

CEMENT SENT TO ILLINOIS SHOWS SHARP DECREASE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The bureau of mines has announced that barrels of Portland cement shipped from the mills into Illinois during June of 1933 fell almost half a million.

A total of 815,496 barrels were shipped into the state during June of 1932, while 347,314 barrels were shipped in during the same month of 1933. During May 277,861 barrels were shipped in, against 703,571 in May of 1932.

For the first six months of 1933 only 1,009,220 barrels were shipped into the state, against 2,186,081 in the same period of 1932.

Subsidiary of U. S. Steel to Run on 24 Hour Basis

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The Torrence plants of Columbia Steel corporation, subsidiary of United States Steel, will operate on a full 24 hour basis at full capacity for the first time since November, 1929, beginning Monday, it was announced today. Four hundred men will be given employment.

Atlas Brewing Directors Declare 25 Cent Dividend

Atlas Brewing company directors have declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, payable Aug. 19 to stock of record Aug. 5. This brings disbursements so far in 1933 to $1.75 a share.

Fair Helps Pullman to Make Profit in June; First This Year

June operations of the Pullman company, carrier subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., resulted in a profit for the first time this year, the semi-annual statement issued yesterday revealed.

The last previous month in which the company operated at a profit was December, last year. The influx of visitors to Chicago for the World's Fair and the increased sleeping car travel throughout the country were the chief factors in the June showing.

Expect Further Improvement.

The company had heavy bookings during June from all sections of the country. One ten section train—said to be the largest ever operated—was booked from New York to Chicago. Prospects for further favorable results for July and August are bright, as these months are counted on by railroad men to produce better results than June.

June net income after taxes was $318,982, or more than thirteen times the net profit of $23,507 reported for June, last year. The improvement over last year was made in the face of a shrinkage in gross revenues of $148,996, showing the stricter control over costs effected in the last twelve months.

Gross Income Slightly Less.

June gross income was $3,607,748, compared with $3,756,744 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Deficit was $1,715,678 after taxes for the six months ended June 30, compared with a deficit of $1,137,397 for the first half of 1932. Gross revenues were $17,834,202 for the six months period against $23,311,327.

The figures include only the transportation operations of Pullman and do not reflect the operations of the manufacturing divisions.

HIGH SWITCHING FEES HURT ROADS, WATERWAY ALIKE

Harding Sees Traffic Go to Trucks.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

High switching rates in the Chicago district will nullify much of any benefit that may arise from the Illinois waterways and they will eventually take from the railroads far more business than they have already lost.

This opinion was expressed yesterday by Dwight S. Harding, president of the South Chicago Coal and Dock company, in a discussion of the recent action of the interstate commerce commission in ordering that intrastate switching rates be put on a basis of interstate switching rates.

"As a matter of fact," Mr. Harding said, "the intrastate rates which have been ordered increased are much too high and should be cut in half if the roads are to regain a lot of business they have lost and if they are to develop future business.

Discrepancies Are Cited.

"The present rates on switching provide for a uniform rate of 50 cents a ton for one and two line hauls and 60 cents a ton on three or more line hauls. The minimum loading is 60,000 pounds—30 tons.

"To appreciate what this rate means, take any high grade commodity, such as eggs, glassware, furniture, or general merchandise. It will be found that these commodities can not be loaded to the minimum basis of 30 tons. They have valuations varying anywhere from $3,000 to $10,000 a car and are subject to damage claims, yet the minimum rate which they can be charged on a three line haul, for example, is 60 cents a ton, or $18 per car.

"Consider the situation with respect to low grade commodities, such as sand, gravel, coal, and coke, which have a valuation of from $100 to $300 per car and are never subject to damage claims. These commodities are always loaded to the maximum capacity of a car, usually 60 tons. Thus the cost of moving such a car over three lines will be $36 a car.

Use of Trucks Cheaper.

"This rate makes it virtually impossible to ship coal from a receiving point to yards throughout the city for local distribution in neighborhoods. I can deliver 10 tons of coal by truck direct from the dock at 95th street to a business on North avenue cheaper than I can send the coal by railroad to a north side yard and thence to the North avenue address. The reason for this is high switching rates.

"One reason for the high rates may be found in the fact that there are 35 switching railroads, including some which are only a few blocks long, each with its own official staff. All these staffs and individual services must be paid for out of the pockets of the shippers. One switching company, with one management, could greatly reduce present costs.

"Formerly the switching lines hauled hundreds of thousands of tons of sand, stone, and other bulk commodities which are now handled by trucks. It is worthy of comment that in the new postoffice building, built over railroad right-of-way, scarcely a ton of building material was delivered by carload."

REPORT COLGATE PALMOLIVE PEET PROFITS HIGHER

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company earned net profit of $756,121 in the six months ended June 30, or $1,422 in excess of preferred dividend requirements. This compares with a net loss of $977,410 in the preceding six months and $1,030,711, or 13 cents a share on the common stock, in the first half of last year. The company shows a surplus credit of $916,372 as of June 30 resulting from the conversion of net working capital of foreign subsidiaries into United Staes funds.

The company has acquired a 51 per cent interest in Compania Nacional de Perfumeria S. A. of Havana, Cuba, it was announced. The transaction involved a cash expenditure of less than $200,000.

Sales for the first six months of this year amounted to $31,236,474. Although no comparison is available, S. Bayard Colgate, president, stated that as compared with a year ago sales showed a decline of about 15 per cent.

In his letter to stockholders, Mr. Colgate points out that the chairman of the board and the president of the company are giving their services for a salary of $1 a year until such time as dividends on the common stock are reinstated.

Benson & Rixon Stores Sales Rise 78% in July

Benson & Rixon, men's clothing stores throughout Chicago and suburbs, announce a July increase in dollar sales of 78 per cent and an increase in unit sales of 90 per cent over the same month last year. These figures indicate, points out George R. Benson, president, that not only is business definitely better, but that prices are still lower than the last year level.

66 Tons of Gold, Silver Sent to France, England

New York, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Sixty-six tons of gold and silver earmarked by the federal reserve bank for the Bank of France and several private banks in England were shipped on the Olympic tonight. The shipment, valued at approximately $30,000,000, was the largest to leave the country in many months.

Stephen Fleming Named Indiana Home Loan Chief

HOGS START OFF HIGHER; PACKERS FORCE DECLINE

Average Is Down 5 Cents; Cattle Are Firmer.

The hog market started out on a steady to 5 cents higher basis yesterday and a good share of the light selected sows and butcher hogs sold at the advance, while most of the medium to heavy butcher hogs moved at steady prices to shippers, small packers, and city butchers. Big packers applied pressure, bought very few animals until late in the session and then made savings of 5 to 10 cents, mostly on packing sows.

The extreme top of $4.70 was off 5 cents from the two previous days and the average of $4.25 showed 5 cents loss. This equals the lowest average of the week and compares with $4.40 last Friday. The bulk of the hogs sold at $4 to $4.60, with most of the 250 to 300 pound butchers at $4.45 to $4.55.

Prices for Other Weights.

One drove averaging 315 pounds sold at $4.55, the top for the weight. A few sales of 325 to 400 pound averages were made at $4 to $4.40. The bulk of the selected light and handy weight sows on the butcher order brought $3.90 to $4, although a few brought as high as $4.20. Heavy packers scaling 400 to 500 pounds sold at $3.40 to $3.65.

Many in the trade regard the discrimination against heavy hogs as directly due to interference with speculation in grains, lard, and provisions, pointing out that a good share of the gain made early in the year was due to the increased value of lard. Lard is now selling substantially under the peak of the season and heavy hogs are suffering correspondingly.

Cattle Prices Firmer.

Cattle prices firmed up yesterday on the strength of light receipts and a better feeling in the local beef trade. After a week of falling prices the decline was finally checked.

One noticeable tendency in the cattle market is to widen the spread between poorly fleshed grass and short fed steers and the "upper crust" of well finished cattle. Generally speaking, all classes of strictly good and choice cattle, including steers, heifers and cows maintained the level of a week ago, while common and medium grades of steers, as well as most grass cows and heifers, closed 25 cents lower.

Some of the plain, thinly fleshed steers were off 35 to 40 cents and sold at the lowest point of the spring and summer season. Friday's top of $6.85 was paid for a load of 1,250 pound steers. Most sales were within a spread of $5 to $6.

Light Stocker, Feeder Movement.

A feature of the cattle trade is the unusually light movement of stocker and feeder cattle. Juny shipments of stockers and feeders totaled only about 3,900 head and were the lightest for the month in many years. Comparatively high grain prices, dry pastures and prospects for a poor corn crop were responsible.

Lamb prices staged a comeback and recovered 25 cents of the 50 cent loss on the previous day. Supplies were light and good competition developed. The extreme top of $8 was paid for six loads of sorted western lambs. They went to shippers. Packers bought the bulk of the good and choice native lambs at $7.50 to $7.75, with quite a good many at the latter price.

DOUBT OVER PROCESS TAX HURTS LARD MARKET

Nervousness prevailed in the lard market with prices easily influenced and averaged lower with grains and cotton. Uncertainty as to the action of the government's processing plan is making speculators and packers go slow. The market meets selling on bulges.

Lard futures closed 20 to 27½ cents lower. Cash lard was offered more freely at 27½ cents lower for regular and loose, and 25 cents on leaf. Liverpool lard was 3 to 6d net lower, spots being the weakest. Lard exports were 560,560 pounds. Belly futures were off 30 to 32½ cents with spots $7, the latter being off 25 cents. Prices follow:

U.S. CALLS CONFERENCE OF AIRCRAFT MAKERS TO CHANGE STANDARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—A conference of aircraft manufacturers will be held here on Sept. 14 to consider proposed changes in airworthiness requirements of the air commerce regulations, it was announced today by Ewing Y. Mitchell, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics.

The suggested changes in the requirements have been drafted, he said, with a view of taking full advantage of the aerodynamic information now available. The announcement of the meeting, to be held in the commerce department, said:

"It has been found possible this year to effect at least partial rationalization of the requirements in response to the requests of manufacturers. As further basic information becomes available, it is intended that additional rationalization will be made where such changes will react to the benefit of all concerned.

"Changes of this type which have been included in the tentative requirements have been proposed, not for the purpose of either decreasing or increasing the present airworthiness standards, but solely to make these standards more adaptable to the individual characteristics of specific aircraft with the least possible change for conventional types.

"The amendments and changes in the current requirements which the department proposed to promulgate have been forwarded to manufacturers so that they will have ample time to study them and prepare their comments before the meeting. These comments, together with any proposals the manufacturers may wish to present, will be considered at the conference."

BUTTER FUTURES RALLY

Better support carried butter and egg futures up after an easy start to a steady close on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange yesterday. Butter was off ⅝c on the last sale and egg purchases in both markets were under pressure early, butter dropping ⅝c and eggs losing ¼c. The market remained quiet most of the session, but in the last hour new buying came out and covering started with prices moving up rapidly. The late buying appeared in the face of continued bearish news. The four markets reported the butter surplus increased 770,000 lbs., and the egg surplus increased 19,000 cases. Sales: Butter, 171 cars; eggs, 150 cars. Prices follow:

WOOL MARKETS

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 4.—Activity in the Boston wool market continued quiet on the whole today although some houses reported a little better interest, particularly from woolen goods mills. Prices remained firm and unchanged. Ohio delaine fine combing wools continued to sell at 22@23c a pound in the grease, with ⅝ blood at 35@36c. Territory fine combing wools were quoted at 78@79c a pound and ¾ blood at 70@72c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—The Saturday closing movement in primary textile markets has become very general as a part of compliance with the NRA and some slight quickening in business today was reported. Small lots of cotton goods are being bought close to recent high quotations. Rayon yarns are being ordered for September and October delivery in moderate volume and cannot be counted fully due to lessened product. Silk goods are selling moderately. Wool goods merchants are figuring new costs based upon their code, just approved at Washington, and little new business is being booked.

U. S. OWNS MORE AUTOS THAN ALL REST OF WORLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—With a ratio of one automobile to every five persons and more motor vehicles than all other countries combined, the United States could transport its entire population by motor should it be necessary for all to be moved at the same time.

This is the observation of A. W. Childs, chief of the automotive division of the commerce department, who states in a world census made public today that of the 33,568,295 automobiles registered throughout the world on Jan. 1, 1933, 24,317,020 were recorded in the continental United States. The ratio of automobile to the population of the globe was one for every 60 persons.

The decline in automobiles registered during 1932 was greater for the United States than the rest of the world. In this country the drop was from 25,986,353 on Jan. 1, 1932, to 24,317,020 at the beginning of 1933, or 6.4 per cent. For other countries the reduction was from 9,277,044 to 9,251,275, or only three-tenths on one per cent.

The total world registration as of Jan. 1, 1933, is shown by the survey to include 27,813,201 passenger cars, 358,528 busses, and 5,396,566 trucks.

Following the United States, the first ranking world countries in the number of motor vehicles registered are shown to be France, with 1,845,400; England, 1,385,472; Canada, 1,106,408; Germany, 616,200; Australia, 533,833; Italy, 323,366; Argentina, 307,947; New Zealand, 190,547; Belgium, 182,689; and Spain, 159,200.

LIVERPOOL COTTON.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 4.—(AP)—COTTON—Receipts, 10,000 bales, including 5,100 American; spot in fair demand; prices 5 points lower. American strict good middling, 7.00d; good middling, 6.70d; strict middling, 6.40d; middling, 6.25d; strict low middling, 6.10d; low middling, 5.90d; strict good ordinary, 5.70d; good ordinary, 5.40d; futures closed quiet and steady. October, 5.09d; December, 6.02d; January, 6.03d; March, 6.07d; May, 6.10d; July, 6.13d.

Stratosphere Balloon of Commander Settle Crashes in Railway Yards Soon After Takeoff—Pilot Is Uninjured

STRATOSPHERE BALLOON CRASHES INTO RAILWAY YARDS TEN MINUTES AFTER TAKEOFF FROM SOLDIERS' FIELD. Scene at 14th and Canal streets in the railway yards early today showing the balloon of Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle spread over the tracks. The gondola is at the right. Commander Settle can be seen on the fabric of the bag. The crash was blamed on a valve which stuck. At an altitude of 5,000 feet the pilot decided to let out hydrogen to check the rapid rise and the valve did not close. A vast crowd watched the takeoff from Soldiers' field and the forced descent. GONDOLA OF STRATOSPHERE BALLOON AFTER CRASH IN RAIL YARDS. The metal ball of balloon Century of Progress after sudden descent at 14th and Canal streets early today. Commander Settle was uninjured in the crash, which was caused by a faulty valve. [TRIBUNE Photo.] (Story on page 1.)

VAST CROWD SPENDS MOST OF NIGHT IN SOLDIERS' FIELD TO WATCH START OF FLIGHT. View of crowd in one side of stadium in Soldiers' field early today awaiting start of flight which ended in crash ten minutes later. Many more thousands of people were outside the field in cars and standing at every point of vantage to witness the start.

STRATOSPHERE BALLOON JUST AS IT LEFT SOLDIERS' FIELD. The Century of Progress balloon leaving the ground early today in sight of thousands massed in stadium and surrounding places. Ten minutes after this picture was taken the balloon came down in a heap in the railway yards at 14th and Canal streets.

UNUSUAL PICTURES SHOW STRATOSPHERE BALLOON RISING FROM SOLDIERS' FIELD AND DESCENDING. Three time exposure pictures taken early today from the Tribune tower showing the Settle balloon in flight. At the left it is ascending, in the middle it has reached its highest altitude, and at the right the white streak is the balloon as it went down over railway yards at 14th and Canal streets. [TRIBUNE Photo.] (Story on page 1.)

COMMANDER AFTER HIS FORCED DESCENT. Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle as he appeared, uninjured, after crash of stratosphere balloon early today in railway yards. He plans to attempt the flight a second time.
